A New/Classic Year Begins

Red • White • & • You
Some things classic;
Some things new.

A new year.
New freshmen with classic fears.

A new Coke machine
For a classic drink.
New teachers and English classes
To make us do more than think.

A new student-teacher
Jerry Perry's his name.
You could see his team's new uniforms
At a football game.

A new computer
For report cards and absentees.
New books paid for
By classic fees.

Graduation and prom
Held at new sights.
We proved we could change tradition,
We just had to fight.

A new year,
With new friends,
New classes and teachers,
New fads, and new trends.

And this was just the beginning.
Whether classic or new,
Before long it would be over;
This year would be through.

SPORTS

Although the crowd spirit was down this year, the teams' spirit was high.

The football team, with their new uniforms, showed classic style by having an undefeated season.

The girls' basketball team was impressive by making it to the regional tournament.

Whatever the sport was, the teams always had a new method to show their classic style.

Juniors John Thomas and Brad Buntain guard their man while senior Rusty Sayre points to the action.

Helps 'Cats gain valuable experience!

Inexperience was the key reason the Bearcats ended their season with a 7-17 record.

According to senior guard Rusty Sayre, one good thing came from the season. "This year was disappointing for the four seniors but it was more or less a learning season for the younger guys," he stated.

"We played some really good teams this year," commented sophomore point guard Derek Ruble. "It made us work harder and we got a lot of experience."

The squad started the season on a strong note. "We played Western Hills in the season opener," stated Rusty. "We lost on the scoreboard; we outplayed them team wise but we fell short when it counted."

"We had confidence problems," stated first year head coach Mark Green. The Bearcats also had a really tough schedule. "We lost seven seniors from last year's team, and virtually had no experience. We beat some good teams and lost some close games," explained Coach Green, "but we learned quite a bit about the game of basketball."

Highlights of the season were few but it was all worthwhile, none-the-less, according to Derek. "The underclassmen got some valuable experience," he said. "Beating Frankfort in the Christmas tournament boosted everyone's spirits. All in all, the team stuck together through wins and losses."

Lends improvement to both teams

The J.V. boys' basketball season was a year for improvement.

"We started out playing poorly and improved as the year went on," said Coach Tony Kays about his first year coaching J.V. "Our high point did not come until the end of the season when we beat Danville."

Despite their 8-11 record, Coach Kays hopes the J.V. players will help the Varsity team next year.

The Freshman team also gained much needed experience. "We started out the season playing rotten but we finally got it all together!" said freshman Chad Ritchey.

Learning from the varsity was a key factor in the improvement of J.V. team members John Combs, Spencer Bruce, John Thomas, and Mark Peach.

Guides the

'Cats to Regionals!

"This was a super season!" stated senior guard Tracy Wells, summing up the 1986-1987 Ladycat basketball season. They ended their year with an over-all record of 19-11.

Starting the season with a win over the Frankfort Panthers, senior center Stephanie Penny commented, "We played hard, we deserved every win, and it was a great way to start off the season!"

With the help of senior All-Stater Heather Brough, the team coasted to victories over larger schools who were expected to beat the 'Cats. "We were the underdogs in a lot of the games," said Heather, "but we always came out on top."

Causes the

J.V. to excel!

"This has been a year to remember!" exclaimed sophomore forward Shannon Drury. The Anderson County Junior Varsity ended their season with a 12-5 record.

Exceptional contributions by the five starters led the junior varsity to a great season. "A lot of people didn't expect us to have a good season," said sophomore Wendi Reynolds, "but we sure fooled them!"

The 'Cats were short on players with only ten, but not on spirit. "We always cheered each other on," stated Margaret Cotton. "Whether we were losing or winning, we always stuck together."

Brings 'Cats luck

At tourney time!

The 1986-1987 Anderson County LadyCat team ended their season with exciting tournament play. "We surprised a lot of people," said senior Tracy Wells. "We beat a lot of good teams who were supposed to beat us bad."

With the help of senior Heather Brough's 1,088 career points and senior Stephanie Penny's 560 career rebounds, the 'Cats had eight straight wins in January, took third place in the Boyle County Invitational Tournament, were 30th District runner-up and were the only district runner-up to advance in regional play.

Tracy Wells added 106 career assists, 63 of which were made during her senior year.

Tournament honors went to Heather and Stephanie who both made Mercer County, Boyle County Invitational, 30th District and 8th Region All-Tourney teams. They also were selected as 1st team All-Central Kentucky Conference. LaStacia Hahn was selected as 2nd team All-Central Kentucky Conference.

"We had a great year!" said Heather, "one we'll never forget!"

Going for the shot, senior Stephanie Penny shoots for two points.

Waiting for the rebound, senior Heather Brough is cheered on by senior Tracy Wells.

Passing the ball to the inside, sophomore Cindy Caldwell gets the ball in the middle to senior Stephanie Penny.

Gives the Cheerleaders That Extra Spirit

No more alternating! The cheerleaders have been split up into two separate squads, the boys' varsity squad and the girls' varsity squad.

The boys' varsity squad is sponsored by Mrs. Karen Lacefield, and the girls' varsity squad is sponsored by Ms. Kim Shouse. Both sponsors seem to think this way is better organized.

The cheerleaders feel it is easier, also. "We know that we are to cheer at the boys' games only," said boys' varsity team captain Ladonis Toney. "We know when the games are, and to be there."

Girls' varsity team captain Amy Adams also thinks this way is better. "The cheerleaders don't have to decide which game they are to cheer for," she said. "Everyone seems to like this way much more."

The cheerleaders have done many activities this year. "We did the Snow-Go Report on channel 27 news," said senior cheerleader Marie Crawford. "All squads, including the freshmen squad, participated in this event."

The cheerleaders also cheered in the district competition," said Ms. Shouse. "The hard work, and much practice, paid off."

THAT CLASSIC STYLE . . .

Gives the Cheerleaders

Special Pep Power

The cheerleaders give much "pep" to the crowd at the games. "We work hard to keep the crowd in the games," said senior cheerleader Marie Crawford.

Much time is spent in practices, competitions, and games. "The cheerleaders work very hard during practice," said boys' varsity squad sponsor Karen Lacefield. "They practice in the afternoons, and before competitions, we practice on some weekends, and some nights."

The girls' varsity cheerleading squad practices much also. "We practice mainly in the afternoons after school," said girls' varsity squad sponsor Kim Shouse. "Like the boys' varsity squad, during competition, we practice much more. Much time is needed to be a cheerleader."

During games, many times cheerleaders do not get back until very late, and do not have much time for doing homework for the next day.

"It takes a lot out of you, but to know you are backing the team, makes you feel proud," said Marie. "The dedication seems to get the cheerleaders through the hard times of the season, but having this dedication, and much spirit, is what it is all about."

Before one of her last home games, senior Meredith Hyatt sings the National Anthem to the home crowd.

Earns the 'Cats Many Awards

Trophies, trophies, and more trophies were handed out at the various sports banquets during the 1986-87 school year. Many people were honored, some more than once. Junior Rudy Johnson won two awards, Free Throw Percentage and the Most Rebounds award. "Most of the trophies I've received have been during the tournaments," said Rudy, "but the most important ones were given at the banquet."

Special awards were given and received during all the banquets throughout the year but all will agree that during the fall banquet one award given was the most special of all.

"The Booster Club thought of a great thing when they came up with C.C. Toll award," said Athletic Director Larry Basham. The award was presented to Mrs. Toll.

Honoring their football coach, Sam Harp, are Brian Franklin, Ricky Roberts, Brian Renaud, and Richard Cunningham.

Leads to an Improved season

It was a year of ups and downs for the Anderson County Bat'Cats. The 'Cats ended their season with a record of 8 wins against 13 losses.

"It was an enjoyable season!" said first year Head Coach Larry Basham. "We didn't win all that we wanted to, but everybody tried."

Highlights of the season include two grand slam homers by Rudy Johnson at home against Lexington Sayre and by Randy Gillis at Spencer County. Both of these helped the 'Cats to victories. "At first I didn't think it was going to go over," said Rudy about his homer, "but it didn't take me long to realize that it was out of the park. It was my first one of the year, and I felt good!"

According to Coach Basham, one of the most consistent players for the 'Cats was senior Matthew Carlton who hit four homeruns in four straight games. "It was a great feeling," said Matthew. "I just hit a streak and kept going."

The best game of the year came when the 'Cats beat Frankfort. "Everything was as close to perfect as it could be," stated Coach Basham. "Everyone played tremendous!"

Puts the golf team Into the "swing"

The 1987 golf team did well in the season after not having a strong team for a few years.

Senior Bud Taylor and junior Laurie Goodlett did well enough in the regional tournament to advance to the state. "I was second in my region by shooting a round of 73," said Bud. "I have been practicing very hard and hope to do well in the state golf tournament."

Laurie won her regional tournament by shooting a round of 82. "I played good in the tournament but there were many things that I could have done to play better," she said.

Sophomores Eric Pittman and Mark Richard, as well as freshman Jonathon Earnest, did well in the region to help the team finish fifth, but only Bud and Laurie went to the state.

Coach Gary Stevens was impressed by the enthusiasm of the team. "The team did well, to have been all younger than usual," he said.

Bud went to the state to tie for the eleventh position, while Laurie tied for fifth.

Endures a Rebuilding Season

With a new head coach and new players, the ACHS tennis teams earned a lot of experience this year. The girls' squad ended their season with a 0-10 record. The boys' team ended their season with a 0-7 record.

"We just couldn't ever get it all together," said senior Timmy Baker. "It wasn't a good season for us."

Both teams played highly ranked schools. "We had a decent team with potential, but we played some real tough teams. Our schedule wasn't an easy one," said Coach Bruce Mooser.

"This was my first year playing tennis," said foreign exchange student Kristen Jevne. "We had a real good time!"

Although the season record doesn't show it, the tennis squads played hard. "They were a hard working bunch of kids," said Coach Mooser, "but they just couldn't seem to make it work!"

Pushes the track team To a winning season

The track team had a winning season with the boys team winning first in the regional meet and the girls team taking fourth. Six individuals were regional champions while two qualified for the state competition.

Sophomore Russell Schweighardt won the 300 meter hurdles. Sophomore Andy Smith won the pole vault. Senior Bernice Peyton and sophomore Chris Franklin won the 400 meter dash and the high jump, respectively.

Russell qualified for the state competition. He came in third place at the state meet. "I was pleased with my showing," he said, with a smile.

Senior Stephanie Penny and Chaundra Gash, a junior high student, were the regional champions in the shot put and the high jump, respectively.

Stephanie qualified for the state meet where she came in third place.

With their showings at the regional and state meets, several individuals made All-state teams. Stephanie and Russell made First team All-state, while Andy and Bernice were named to the Second team All-state.

At the end of the season, Russell and Stephanie were the leading field event scorers. Bernice and freshman Joy Schweighardt were the leading running event scorers. Senior Brian Jones and sophomore Kristi Dixon received the determination awards.

Makes for a Super Season!

"We are a whole lot better; we've got quite a team; we were third in the state," stated senior Bernice Peyton about this year's cross country team.

The Boys' Varsity squad finished overall with 196 wins as opposed to 36 losses. The Girls' Varsity squad finished overall with 10 wins and 19 losses.

"This year has been a lot of fun," said senior P. J. Owens. "The team was really close."

Coach Randy Crist said, "I believe this year's team had more talent than any other team that I have coached. We worked hard, our record shows that, but we had a great time!"

The Anderson County Cross Country team had not only a state champion, it also had lots of effort from many individuals. "There is no doubt that Bernice was great this year but we all worked hard," said John Combs. "We couldn't have come in third in the state without everybody pitching in and giving a little bit of effort."

Senior Brian Jones added about this year's season, "This has been an exciting year filled with a lot of things to remember: Bernice won the 1986 State Championship, beating the defending '85 State Champion; the team came in third in the state. It has all been great!"

Helps Bernice & Coach Harp to State Titles

Bernice

"Running just comes natural!" said senior Bernice Peyton after capturing the state Cross Country title of 1986. This was only the second time in Anderson County history that this has happened.

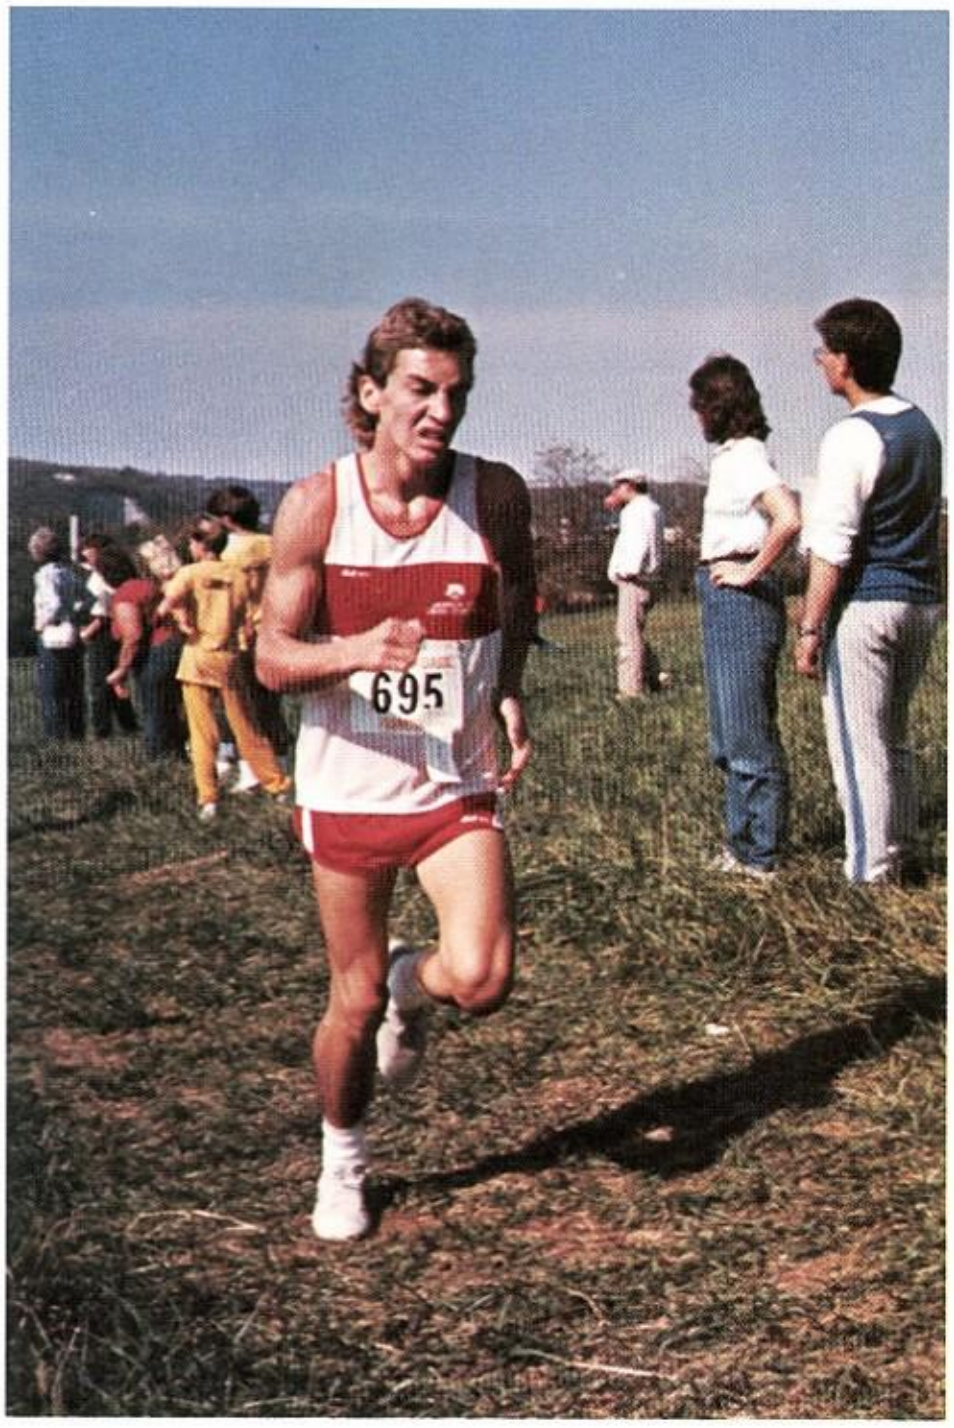
"I was running with the best in the state," he said. "I was really nervous and shaky, but one thing I have learned since I have been running is, that is what will hurt you the worse. You have to learn to overcome that."

"Bernice is very intelligent when it comes to running," said Coach Randy Crist, who has coached Bernice for the past two years. "He proved this with his tactics against the defending state champion of 1985."

Bernice is a fairly new member to the cross country family. He did not run until his junior year. "You could always see improvement in his running," said Coach Crist. "He was a quick thinker and always reached the goals that he would set for himself! He was one of the most talented runners I have ever coached in my career!"

"I have really enjoyed running cross country under Coach Randy Crist," said Bernice. "I will always remember this year as being one of the best of my life!"

"We will really miss having Bernice on the team next year," said Coach Crist. "He was a real pleasure to work with, and he was always a big winner!"

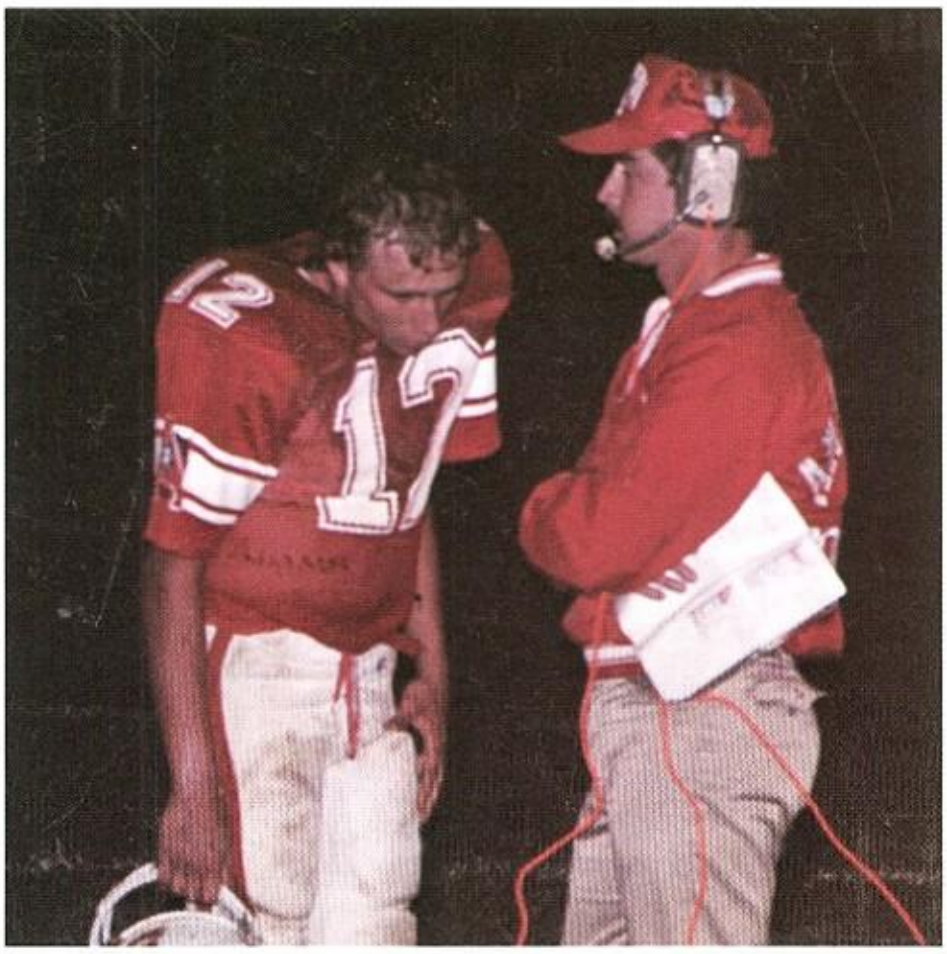


Showing endurance and stamina on his face, Bernice works hard to be number one in the race at Kentucky State.

Talking with reporters after capturing the 1986 Cross Country Title, Bernice answers one of their many questions.

After receiving the State title, Coach Crist and Bernice walk away as winners.

Coach Harp



"We don't have to be bigger or more powerful than the teams we play," said Coach Harp. "We win by 'finesse' and execution." These two factors were the overriding forces that lead the Bearcats to a 10-0 season and to Coach Harp's selection as 1986 Courier-Journal Coach of the Year.

That old saying "defense wins the game" stands true for Coach Harp and the Bearcats. "You have to build a sound defense," he said. "If your opponents can't score, they can't win."

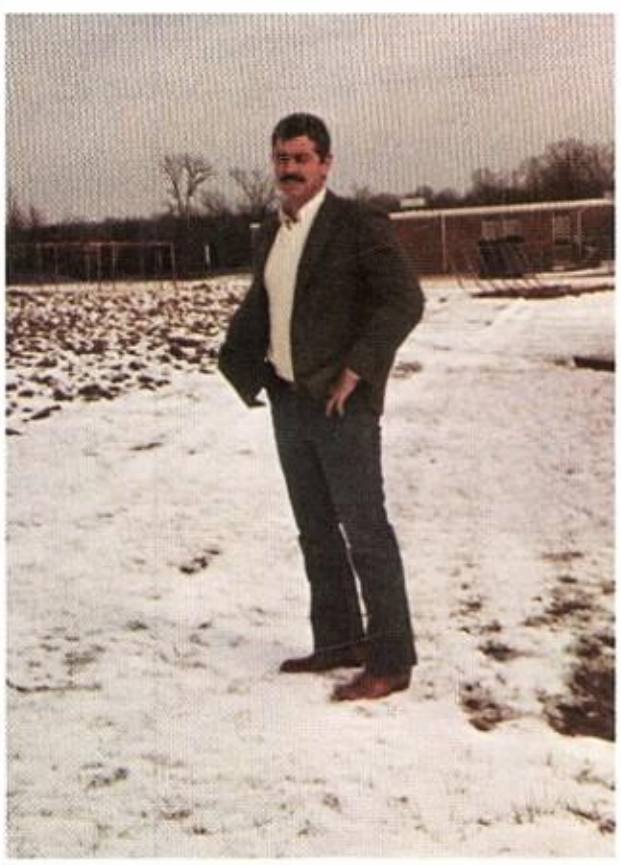
Offensively, Coach Harp feels the same way by using the highly successful Veer Option. "You must have the Veer down pat," said Coach Harp. "There is little, or no way to stop it once it is in motion."

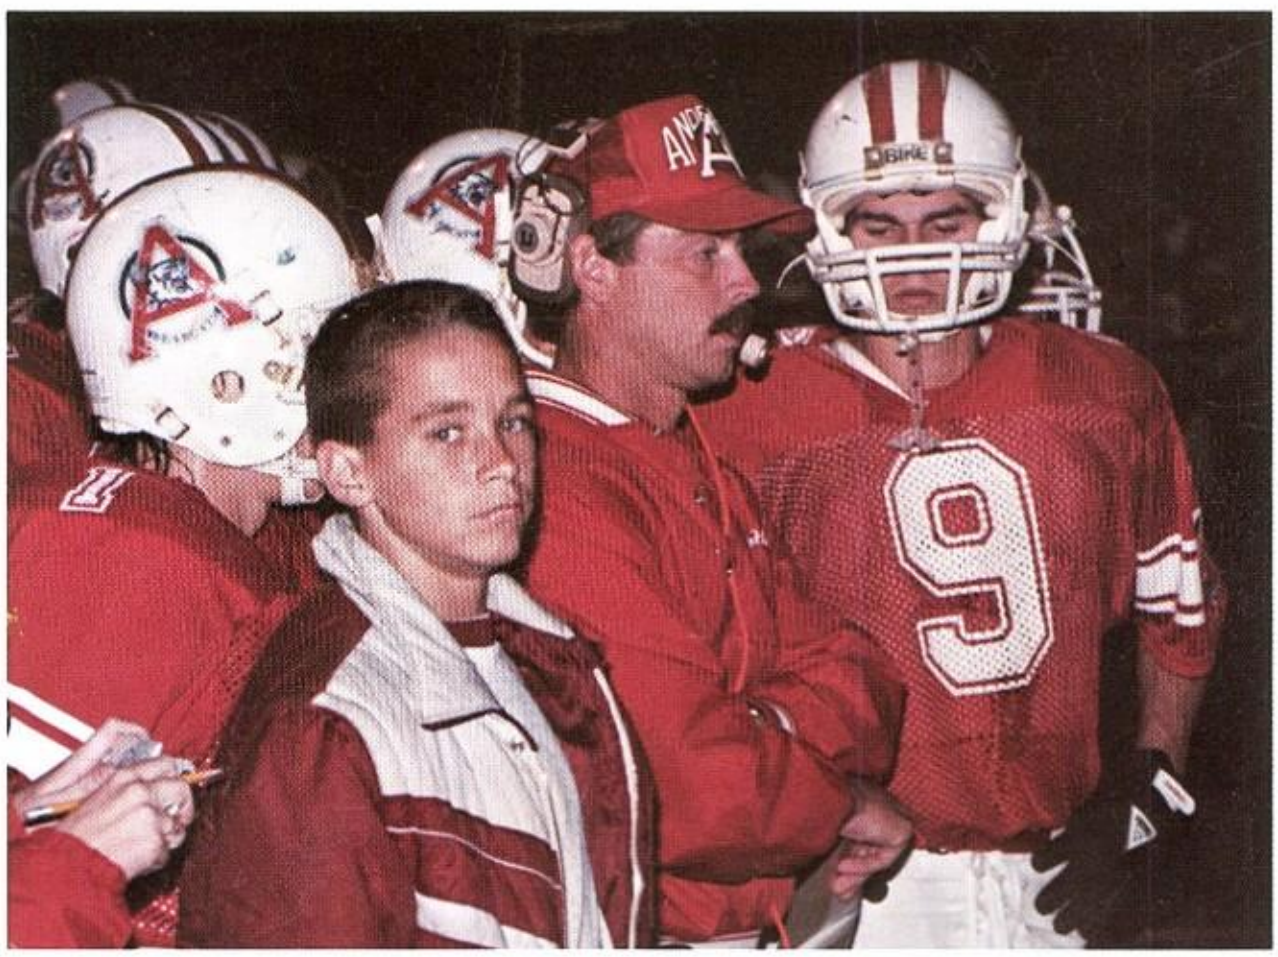
Coach Harp attributes his being selected as Coach of the Year to the Bearcat squad as a whole. "This has definitely been the most enjoyable year I've had since I've been involved in coaching," he said. "It all comes from the players, my assistant coaches, managers, administration, and the community. Everybody played their own part and that meant a lot to me!"

Commenting on Coach Harp's selection as Coach of the Year, Larry Basham, Athletic Director, stated, "There was no one other coach in the state that deserved it more than Coach Harp."

The 1986 Courier-Journal Coach of the Year, Sam Harp uses his talents that helped him be selected as he directs senior quarterback Brian Renaud on the plays.

Posing for his annual coaches' picture, Sam Harp has a nice smile on his face, something seen a lot by Bearcat fans this season.





Talking to freshman Randy Gillis about the upcoming plays, Coach Harp uses his head-set to find out what is happening on the field.

Standing outside his Project Aim class, in which he did a lot of planning for the games on Fridays, Coach Harp poses for the camera.

Helps Bearcats to a 10-0 Season!

Although the preseason polls didn't predict it, ACHS would go into the record books this year with an undefeated regular season record.

The big surprise came after the first game. The 'Cats were favored over the Frankfort High Panthers, but not by 43 points. The 'Cats defeated the Panthers 57-14 in a game played with an extreme hunger for victory.

This same hunger was displayed at home against Mercer. The 'Cats used that Classic Style and senior running back Ricky Roberts, who took 19 carries for 120 yards.

The 'Cats next game would be against the best team in the entire schedule, the Pikeville Panthers. The 'Cats began their scoring drive early in the first quarter with a long reception by sophomore Chris Franklin which brought a 23-yard gain. The 'Cats had excellent ball control as they ended the game with a record low zero fumbles and a 21-7 victory. Freshman Spencer Barnett rushed 153 yards in 19 carries, which was a personal best.

In the next game against Woodford County, the 'Cats used senior quarterback Brian Renaud's scrambling and rushing abilities to secure a victory. Renaud rushed for over 40 yards, including a 37-yard bolt.

Next up to bite the dust was Washington County, who fell to the 'Cats 28-0. Barnett rushed for over 100 yards.

The next team the 'Cats mauled was Bardstown. Renaud returned an interception 50 yards for a Bearcat touchdown as ACHS won 19-6. This victory, the first in thirteen years against Bardstown, clinched the sub-district title.

Harrodsburg and Henry County were also dominated by that 'Cat Classic Style. The Pioneers fell quickly while Chris Franklin was racking up receptions and interceptions. The Wildcats also met a quick doom as junior Rudy Johnson and Barnett rushed for a total of over 150 yards.

The 'Cats would now face archrival Bourbon County with an untarnished record. The 'Cats defeated the Colonels 22-21 with outstanding play. Highlights of the game included two breakaway runs by Barnett, a 37-yard field goal by Renaud late in the game, and a pass interception in the end zone late in the game by Chris Franklin to clinch the win for the 'Cats.

FRONT ROW: Travis Kays, Melissa Cubert, Ashley Hawkins, Alison Briscoe, Kim Clark, Rachel Hibbs, Karen Clark, Cassandra Kessinger, Nancy Brown, April Dyke, Kathy Thompson, Bobby Thompson, Millie Perry. SECOND ROW: Meredith Hyatt, Don Miller, Matt Holt, Jeremy Kays, Jeff Reynolds, Noal Cotton, David Robinson, Marcus Perry, Daryl Walton, Travis Farley, Chris Atkins, Mark Withers, Ladonis Toney. THIRD ROW: Tabitha Gash, Marie Crawford, Doug Stockton, Steve Votaw, Ricky Roberts, Jerry Perry, Chip Bishop, Sam Harp, Tony Kays, Jerry Warford, Chris Cornish, Frank Fallis, Kellie Atkins, Ann Marie Holt. FOURTH ROW: Julie Orme, Rodney Morgan, Randy Hudson, Chris Franklin, Blaine Peach, Tony Puckett, Lee Aldridge, Bobby Hardin, Richard Cunningham, Brian Klink, David Woods, Christie Shelton. As his teammates look on, senior Brian Renaud throws a pass during practice. Brian was selected by Kentucky coaches to represent Kentucky in the Ky./Tenn. All-Star Game. The 35-man squad will play in Knoxville this summer. "Brian is considered one of the 35 best in the state of Kentucky," said Coach Sam Harp. "That's a pretty good honor."

Senior Blaine Peach prepares to run a pattern while Ricky Roberts studies teammates' drills before the game against Mercer County.

THAT CLASSIC STYLE . . .
Earns the 'Cats a Homecoming Victory

The Bearcats on Homecoming night looked like two entirely different teams. They had only 106 yards of offense in the first half and only two exciting plays.

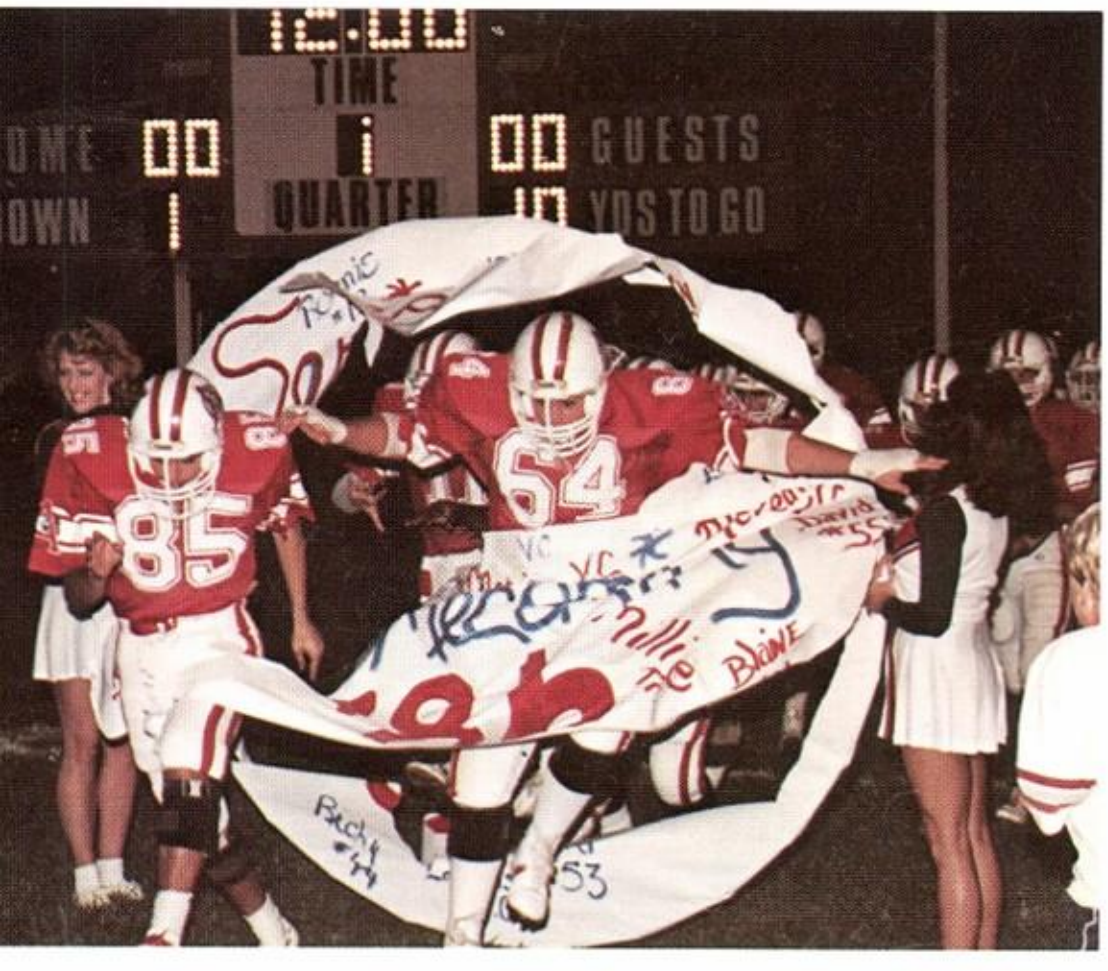
After the opening kickoff, it took only two plays to go 70 yards as Rudy Johnson ran a flanker reverse for his first rushing touchdown of the year. With Brian Renaud's extra point, the 'Cats led 7-0 only 54 seconds into the game.

The only other exciting thing in the half was Chris Franklin's interception, his eighth of the year, when he picked off an option pass with 39 seconds left in the half.

But in the second half, the Bearcats looked a whole lot different. This time they controlled the line, permitting Henry County inside the Bearcat 10 only twice in the half. The Bearcats rolled up 208 second half yards (140 of those contributed by Spencer Barnett).

Other players singled out for praise by Harp were linebacker Lee Aldridge for an exceptional block which permitted Barnett a 48 yard run, Chris Franklin for a ninth interception, and linebacker Brian Franklin for recovering a fumble which prevented Henry County from scoring late in the game.

Followed by their teammates, seniors Ricky Boggs and Tony Puckett lead the 'Cats to a Homecoming victory.



Struttin' his stuff, freshman Spencer Barnett is all alone running for one of his many touchdowns.

Running with a few extra burdens, this Bearcat's having a hard time gaining yardage.

Running on to the field, ready for a great homecoming victory, are freshmen Chris Walker and Travis Farley.

Ends a Storybook Season

"It leaves an emptiness," said Coach Harp. "I feel an emptiness for these kids."

This summed up Anderson's feelings after the highly emotional Fort Knox District Play-off. The statistics showed that Anderson had controlled the game but Fort Knox won on the scoreboard. Anderson had 15 first downs to Fort Knox's 9. Anderson tallied up 309 yards to 207 for the Eagles.

"Penalties and fumbles killed us," said Harp, on the 'Cats only defeat. "It wasn't so much the number of penalties, but when they happened." Of Fort Knox's nine first downs, three came on Bearcat penalties. Anderson also fumbled the ball three times.

Down 21-20, the 'Cats last chance came with 1:49 left on the clock when they took over on their own 14 and drove to the Fort Knox 27 in six plays. But with eight seconds left, the 'Cats had no choice but to let Brian Renaud try for an unsuccessful 45-yard field goal.

Going for the gold, senior Ricky Roberts (top) and freshman Spencer Barnett (right) show that they were winners even though the scoreboard didn't show it.

J.V. and FRESHMEN

Contribute to that classic style

Despite a tough schedule, the junior varsity and freshman squads had a year full of experience.

"Since I didn't get very much varisty time, the J.V. games gave me a lot of experience," said freshman quarterback Randy Gillis. "We were serious about winning, but we had a great time!"

The junior varsity ended their season with a 1-4 record.

The team played many teams whose varsity was among the top in the state. "We played teams such as Bourbon County and Woodford County," said sophomore Chris Cornish. "These teams' varsity squads were super!"

The freshman squad, headed by Coach Chip Bishop, ended their season with a 4-4 record. Although they were short on team members, the Frosh made up for it with extra effort.

"A lot of times we didn't have hardly enough people to scrimmage," said freshman Sean Perry, "but we always worked a little bit harder and made up for that."

This series of photographs shows Coach Kays (left) conferring with his JV players and (right and bottom) the freshmen in action against Mercer Co.

Special Events

After a week of excitement and activities, the Homecoming game finally arrived. It would prove to be a night spirit and jubilance that would leave lasting memories, including a 20-0 defeat over Henry County.

Halftime brought the crowning of the Homecoming Queen. There were many new ideas to this year's halftir program. Mrs. Lora Werner became the new coordinator of the queen's coronation. "I liked it because it was an exciting pa of the candidates' lives," said Mrs. Werner. "It was fun to share in their enthusiasm."

Escorted by Matthew Carlton, senior Meredith Hyatt was crowned 1986 Homecoming Queen by Superintendent Son
Fentress, renewing an old tradition. "I enjoyed crowning Meredith," said Mr. Fentress. "It was a highlight of Homecoming week Meredith received a silver platter, flowers, and a crown as the new queen. "I was really excited!" she exclaimed. "It made me fe special because all the candidates were deserving."

For the first time, runners-up were named. "I think it was good that there were runners-up," said Seth Hibbs. "It recognized more of t girls."

The runners-up both received a silver julip cup. Junior Alison Briscoe was selected second runner-up. Her escort was Chip Atkins. Fi runner-up went to senior Heather Brough, escorted by Troy Shelton. "I was honored," said Heather. "I hope they continue to name runne up."

Special Events

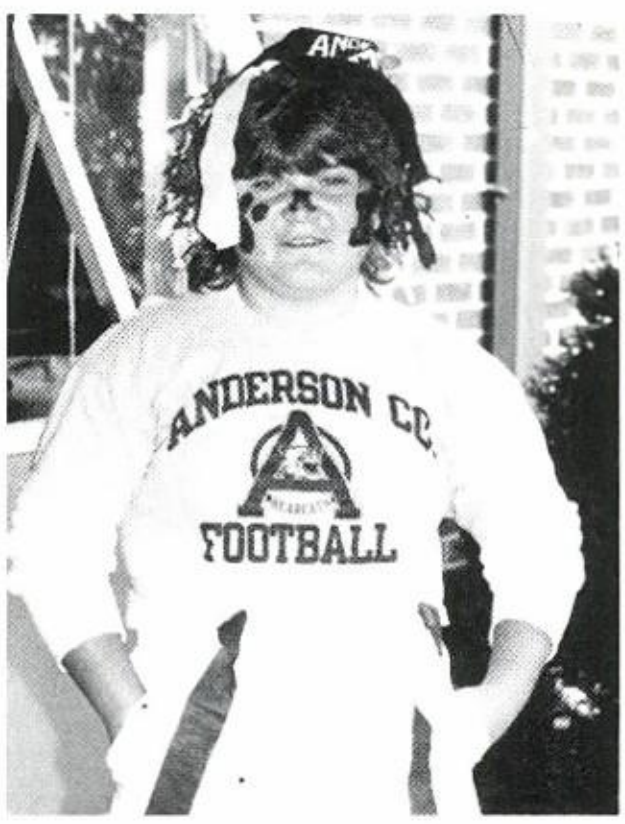
Many activities were available during Homecoming Week beginning with the Spirit Kick Off sponsored by the Student Council. Colored tumblers were placed in the concession stand to collect money donated by each class, a $150 prize the Seniors won.

Tuesday was the traditional hat day, with one not-so-traditional exception. "This year," said senior Ricky Roberts, "we could wear the hats at anytime during the day."

The Journalism Class sponsored many activities. They painted faces, chose Mr. and Miss Spirit, and sponsored the homeroom decoration contest which was won again by Mrs. Werner's homeroom.

The traditional bonfire took place Wednesday night. "I think the bonfire really does boost spirit," said senior Melissa Cubert.

The Homecoming Dance Thursday night was DJ'ed by Tommy Burns. "It was one of the best dances we have had in a long time," said junior P.D. Barnes.



Winning this year's Mr. and Miss Spirit contest, freshmen Margaret Cotton and Kelly Dedman show their spirit.

Shaking the hands of little Bearcat fans, Travis Best and Nissa Chester, the mascot pleases the crowd.

Cheering the crowd on at the bonfire, the boys' varsity cheerleaders show their stuff.

HOMECOMING ACTIVITIES

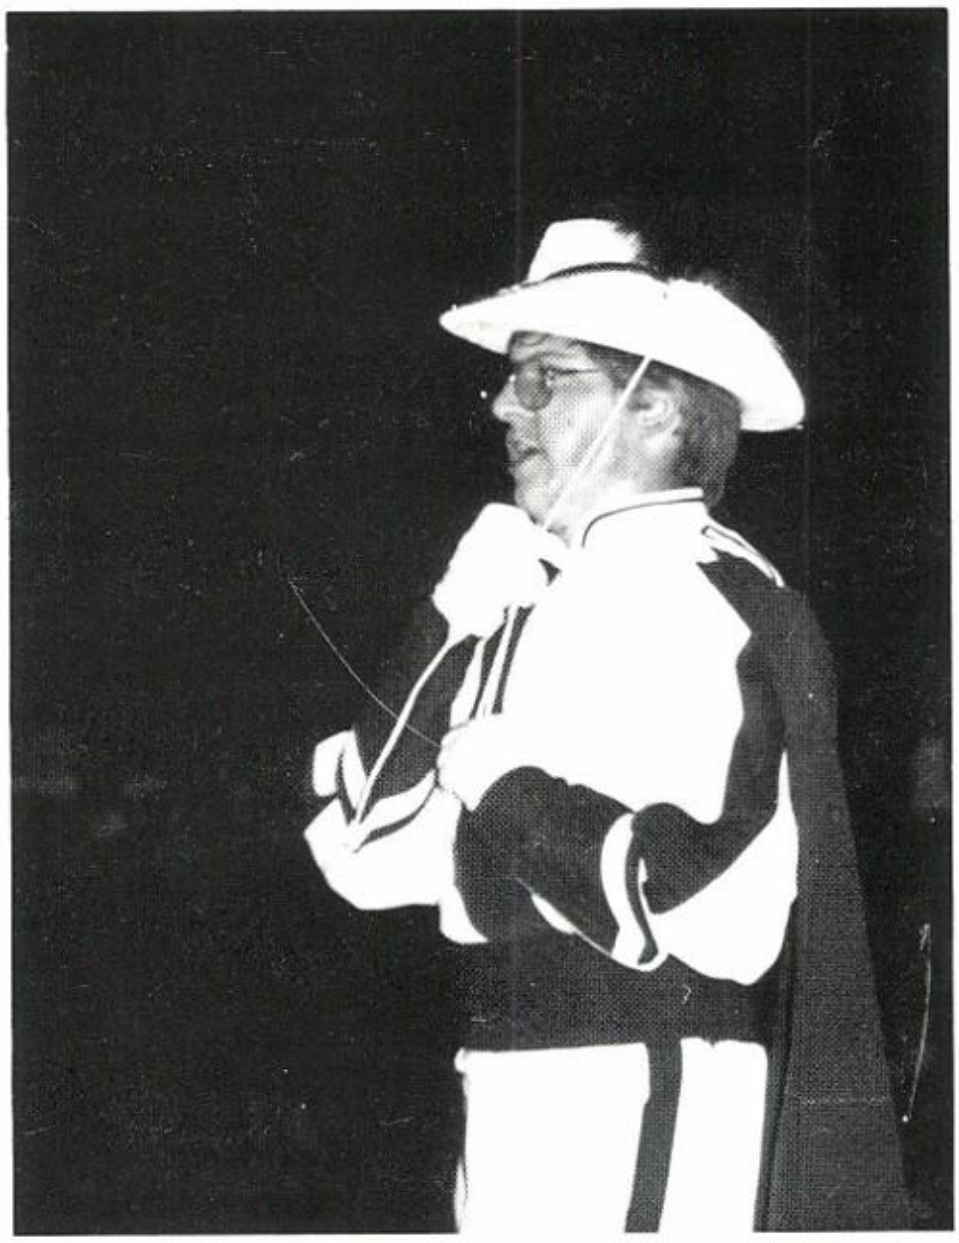
Freshman James Wylie and senior Richard Cunningham get a large fire going for the bonfire.

Everyone's got Bearcat fever including Mrs. Lacefield when she made this huge Bearcat.



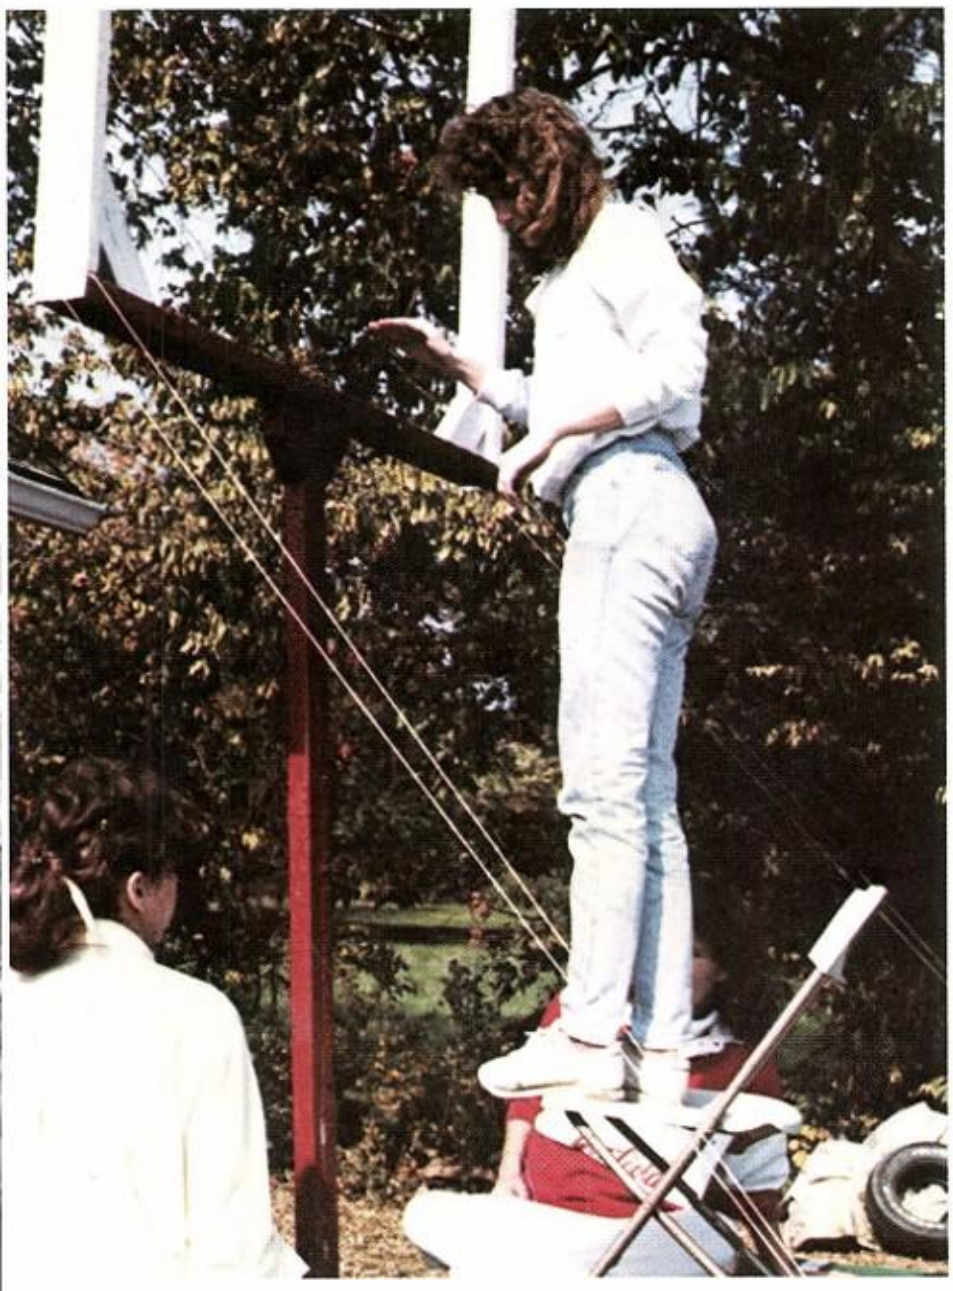
Led by senior field commander Charlie Miller, the band provided music for the Homecoming Court.

Special Events

Waving to the crowd, these school administrators enjoy their first Homecoming Parade, in a car driven by alum Sarah Trent.

HOMECOMING PARADE

Showing spirit and pride, the football team rides on the city fire-truck in the Homecoming Parade.



The parade — composed of class floats, candidates, football teams, cheerleaders, the band, and school officials — was an exciting addition to the normal Homecoming traditions.

The Booster Club, who sponsored the parade, awarded prizes for the best class float. Three weeks of worry, work, and stuffing tissues was worth it for the Sophomore class who won the $100 prize with the theme "Bury 'em on the line, Class of '89." It featured a large tissue football player throwing a Henry County Wildcat into a coffin.

Second place and a prize of $75 went to the Freshman float with the theme "Paw power is what we've got, get close and feel how hot." The float had a large paw coming up from a ring of flames.

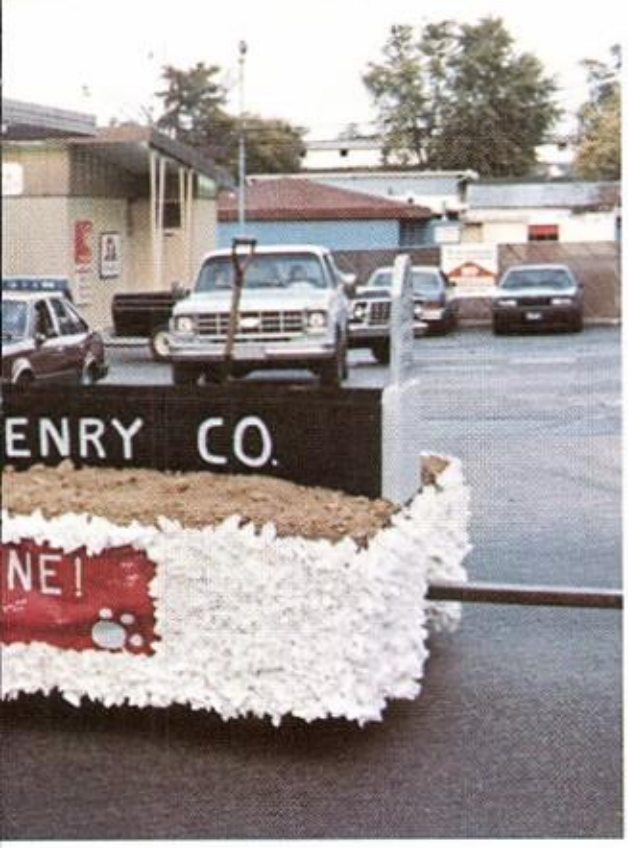
The $50 prize and third place went to the Junior float. A giant blue tennis shoe carried out their theme of "Stomp the Wildcats."

Fourth place and a $25 prize went to the Senior float "Bustin' Loose in '87," featuring a scoreboard, goalpost, and tissue stuffed "A" all with footballs going through the center.

Asking for assistance from seniors Heather Brough and Jennifer Hopper, Melissa Cubert puts on the finishing touches.

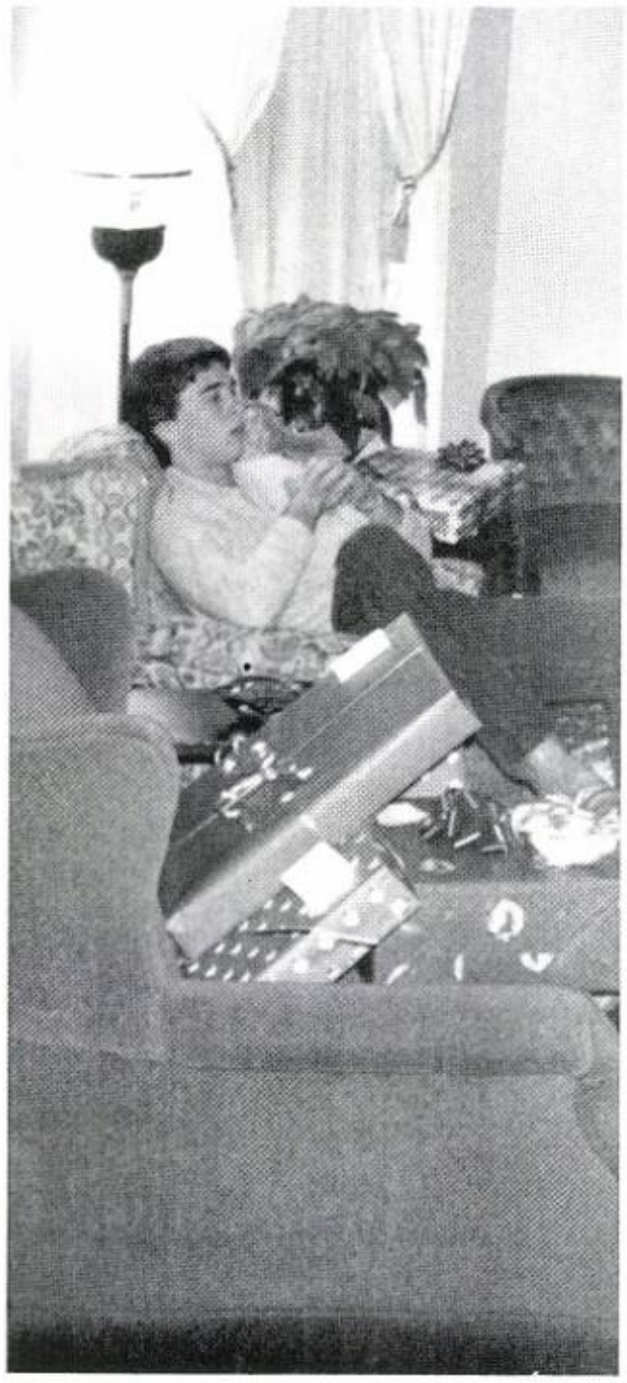
Hard work and spending many of their Saturdays working at the old Ford garage all paid off for the Sophomore class.

Spirited is the perfect word to describe these cheerleaders, managers, and trainers as they wave to the crowd.



Special Events

Decorating Mr. Mooser's tree, sophomores Alison Foye and Kristi Clark get into the Christmas spirit.



Waiting patiently to open presents, junior Bill Crawford enjoys Christmas at his grandmother's.

Carrying on a yearly tradition, the French Club sings carols to the student body.

CHRISTMAS

Christmas is one of the favorite holidays of ACHS students. To many it means receiving lots of gifts, eating big meals, and sharing many special memories with family members.

Lots of students had a wonderful time over Christmas break. "What I enjoyed most about Christmas is the money I received," said junior Noal Cotton.

The exchange students participated in the singing Christmas tree at First Baptist Church the week before Christmas. "I just loved it," said senior Kristin Jevne. "It was hard work, but it was worth it."

With school out for two weeks most students got to sleep in, but some had to get up early anyway. "I was glad that we got out of school," stated senior Jamie Anderson," but just the same, I had to get up early and go to work."

Decorating the tree is one of the more enjoyable parts of the Christmas season. This tree's decoration is definitely complete with all the presents piled high.

Health Services students at vocational school decorated their room for Christmas. Here some of the girls pose in front of their tree.

Displaying the door that she worked hard to decorate, senior Lisa Ashcraft is very proud of her work. HOSA decorated their room for a Christmas party held for a kindergarten class.

Special Events

The Prom, something old and yet something very new, was held at Capital Plaza Hotel in Frankfort.

"It was the best prom we've had," said senior Melissa Cubert. Most of the students agreed with Melissa, describing it as "Elegant," "Romantic," "Ritzy," and "FUN!"

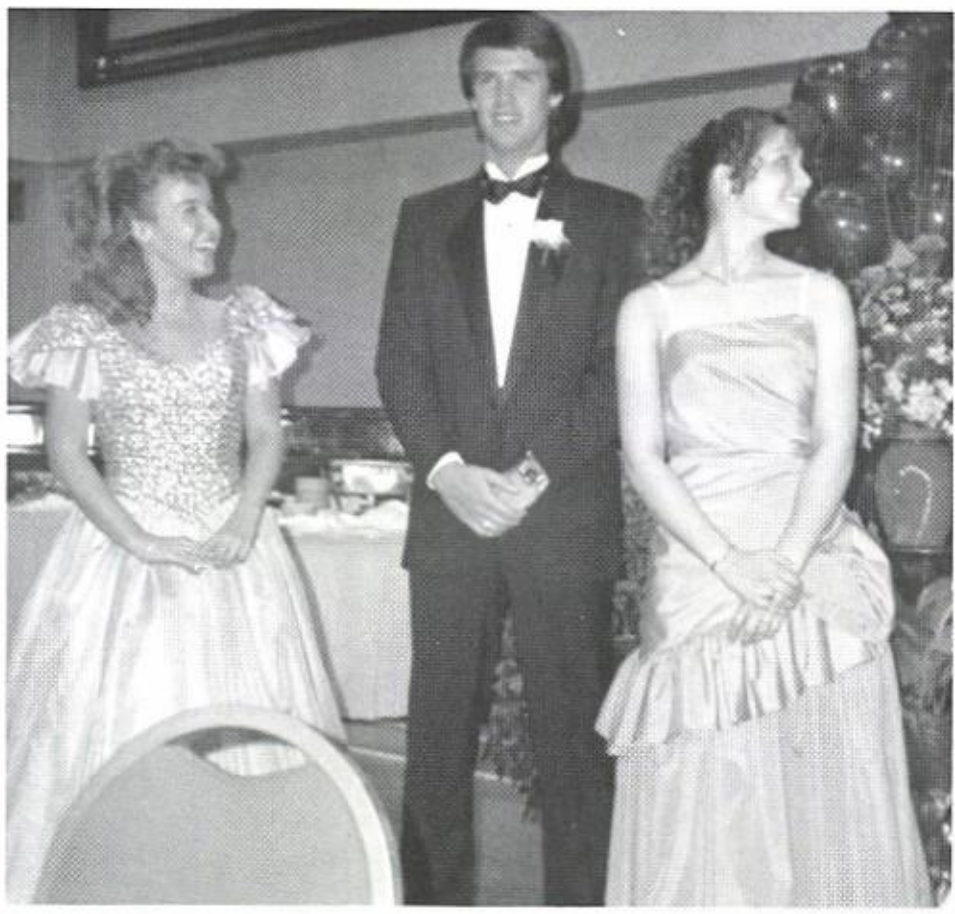
For many students, the evening started with dinner. While restaurants like Rafferty's, Darryl's, or the Fifth Quarter were chosen by many students, several couples spent romantic dinners at home.

Seniors Francie Cummins and Timmy Baker went to a cook-out at Jill Carlton's house. "We wanted to cook-out with our friends instead of spending money for dinner," they explained.

The Synthetics entertained the students with a variety of music. Couples crowded the dance floor and were even in the aisles, especially for the slow songs.

For those who needed extra nourishment to dance the night away, a large table of hors d'oeurves was available, including pizza, Swedish meatballs, scallops wrapped in bacon, beef tenderloin on toast, and, for the exotic, escargot. For the conservative students, sandwiches, cheese and vegetable platters, and two cakes were also on hand.

After the prom, couples headed out for parties, breakfasts, or home to watch movies.



At 10:00 p.m. on April 18, the Prom court and the king and queen were named for 1987. The royalty had been voted on early in the week by the respective classes. The Junior court (at top) consisted of Amy Adams, Chip Atkins, Christie Shelton, and Matt Fitzwater (absent from picture). Meredith Hyatt, Brian Franklin, Timmy Baker, and Francie Cummins (above) were chosen to represent the Seniors. Doug Chilton and Heather Brough (at right) were crowned King and Queen by last year's royalty, Jan McAnly and John Stucker. Heather and Doug showed their happiness as they danced to "All Cried Out." Everyone then crowded around the couple for the theme song "Friends and Lovers."

"FRIENDS AND LOVERS"

Sophomore Anga Smith and senior Tony Puckett decide what they want to taste from the assortment of hors d'oeurves ranging from pizza to escargot.

Enjoying the atmosphere of the evening, junior Tiffany Antrobus and sophomore Destry Sharp relax at their table.

The Synthetics, a band from Louisville, performs "Captain Luke," a song written by one of the band members. Junior Tonya Sparrow really liked the band. "They were great! I loved their slow songs," she said.

With love in their eyes, junior P.D. Barnes and sophomore Denise Landers think only of each other as they dance to the theme song "Friends and Lovers."

Special Events

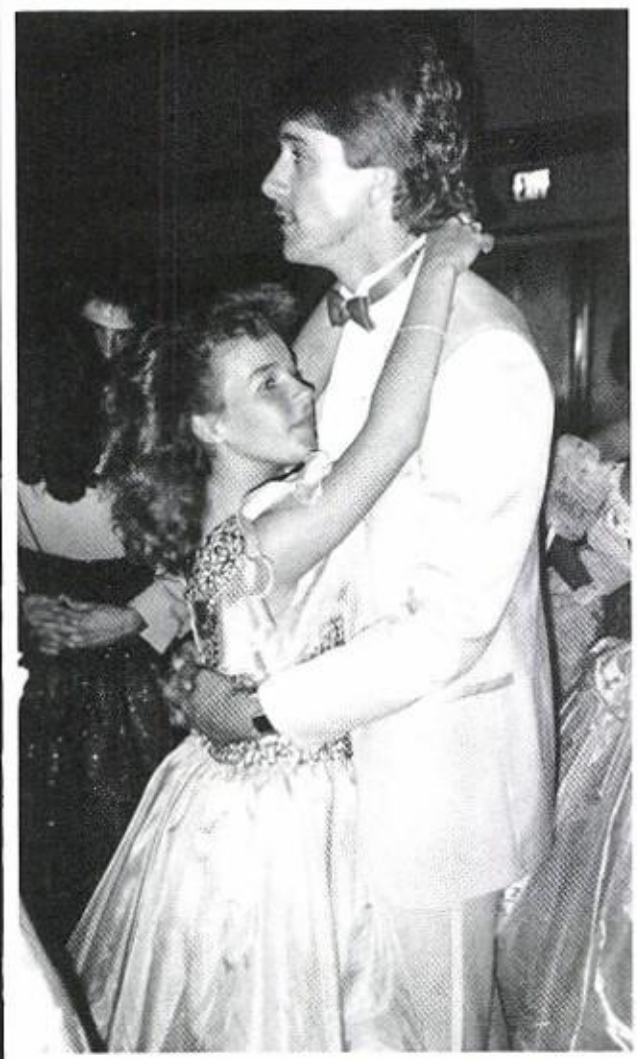
In a hurry to get to prom on time, alumnus Darin Goodlett and senior Marie Crawford take a final picture before they leave.

Junior Shanna Jackson and date alumnus Kevin Bolton take a rest in between dances as senior Richard Cunningham watches the good performance of "The Synthetics."

Freshening up their make-up, seniors Julie Sutherland and Kathy Litkenhus and sophomore Alison Foye put on some finishing touches, while juniors Missy Taylor and Tracey Turner fix their hair.

Making sure everyone is having a good time, Mr. Barnett talks with senior Tony Simpson, freshmen Cindy Puckett and Amy Gritton, and junior Chris Morgan.

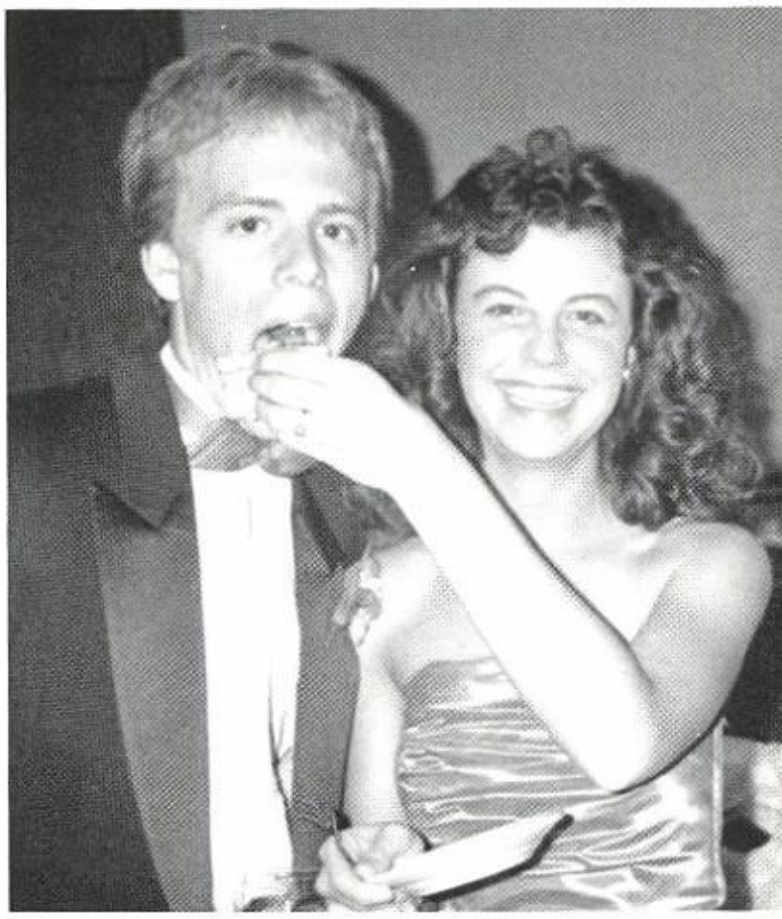
"FRIENDS AND LOVERS"

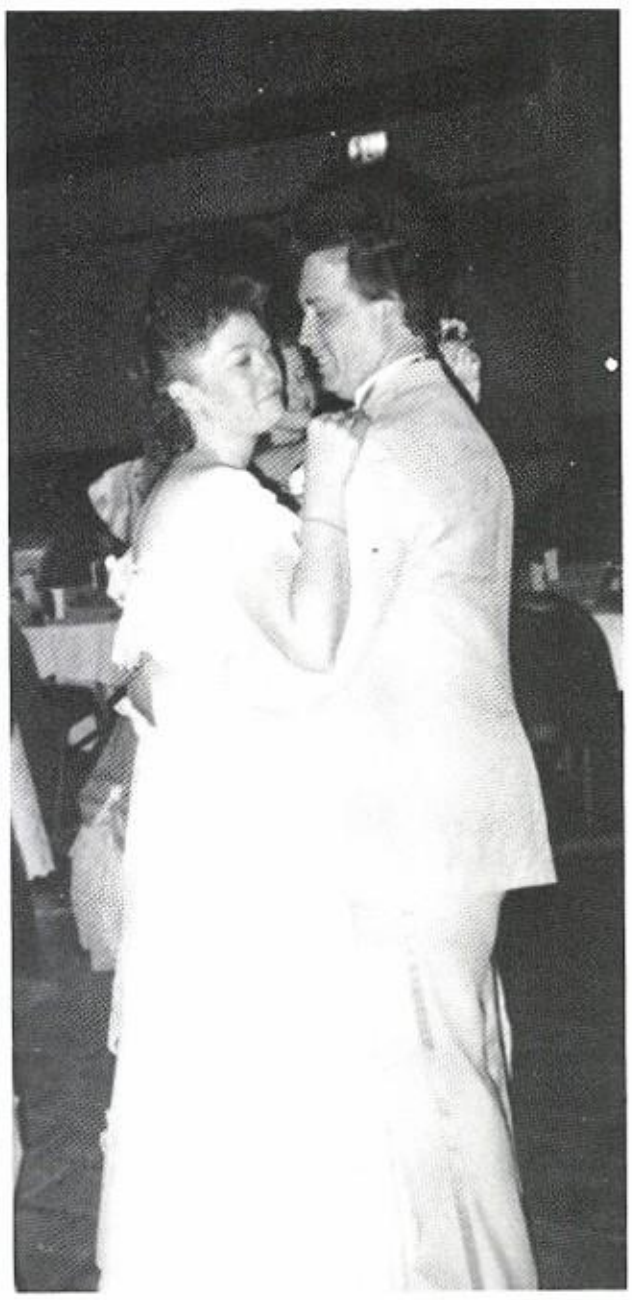


Enjoying the prom, junior Amy Adams and alumnus Orbrey Gritton dance to the theme song "Friends and Lovers."

Smiling big for the camera, seniors Jennifer Hopper and Allen Yocum take what seems to be their hundredth picture.

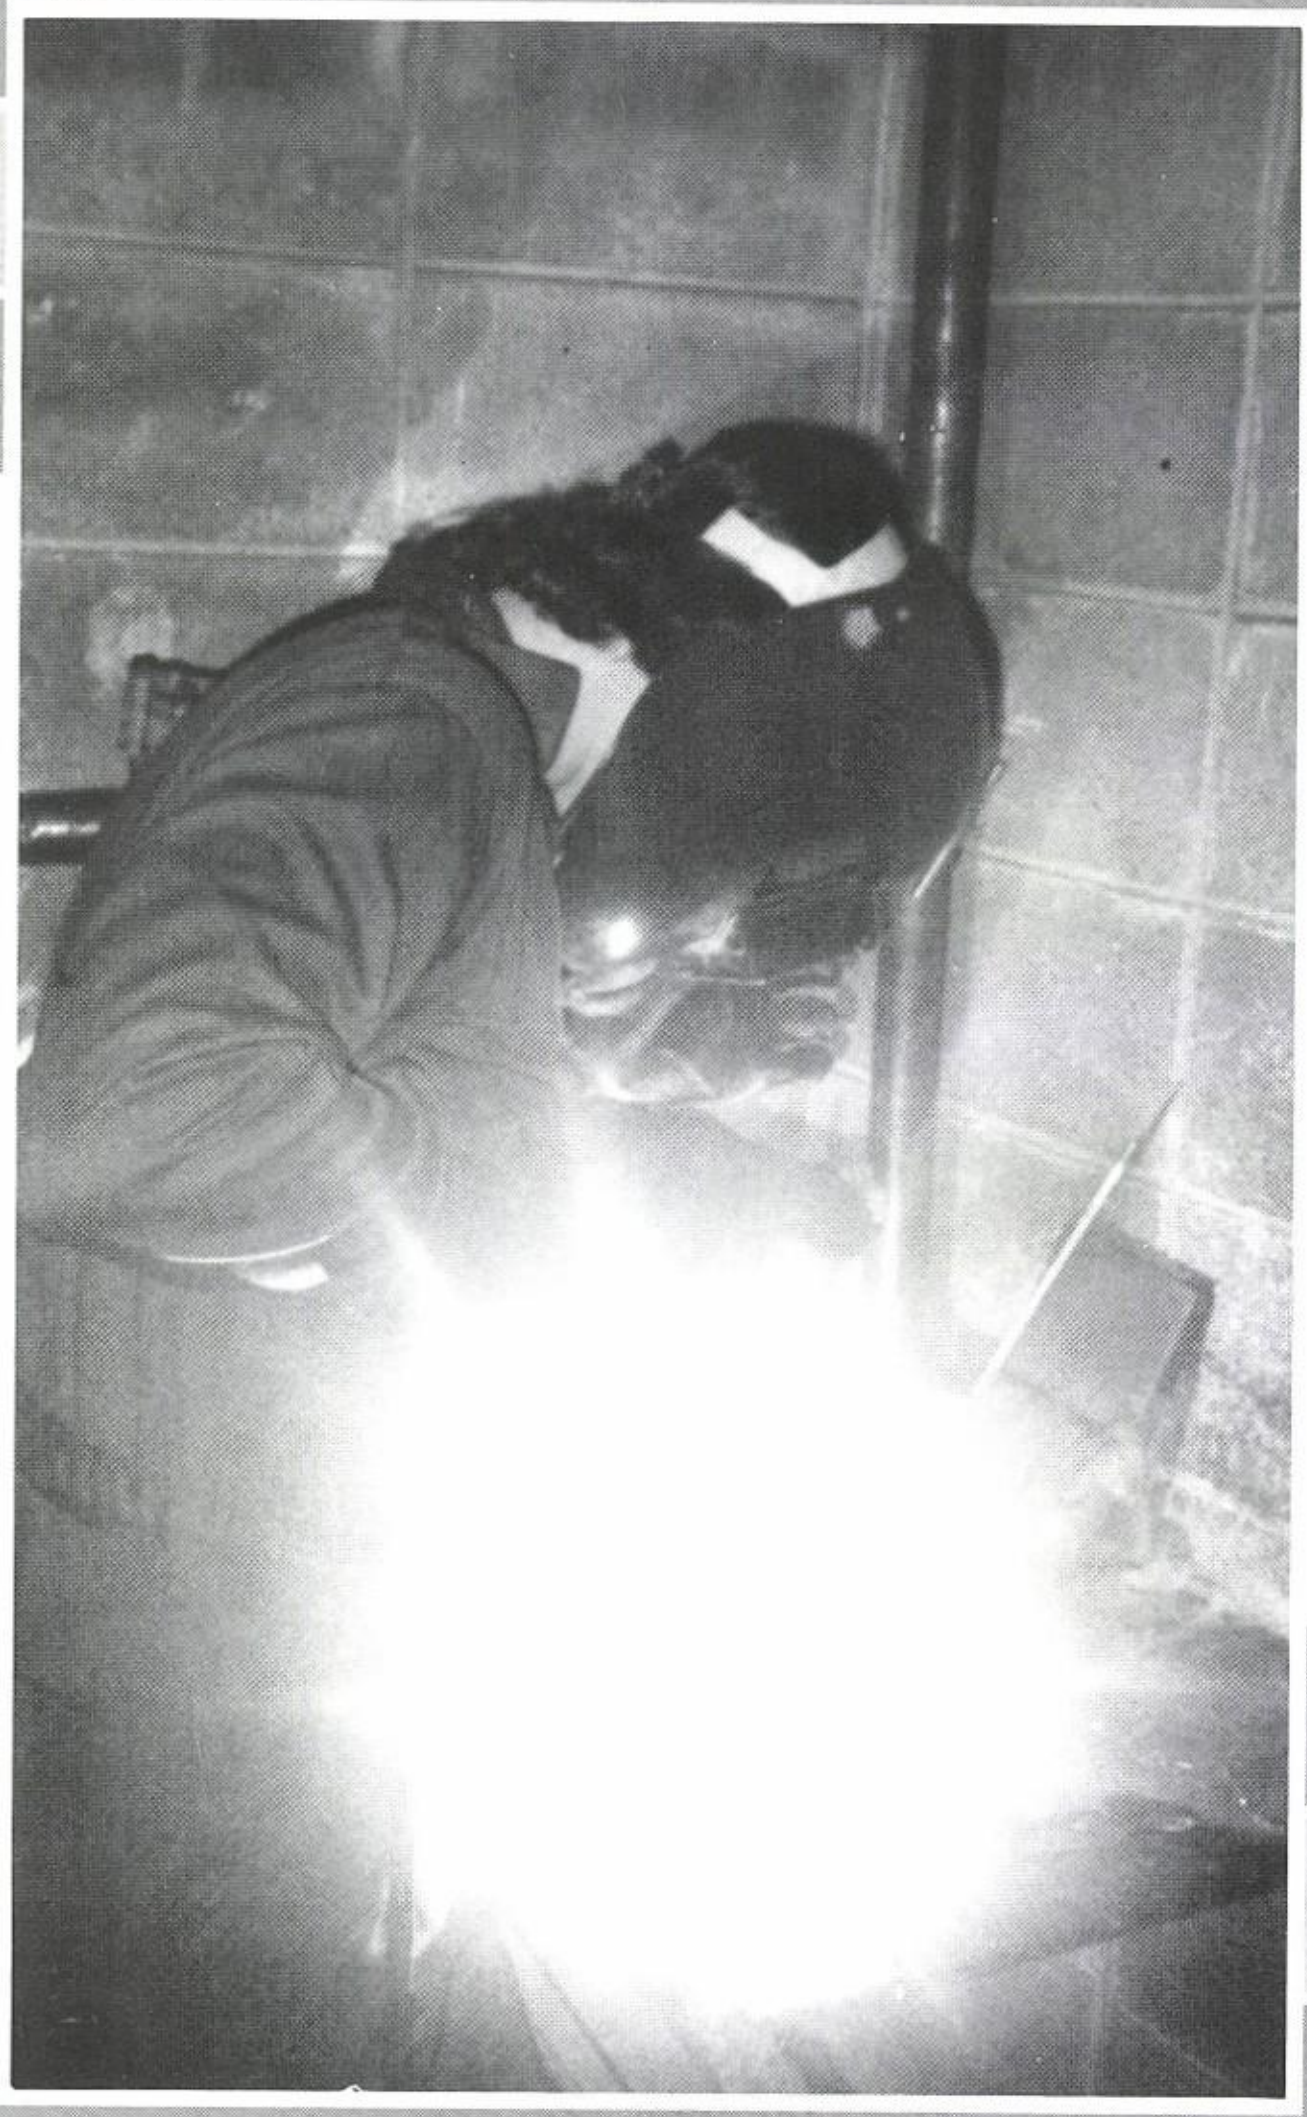
Unusual food was part of the main attraction at this year's prom. Here junior Ryan Finnell and sophomore Tabitha Fendell show how they enjoyed the food.





Alumnus Chris Holt and junior Margaret Boblett squeeze into one seat so that their friends may join them at their table.

Romance filled the air at Capital Plaza all night long. Senior Sharon Beasley and date Eddie Campbell share a dance to the love song "All Cried Out."



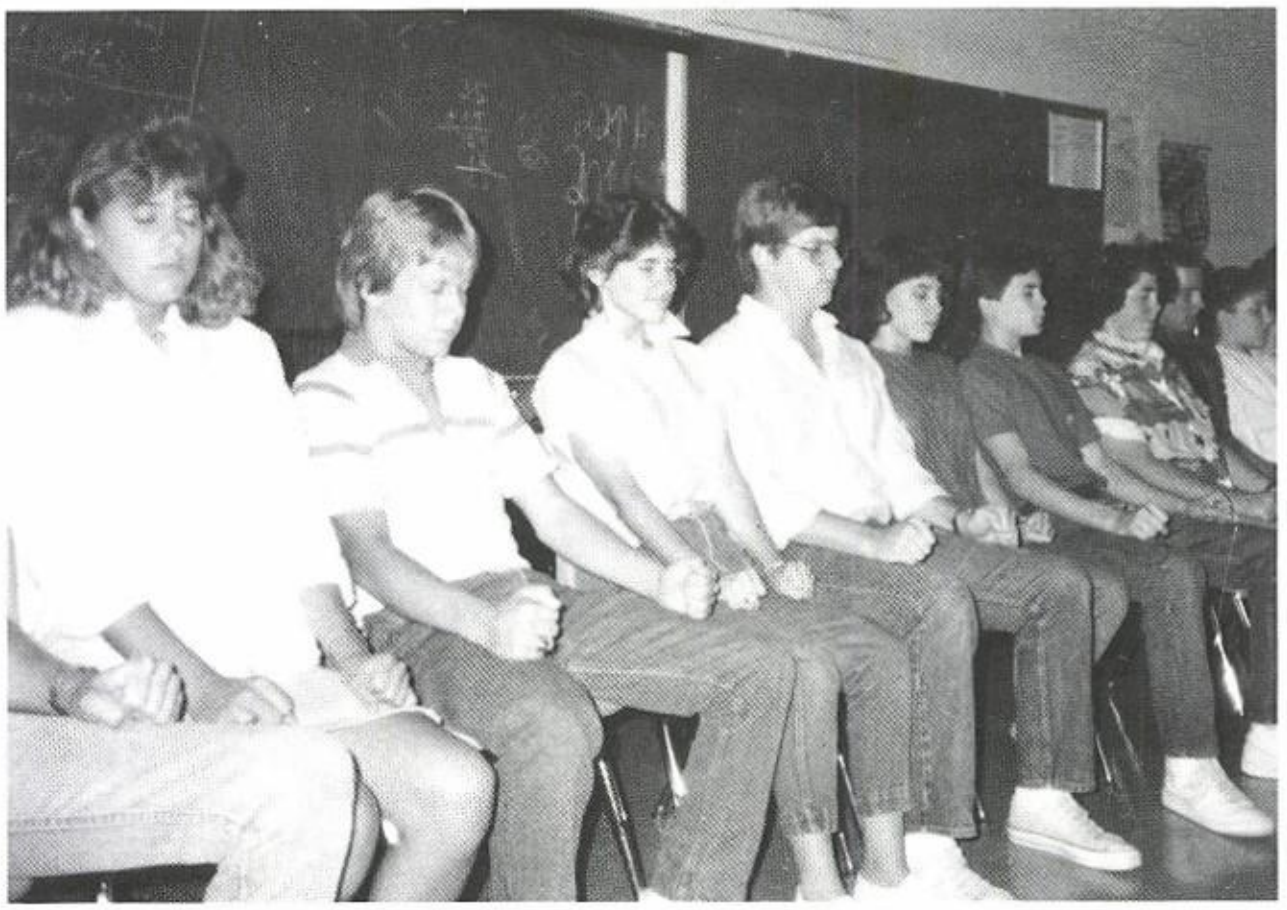
Showing his skill of welding is Darrin Willard at vocational school.

ACADEMICS

A new computer, operated by Mrs. Jeannie Wainscott, produced a new report card.

The classic Phase English class for juniors and seniors was replaced by a regular English/Literature class. Also, all upperclass English classes had to do a research paper.

Although there were new classes and ways of doing things, the class traditions were still intact.



These students in first period psychology volunteer to be hypnotized by hypnotist Donald Kahl.

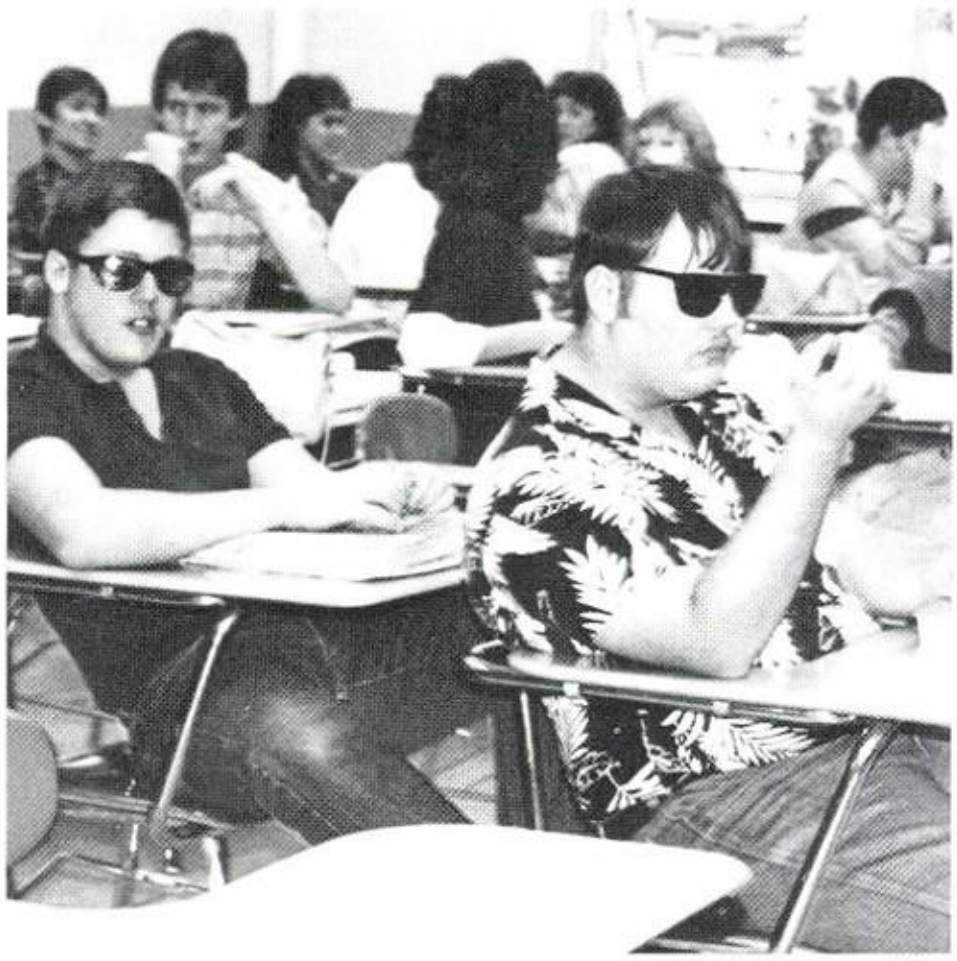
First Week Of School

The first week of school began a new feeling of excitement. To freshmen it meant starting a new life, a new adventure. To seniors it was the beginning of the end. They started setting their sights on graduation day. To sophomores and juniors it was like a birthday, a new year. But to everyone it was a time to share summer experiences with friends.

"Most of all, it was something to do," said senior Houston Shelton. "Summer was beginning to get boring."

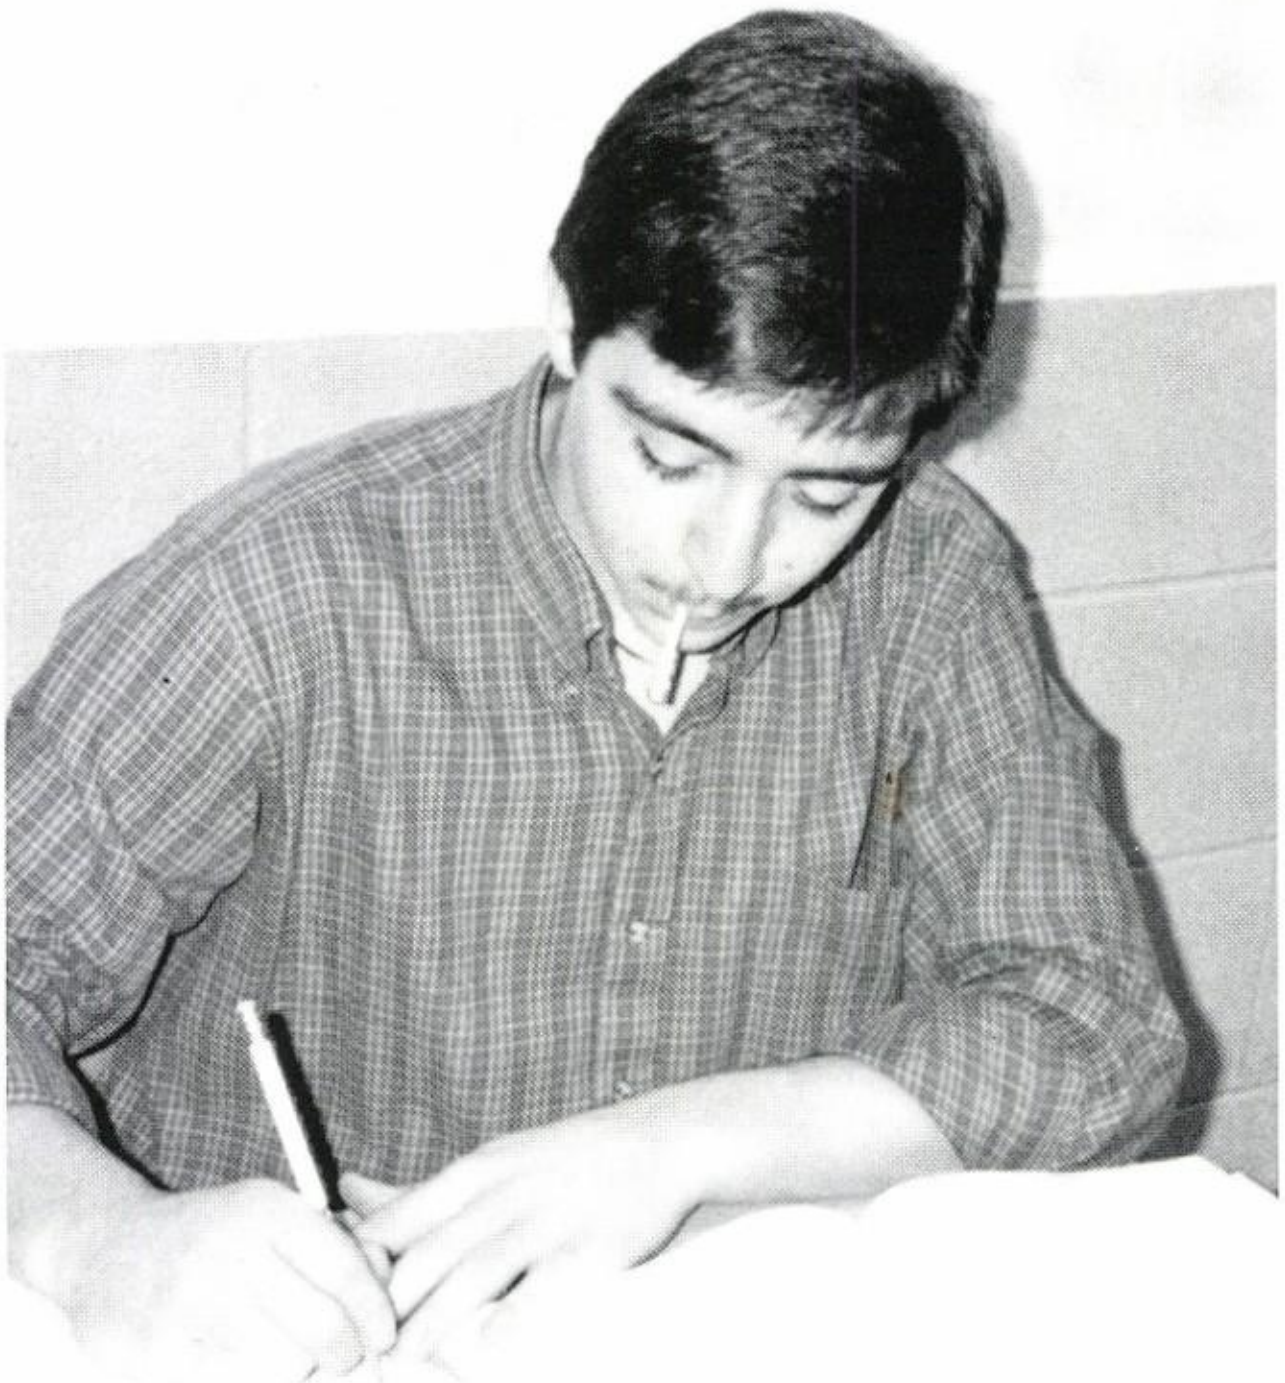
During the first week, activities were planned, books were handed out, and homework was once again assigned. However, the thoughts of summer still lingered pleasantly on students' minds. These memories prevented most students from jumping back into schoolwork headfirst. Most students decided to live a little summerishly and slowly get back into the hang of working.

Sophomores Gerald Baxter and Wayne Aldridge try to keep summer alive as long as possible by wearing their sunglasses in homeroom.



Home Ec. teacher Nancy Shryock tries to get used to the idea of taking attendance using computer cards, a new method this year at ACHS.

The end of the first week of school brings a band contest which gives and seniors Staci Bell and Melanie Shouse gives sophmore Steven Votaw and seniors a chance to wear shorts during the hot August weather.



Senior Tony Puckett tries to get back into the routine of doing schoolwork, a difficult task to perform when your two-month, work-free vacation is still lingering upon your mind.

As part of a Co-Ed-Y clean-up project, Lorissa Daugherty and Laura Buckley pick up trash around the school.

The first week of school is a time to adjust to teaching at a new school for English teacher Carol White.

A Classic Experience —

Hitting the Books

The library was a popular place to be this year, partly because of term papers.

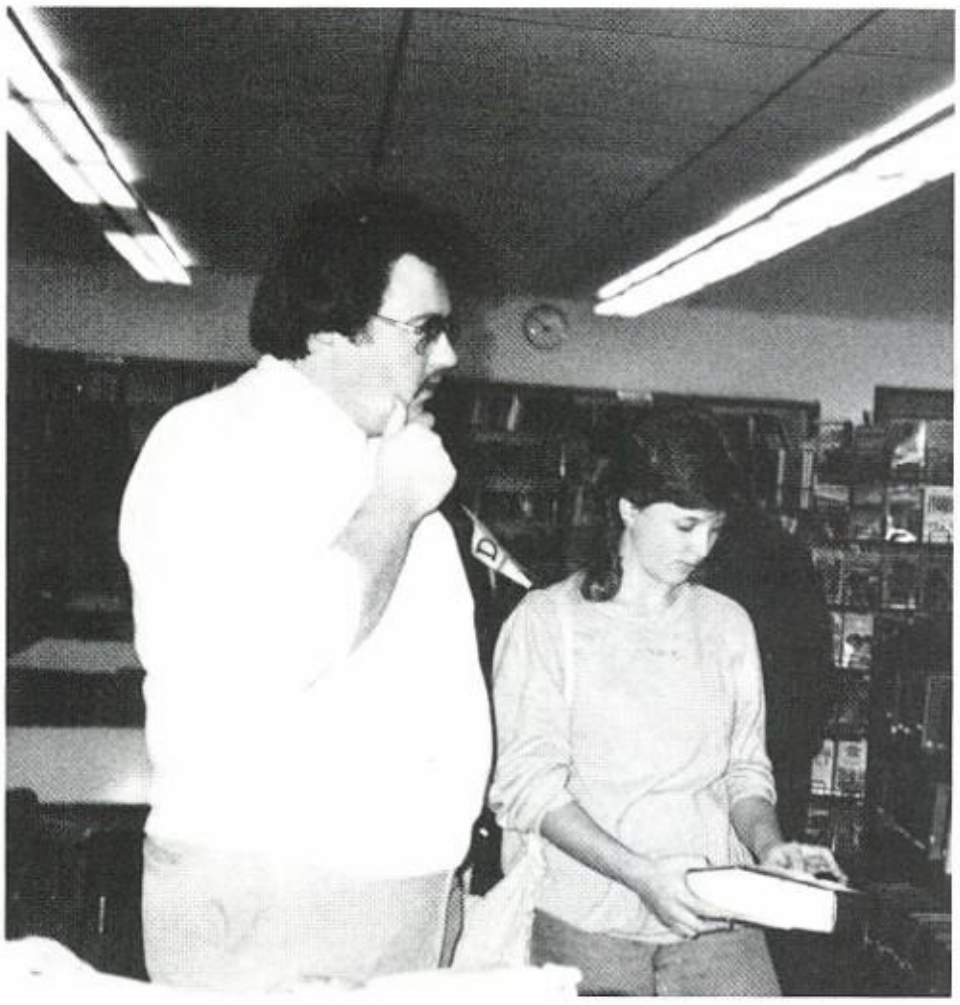
Term papers or research papers came in a variety of subjects, ranging from Charles Dickens' Great Expectations to different generals of the Civil War. It's those term papers that took up a great deal of the students' time.

"I've spent more time in the library this year than I have in my entire life," said junior Spencer Bruce.

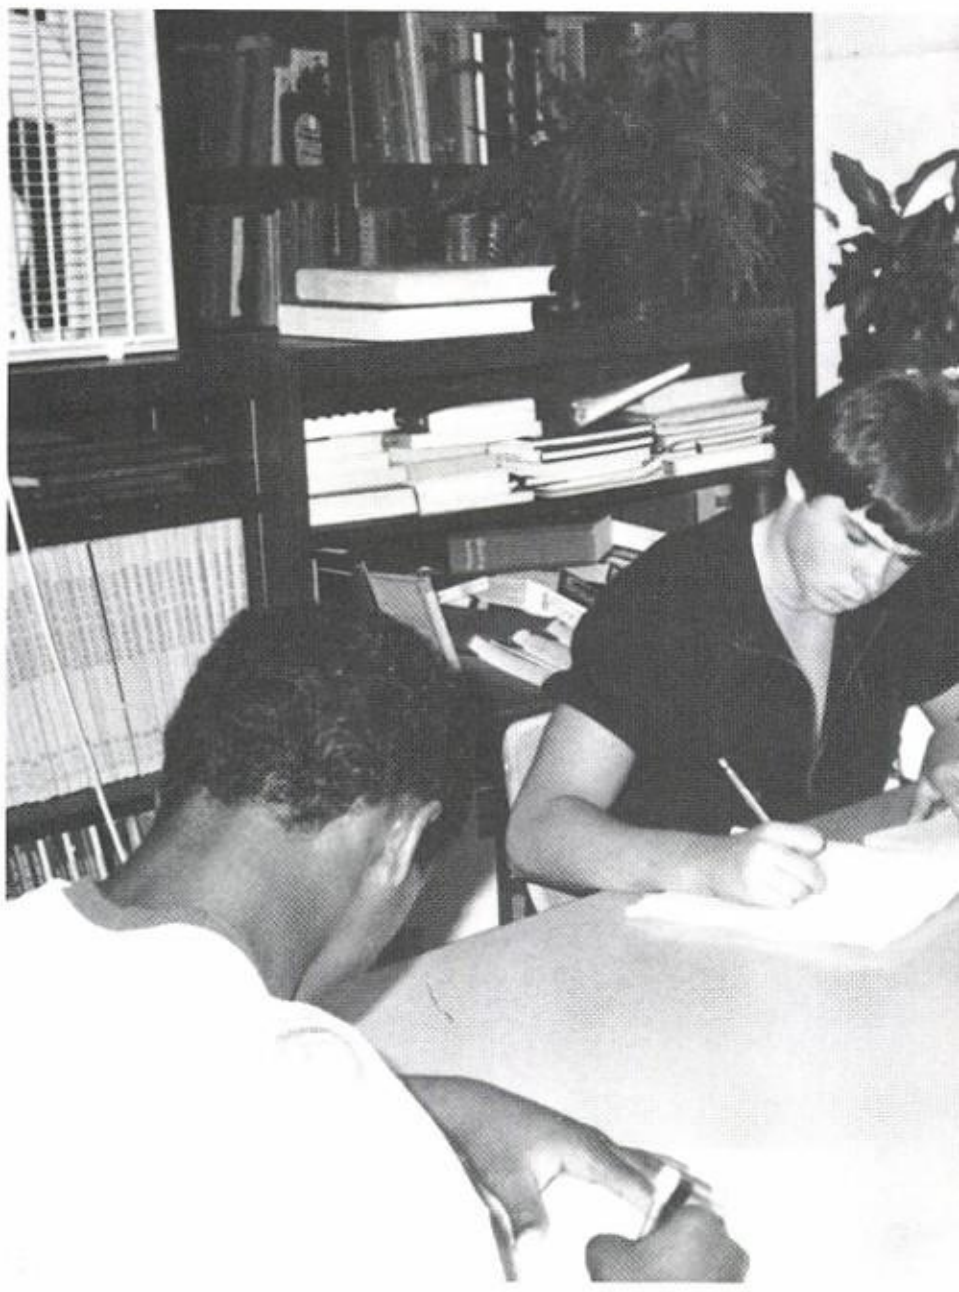
To make things a little easier on the students, if their English papers had something to do with history, they could use that paper for their history paper as well.

"Now that Mr. Watson and Mrs. White let us use the same papers," said junior Tonya Johnson, "I can get a lot more things done without having to worry about getting both of them done."

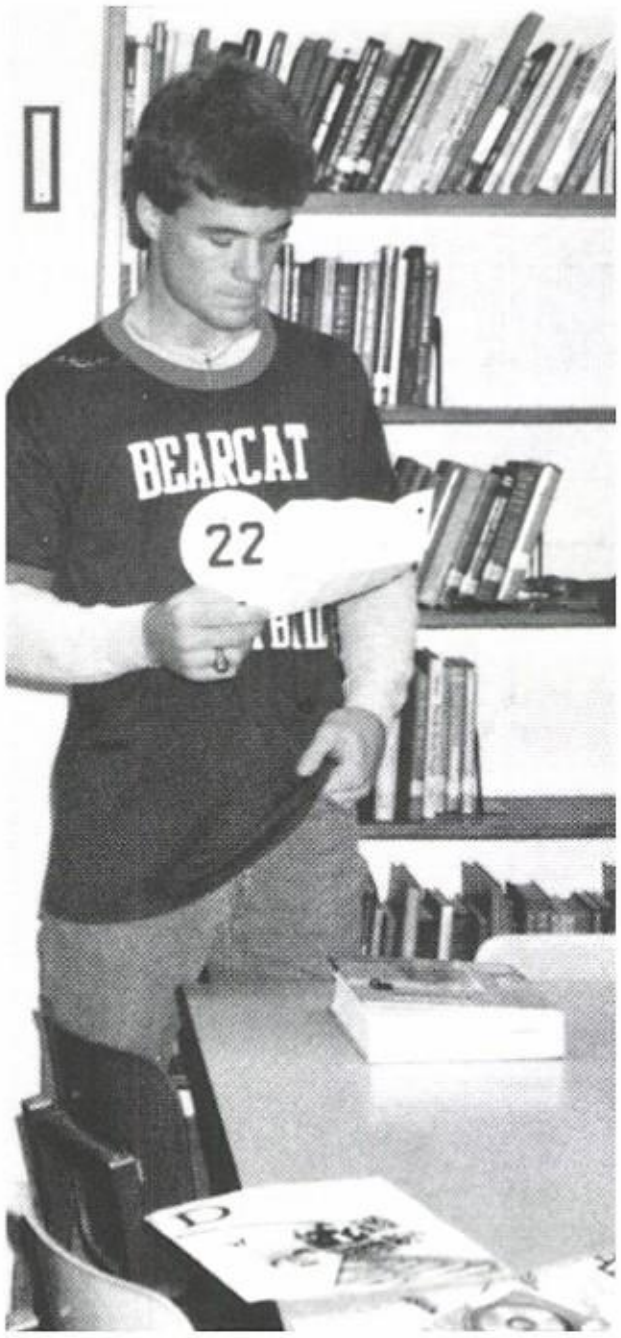
Working on her research paper for Biology II, senior Laura Wheeler uses every possible reference available.

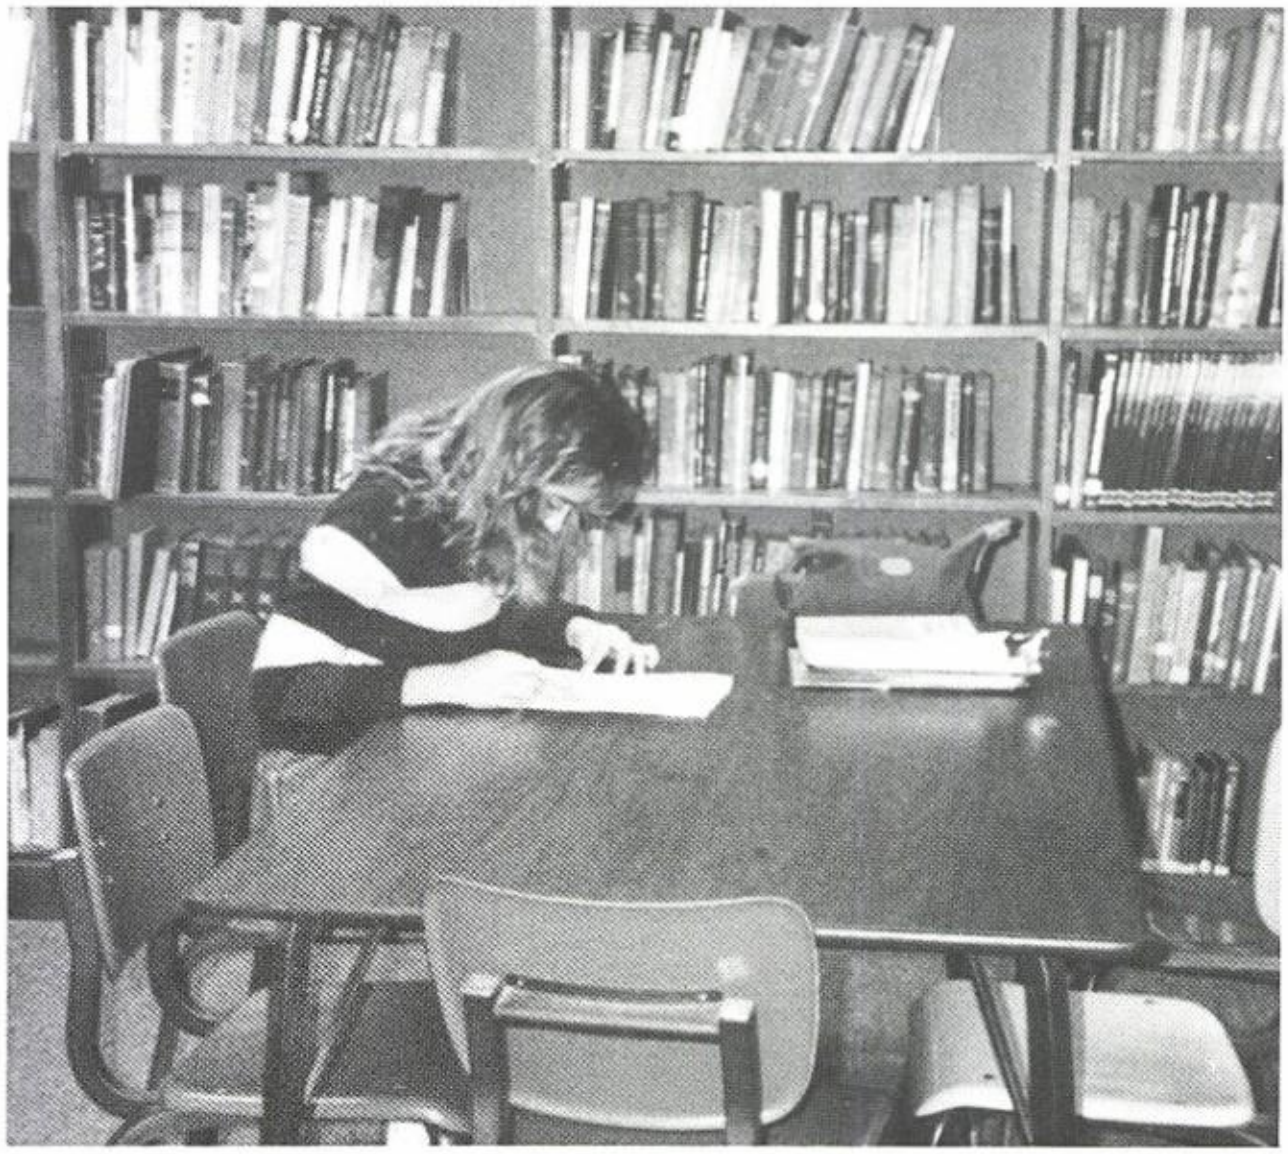


U.S. History teacher Mike Watson helps junior Stacy Geick find information on her paper about John Hunt Morgan.



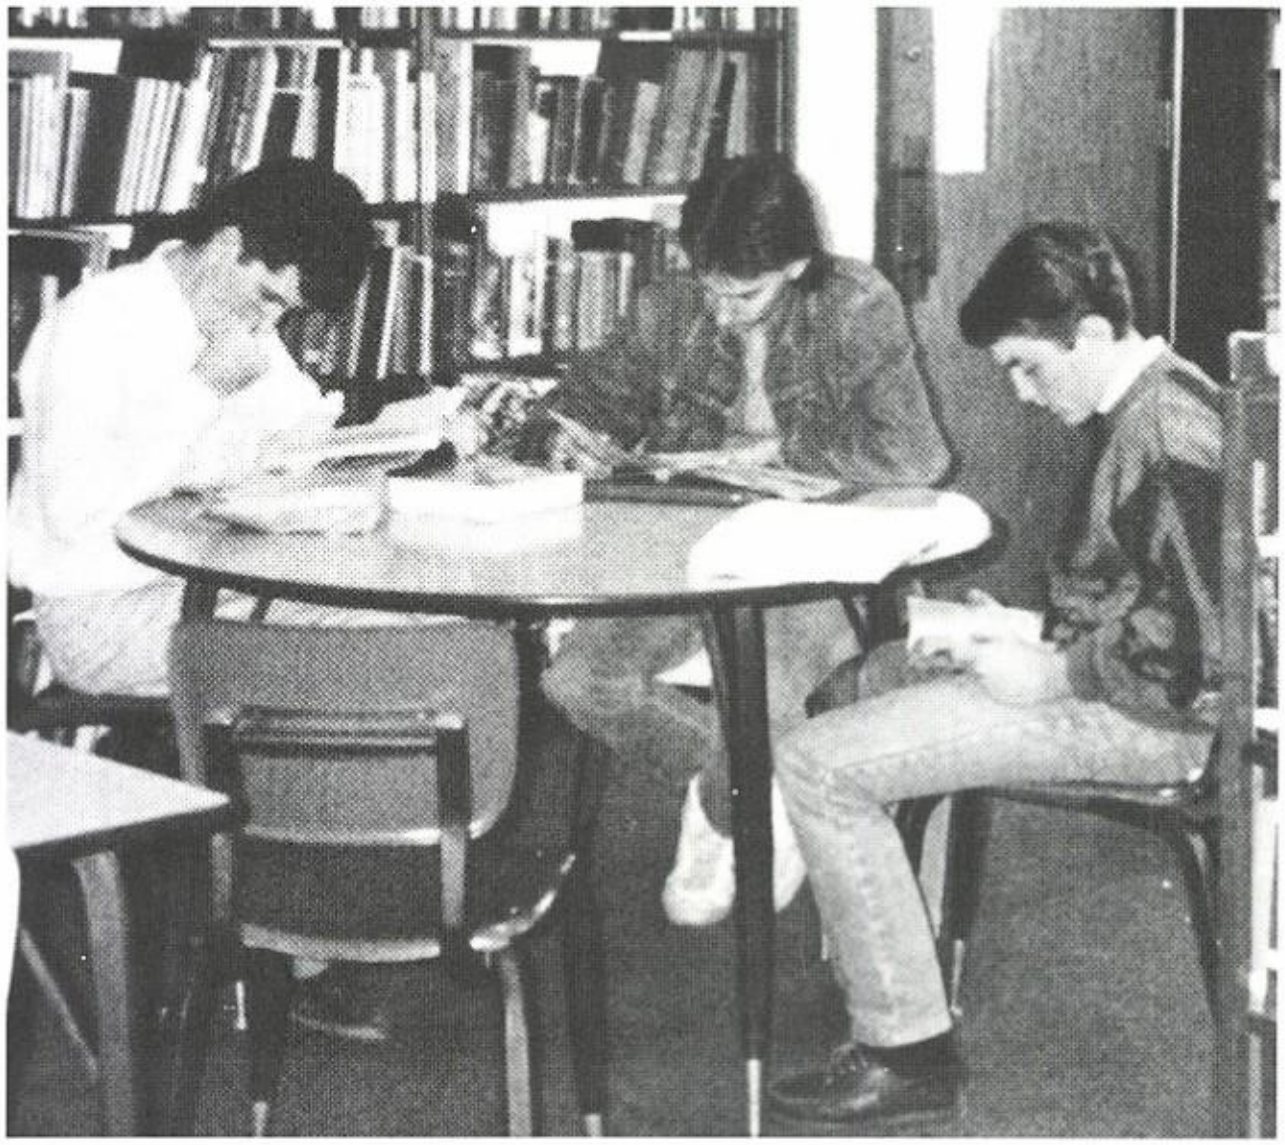
Juniors Randy Hudson, Mark Mitchell, and Anthony Carpenter work diligently on their term papers in Biology II.





Solitary isolation is something senior Teresa Combs likes when she's working on her Biology II term paper.

Waiting for the bell to ring, junior John Thomas takes the time to read over his notes for his English paper. Writing term papers was a new experience for John.



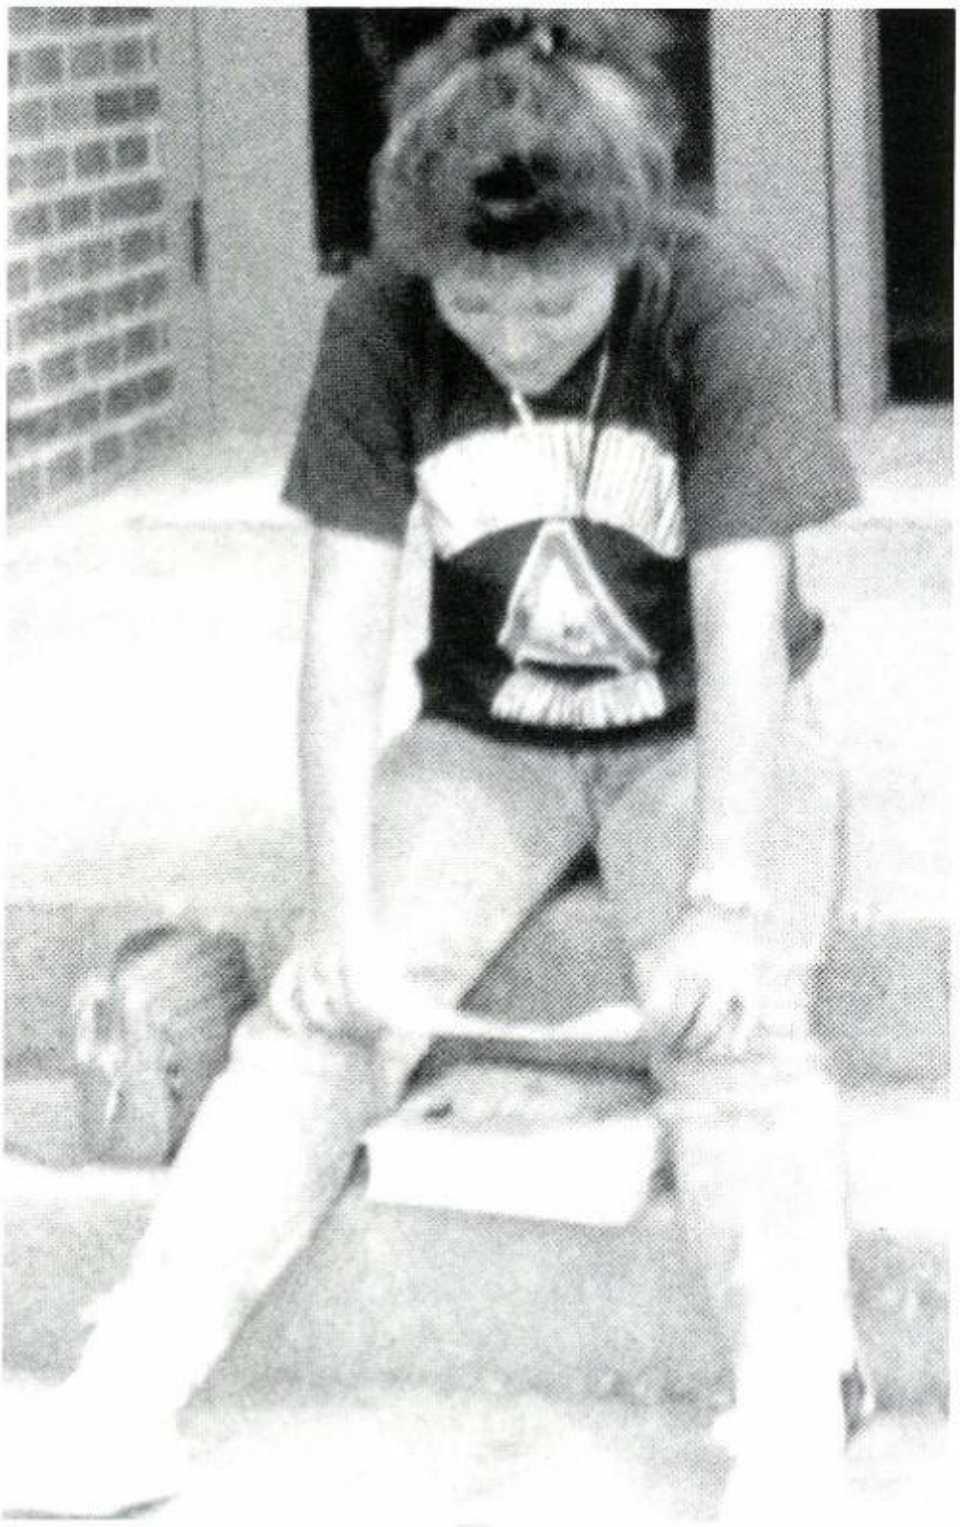
Juniors Nathan Sweet, Seth Hibbs, and P.D. Barnes look at material for their research papers in U.S. History. They also had papers due in Biology II and English.

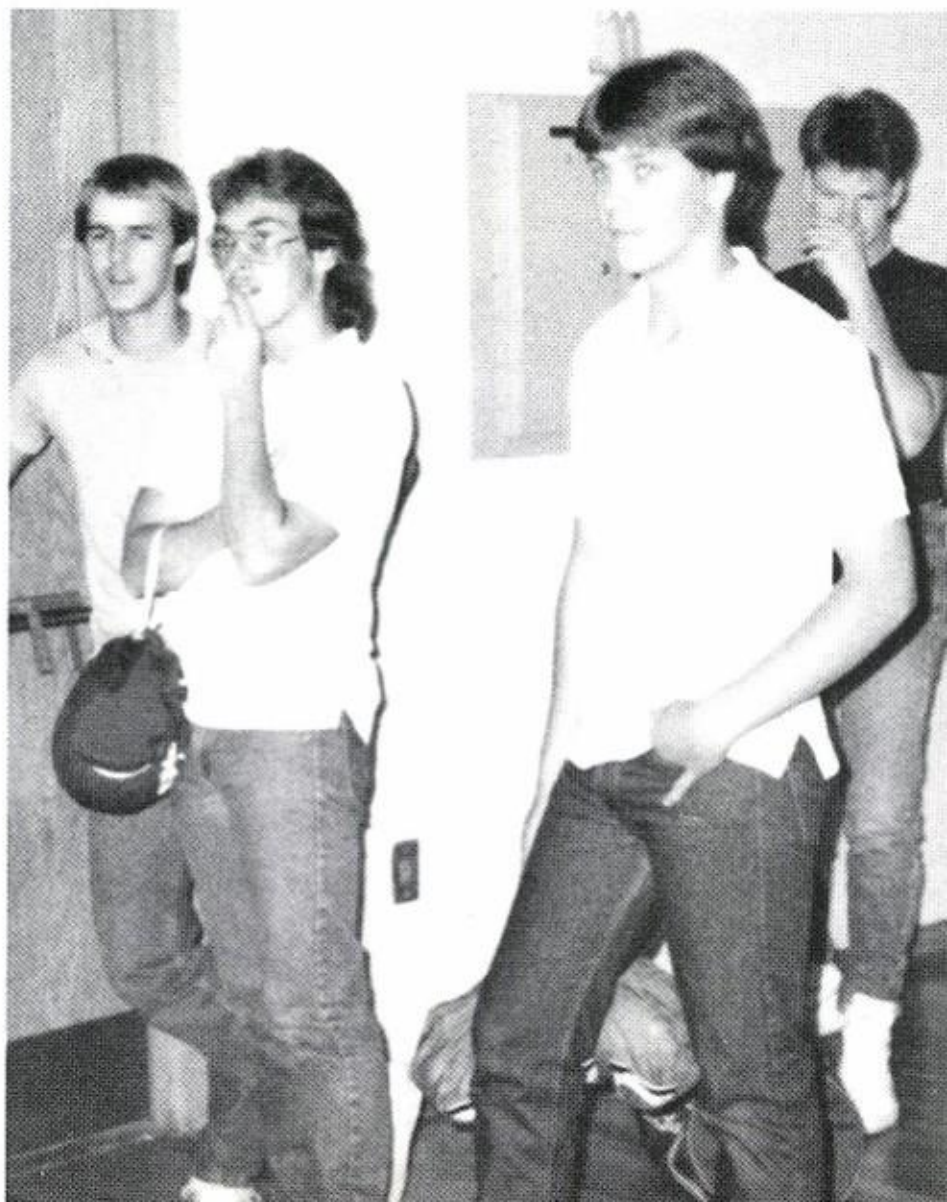
The Best Ways To Kill Time

The most popular way to kill time at ACHS is sleeping through class. "I sleep during study hall, history, and English," said junior Jeff Gaines.

Teachers at ACHS do not appreciate students who take advantage of their good nature. "I think it is rude," said Mrs. Paula Brewer, English teacher. "They are not only hurting themselves, but hurting the whole class."

"I run around the halls whenever I can," said junior Jody Smith. "It makes the day go by a whole lot faster." Everyday during classes kids can be seen roaming the halls (without their pink hall passes).



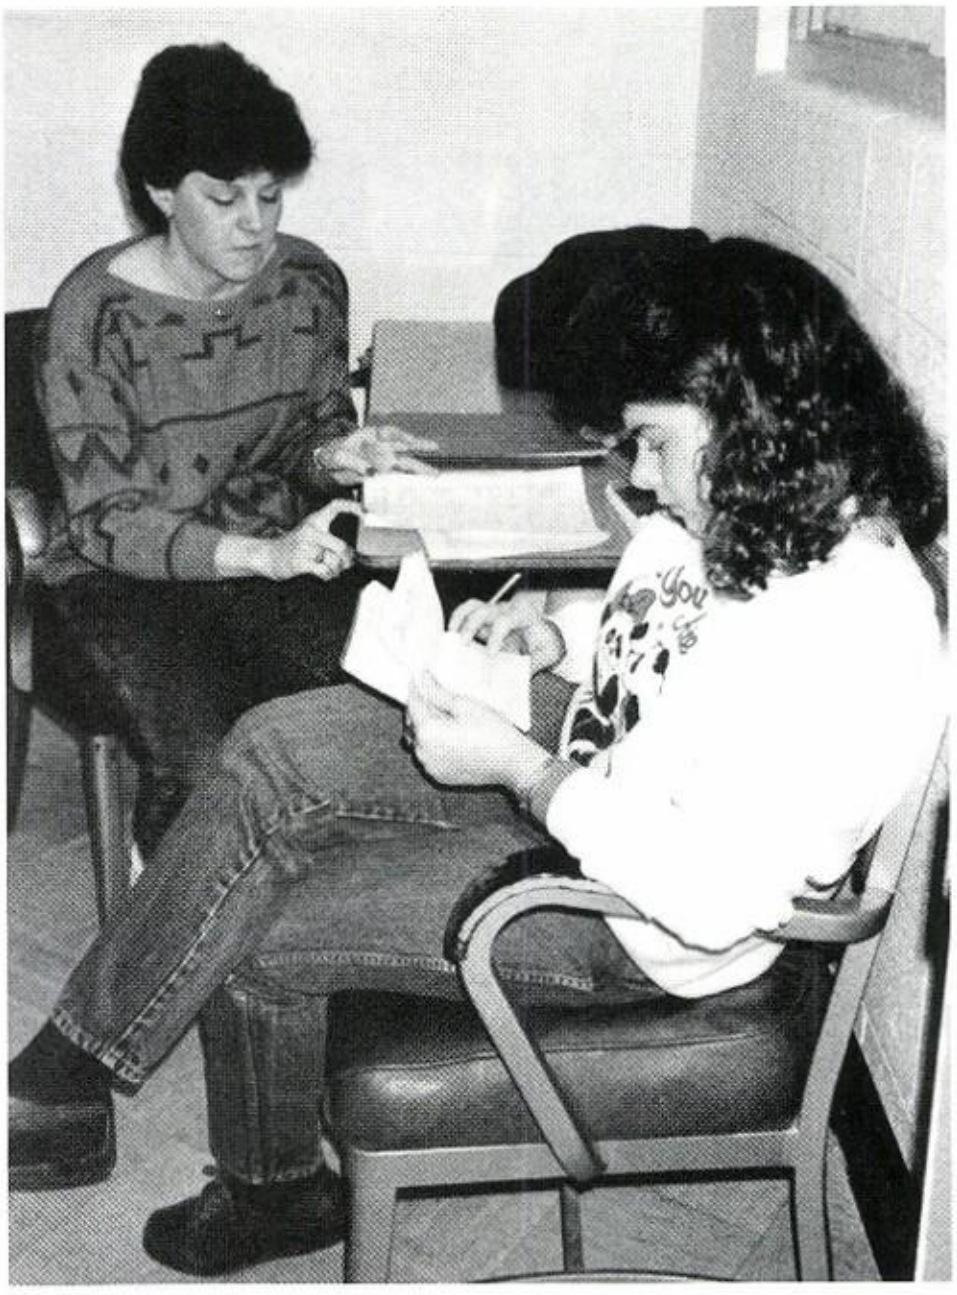


Her busy schedule required senior Meredith Hyatt to study any chance she got, including while sitting on the steps during lunch.

Tim Price, Vernon Bentley, Tim Moore, and Price Watkins wait for the bell to ring after Mr. Kays' Advanced P.E. class.

Waiting for the fifth period bell to ring, good friends juniors Alison Briscoe and Michelle Edwards wait in the lobby after working in the office.

Office workers have a lot of time to kill. Here seniors Lisa Gibson and Stacy Wells check to see how many days til graduation.



Lunch time is a perfect time for sophomores Alisha Howard and Kim Johnson to do some leisurely activities, including catching up on the day's news.

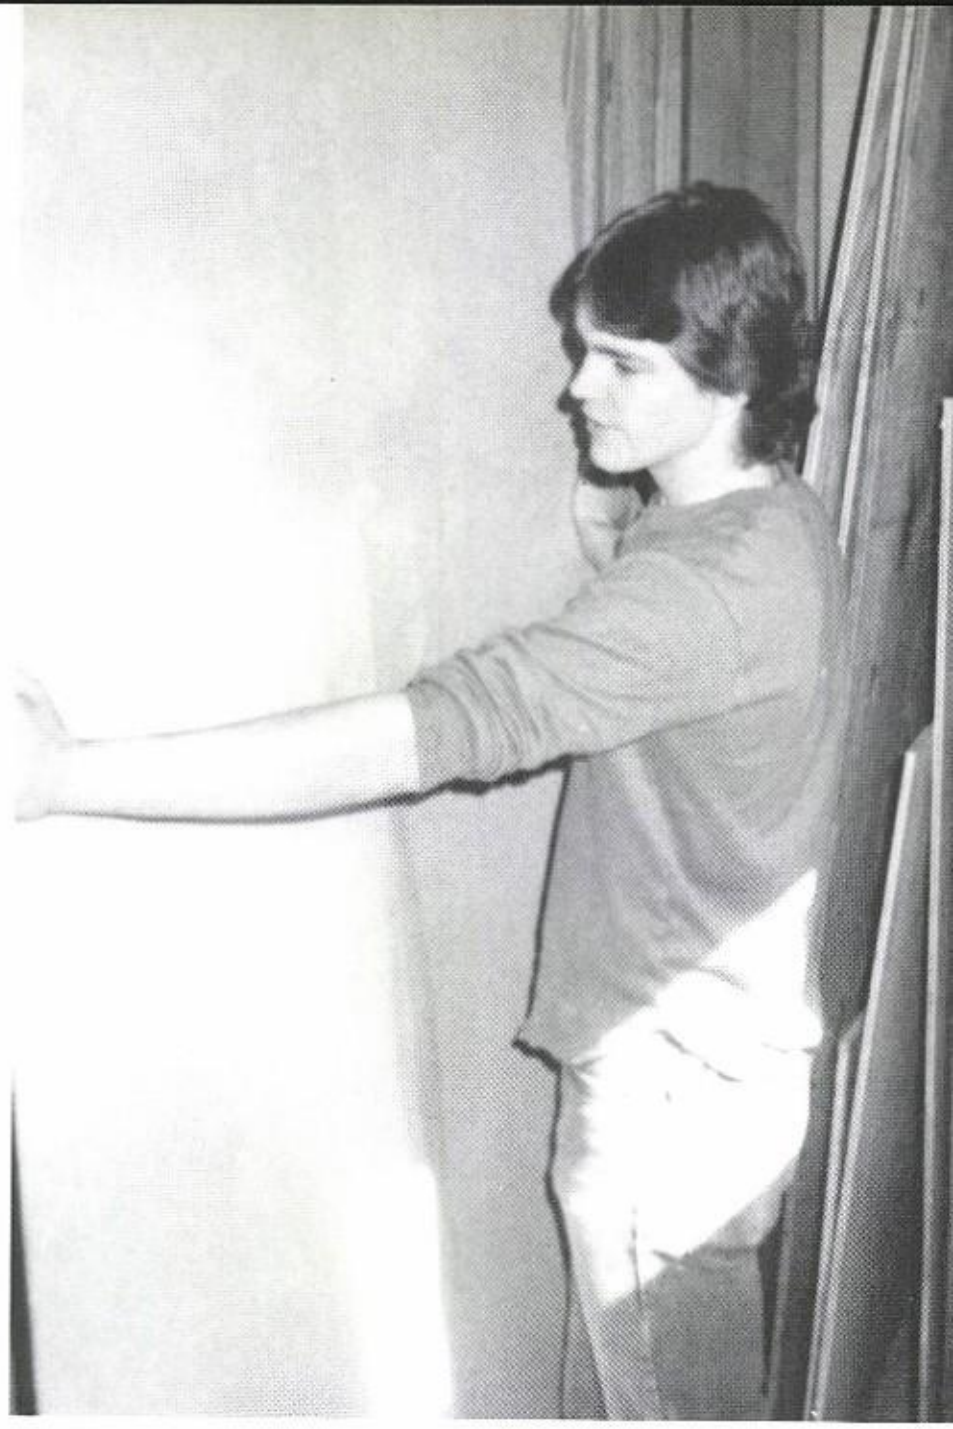
Pursuing his favorite hobby, getting out of class, senior Jon Sutton rests a few moments before returning to class.

Vocational School . . .

Despite the long bus trip to and from Harrodsburg, many juniors and seniors chose vocational school for their first three classes of the day.

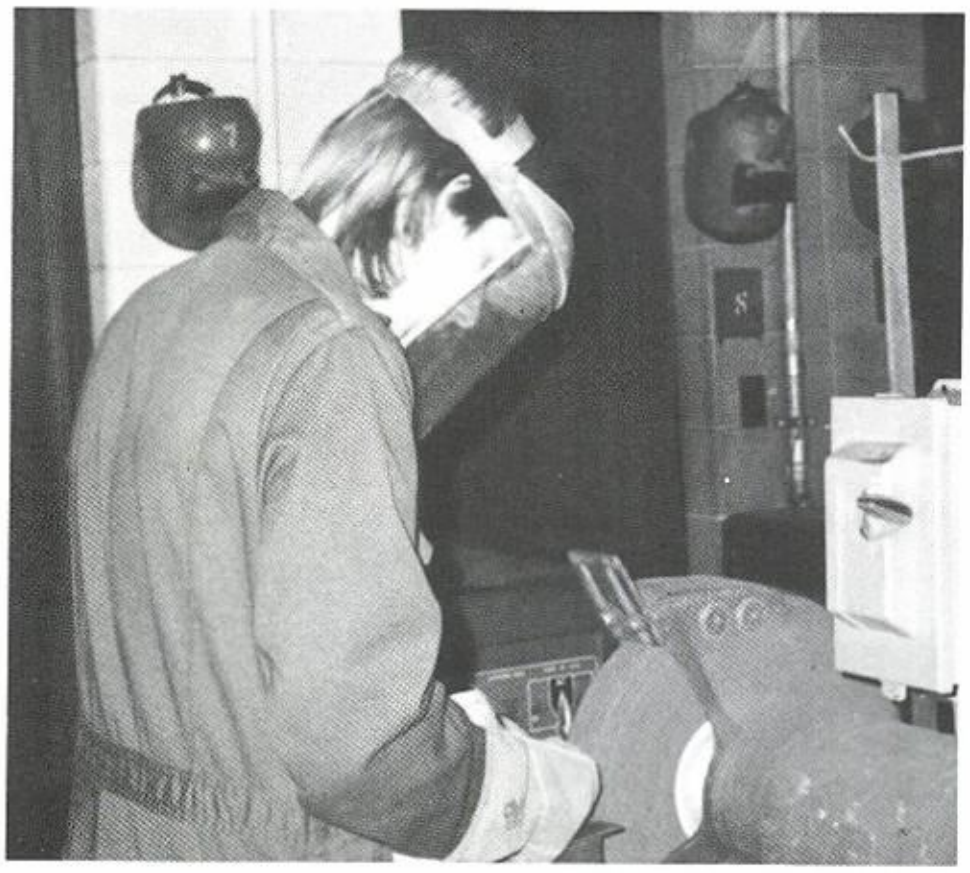
"I took vocational school to learn a trade," said senior electrician Rusty Sayre. "I have learned a lot and I'm going to study radio and T.V. repair after I graduate."

Vocational school offers a chance to learn a trade and gives a change of pace from the same everyday blandness of school.



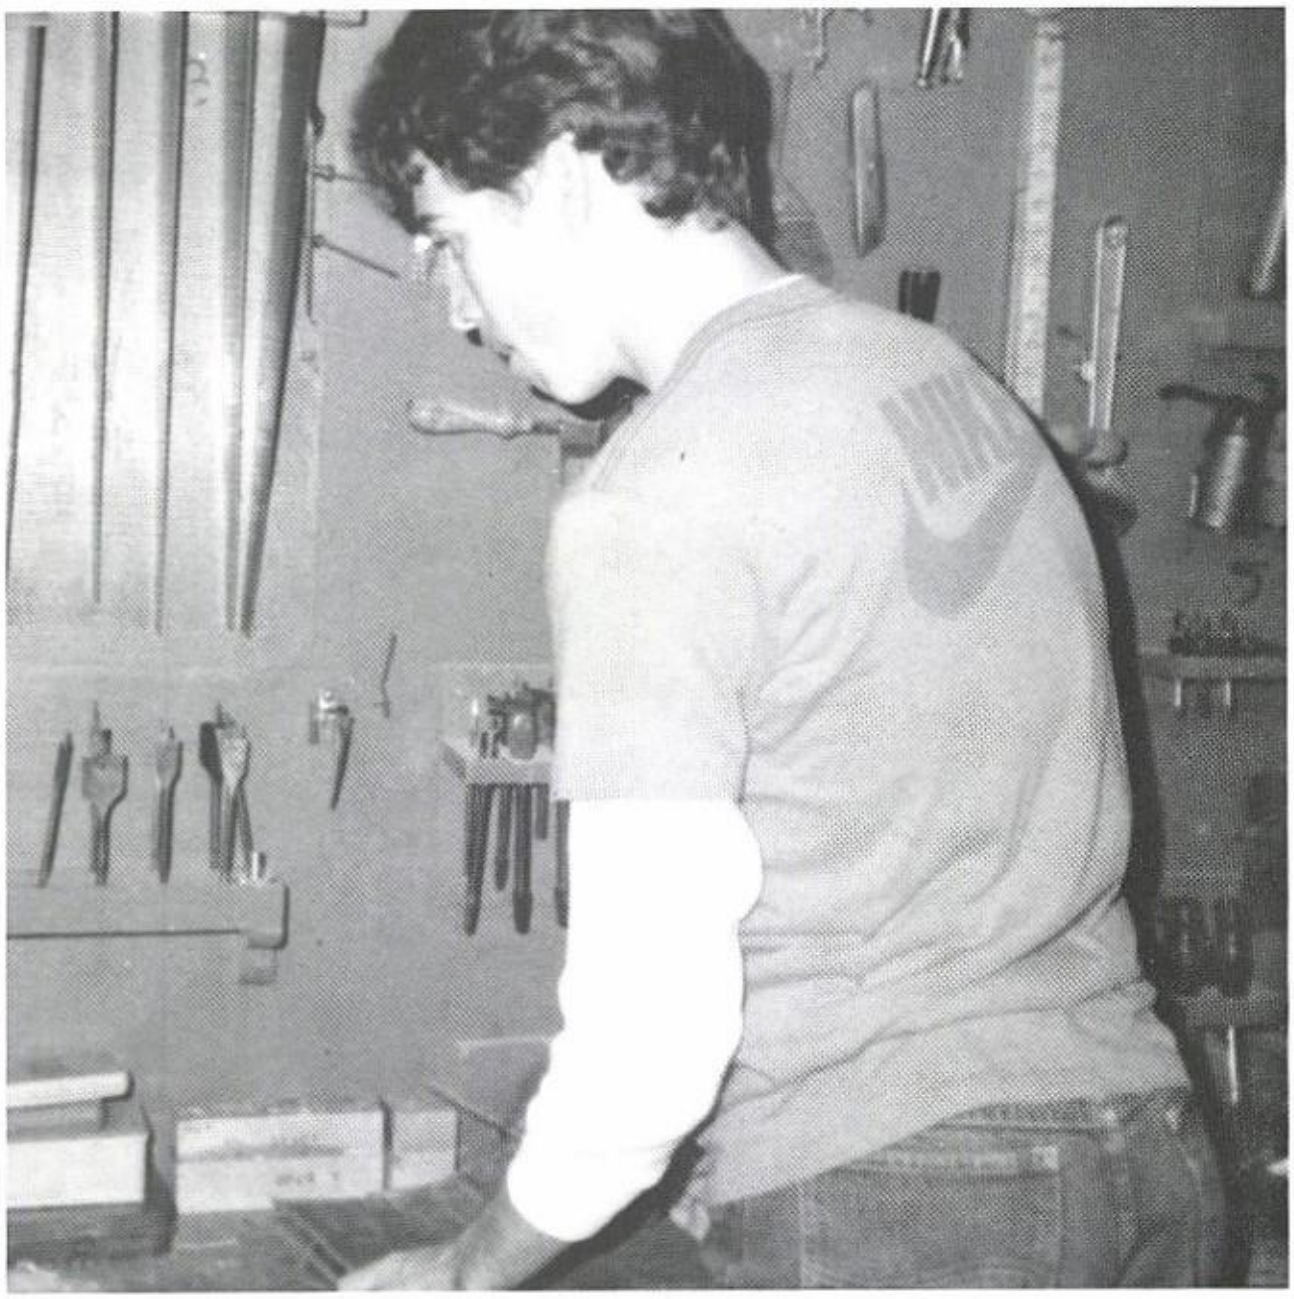
Examining a piece of plywood, senior David Gaines chooses one without flaws for carpentry class.

Smoothing a piece of metal, junior Mike Smith concentrates on his work for welding class.



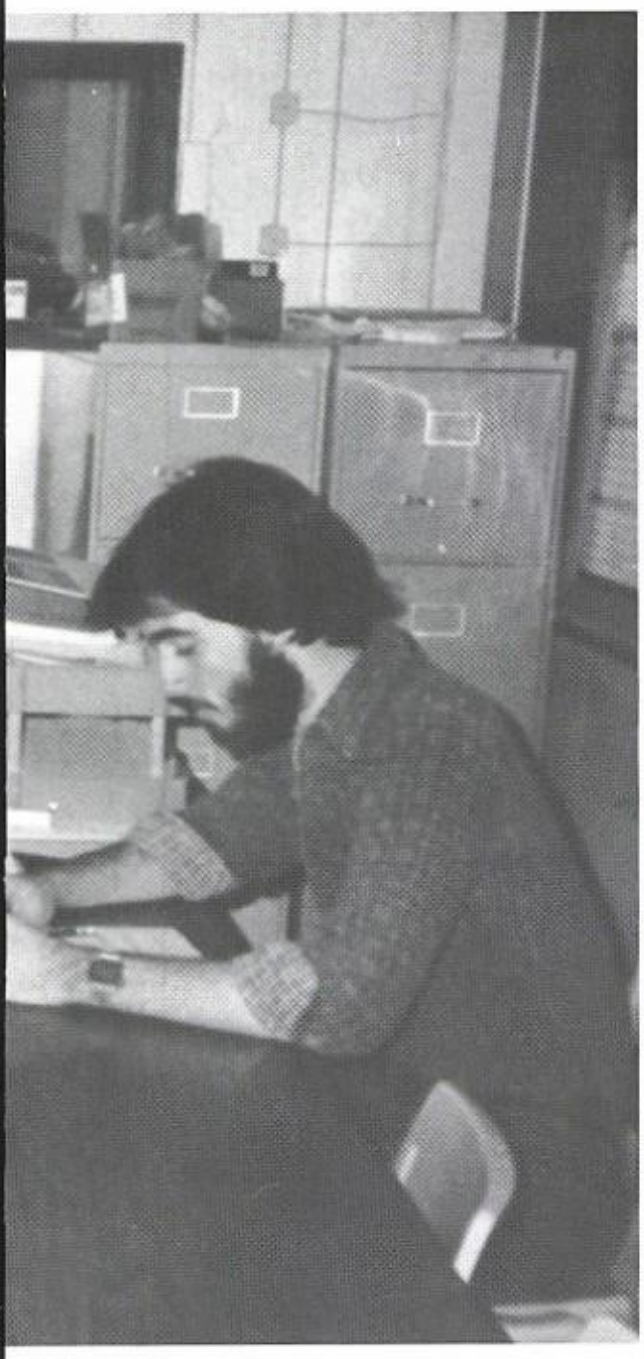
Inputing data on the computer, senior Paula Toll concentrates on the day's assignment.

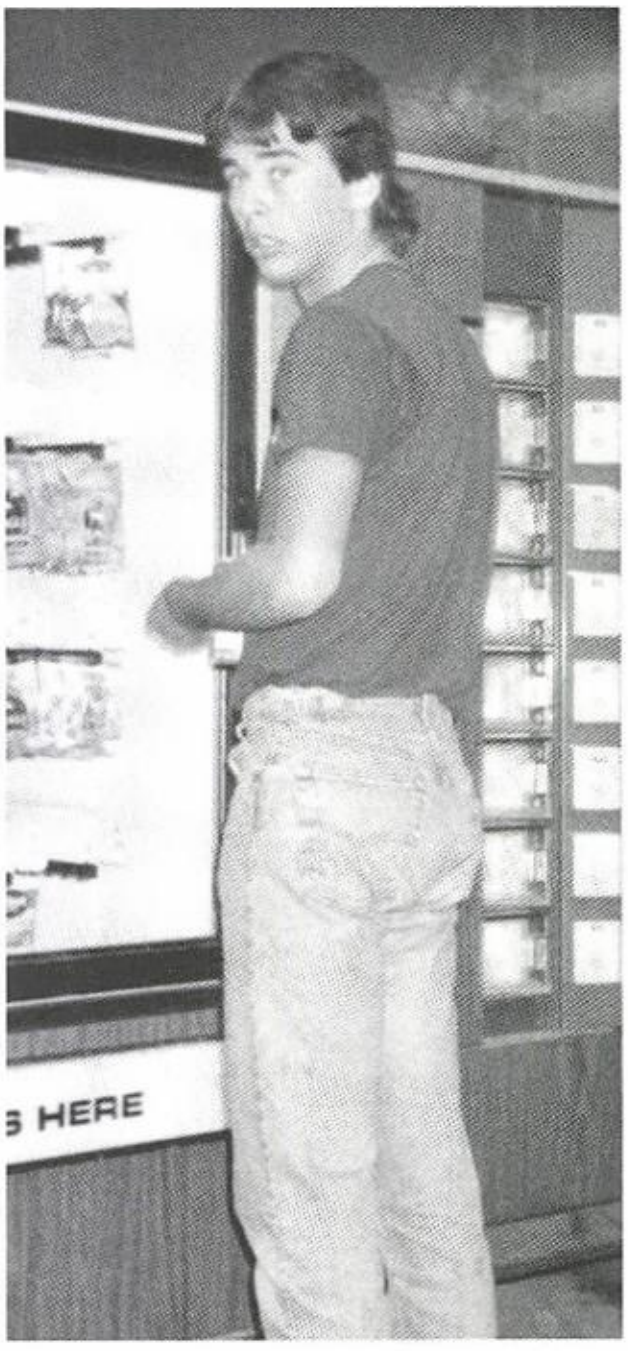
At vocational school, seniors Richard Cunningham and Kevin Dean fill out applications for summer jobs.



Looking carefully over his choice of tools in carpentry class, senior Brian Jones tries to decide which is best fitted for his task.

Junior Jamey Vaughn practices his skill olympics for VICA by wiring a wall.

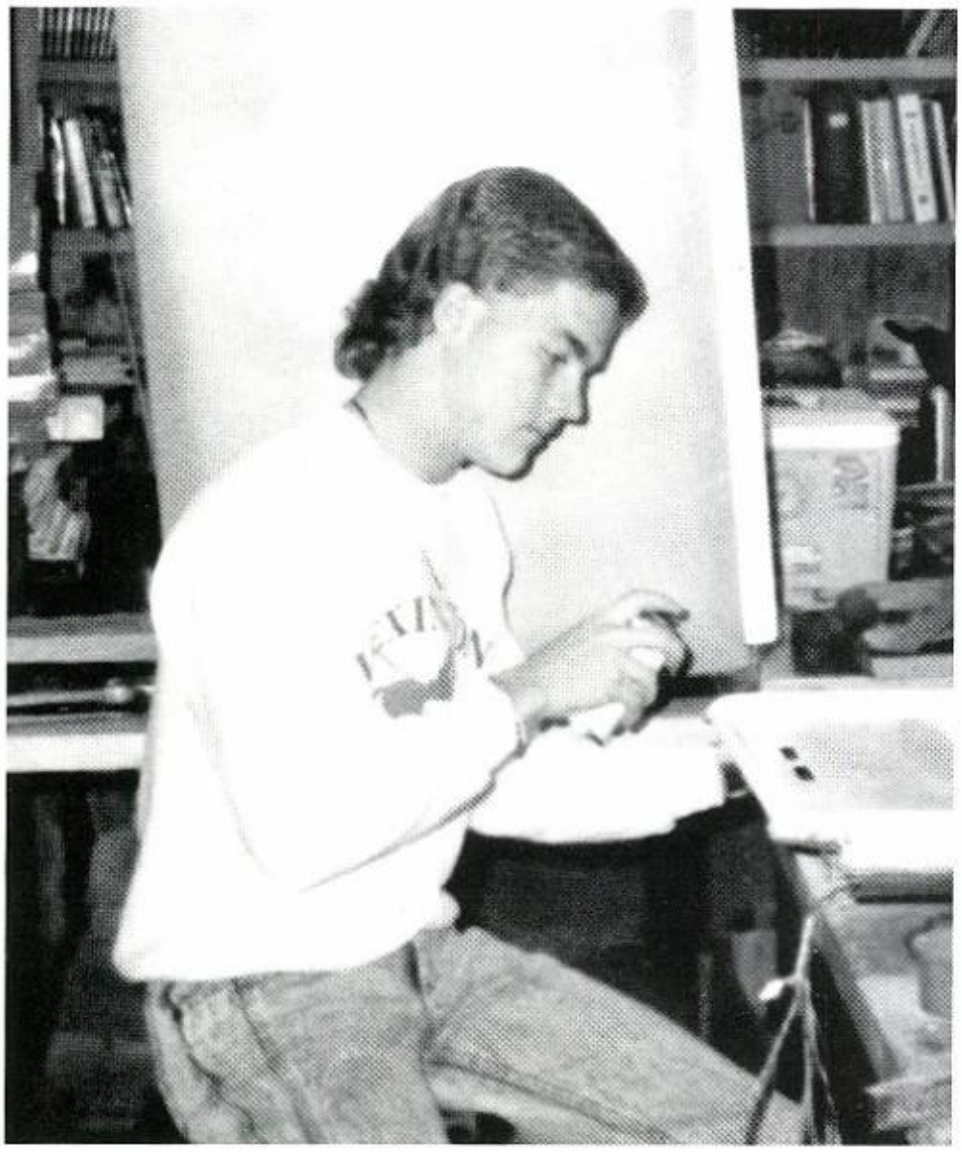




Senior Melissa Cubert works vigorously to complete her typing assignment.

During the ten minute break at vocational school, junior Bill Crawford decides to get a snack to calm his stomach.

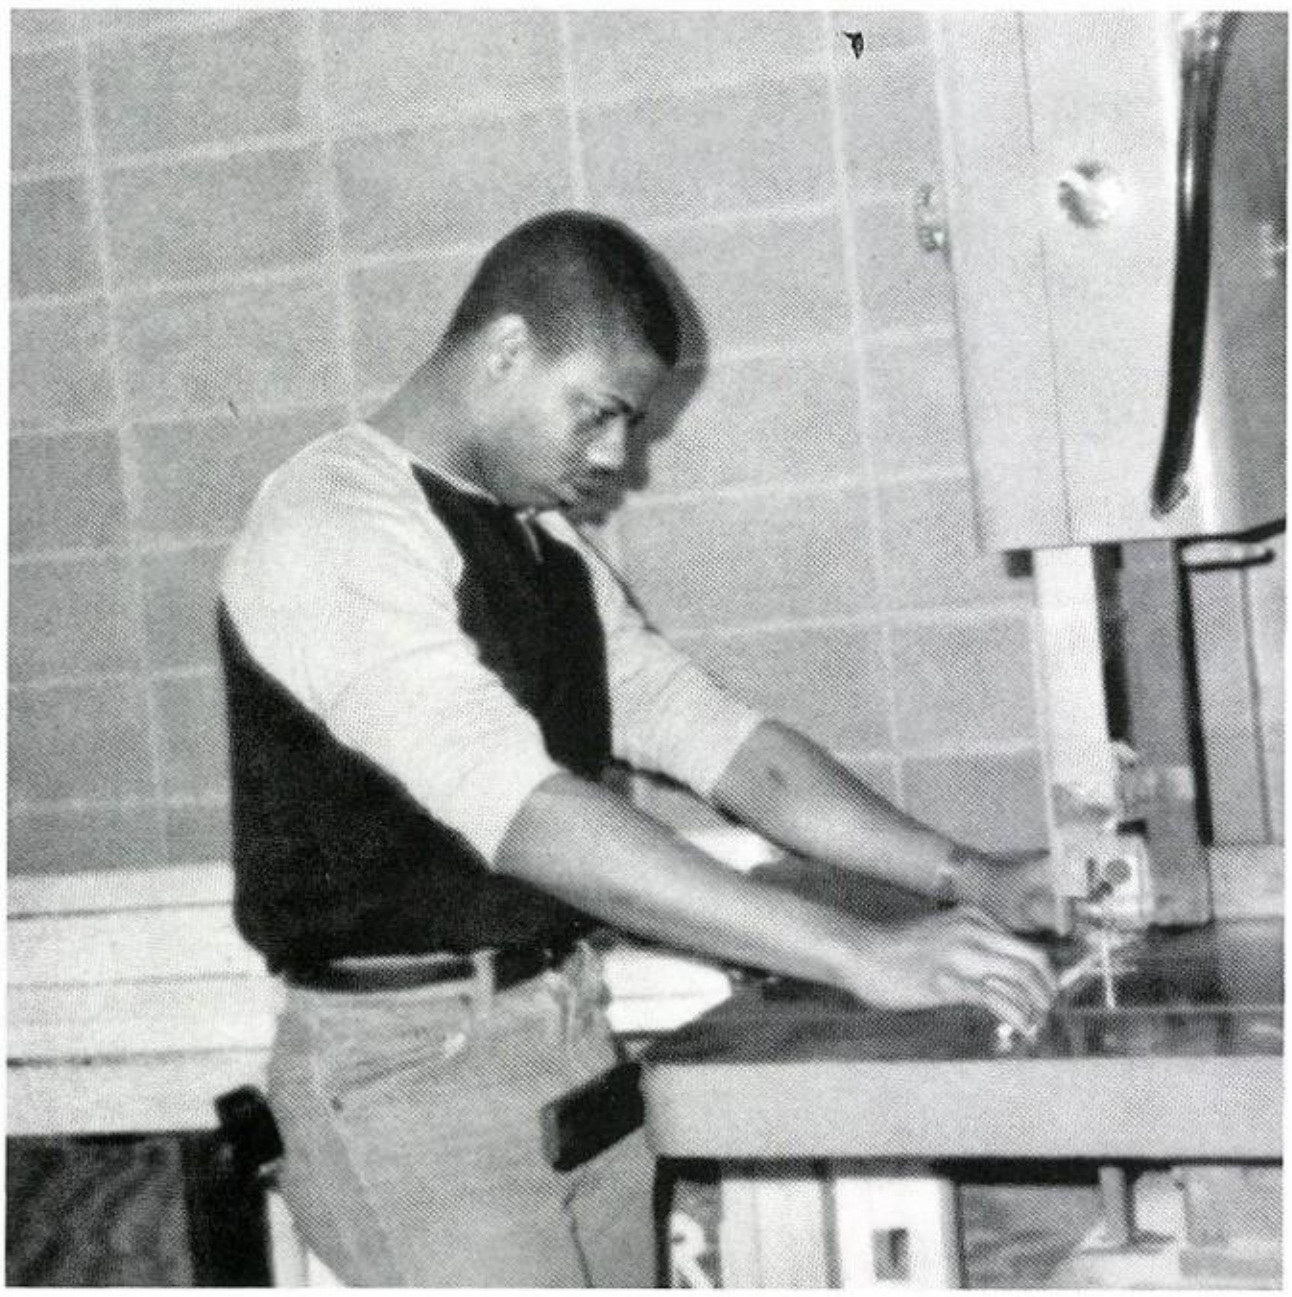
. . . Teaches a Trade



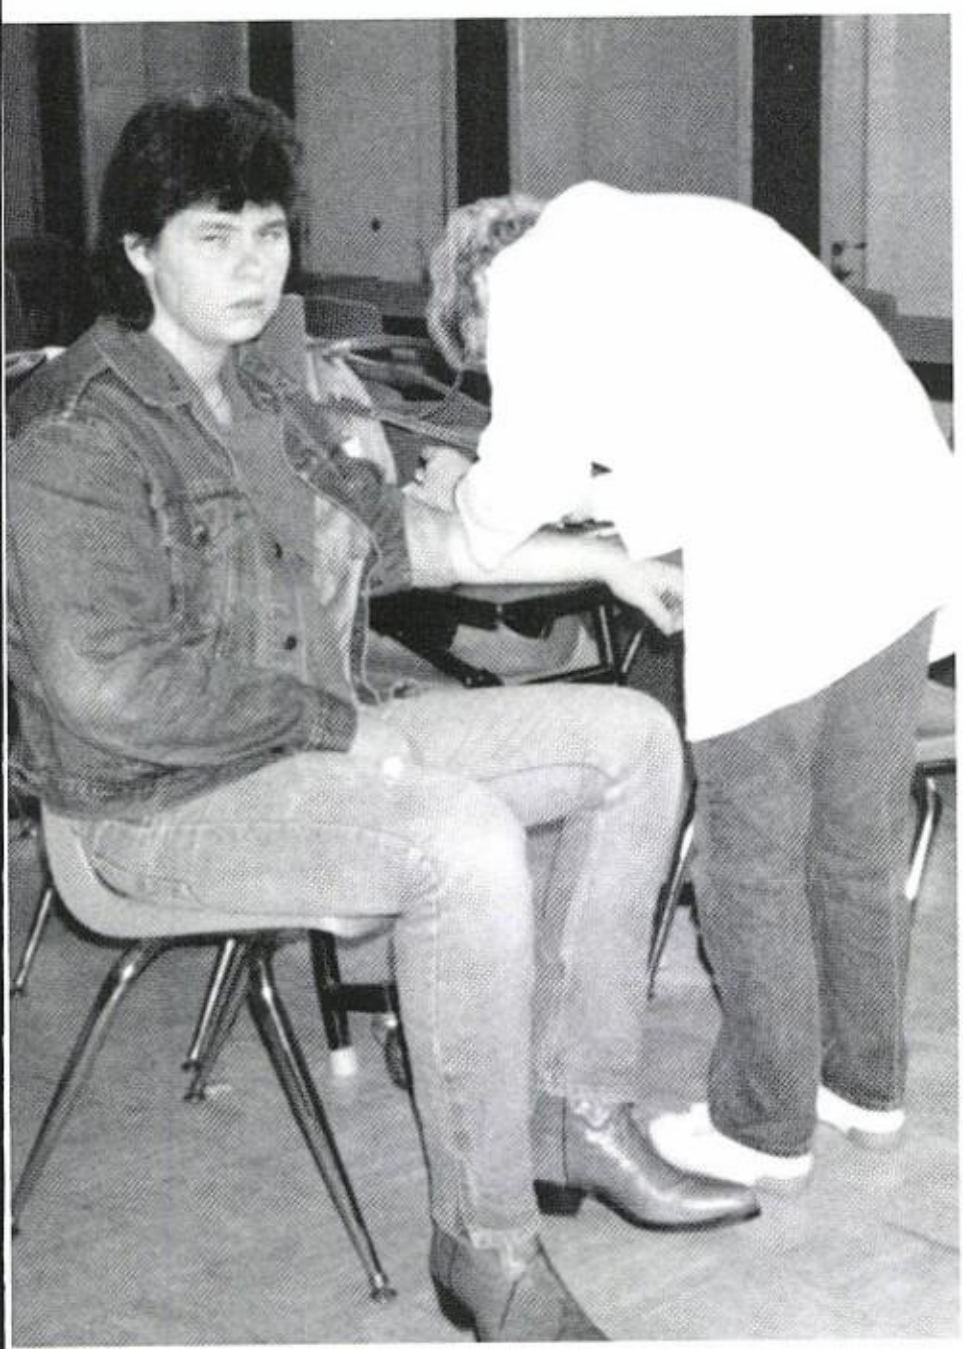
Senior Shane Gammon works to complete an electricity worksheet with a vocational student from Harrodsburg.

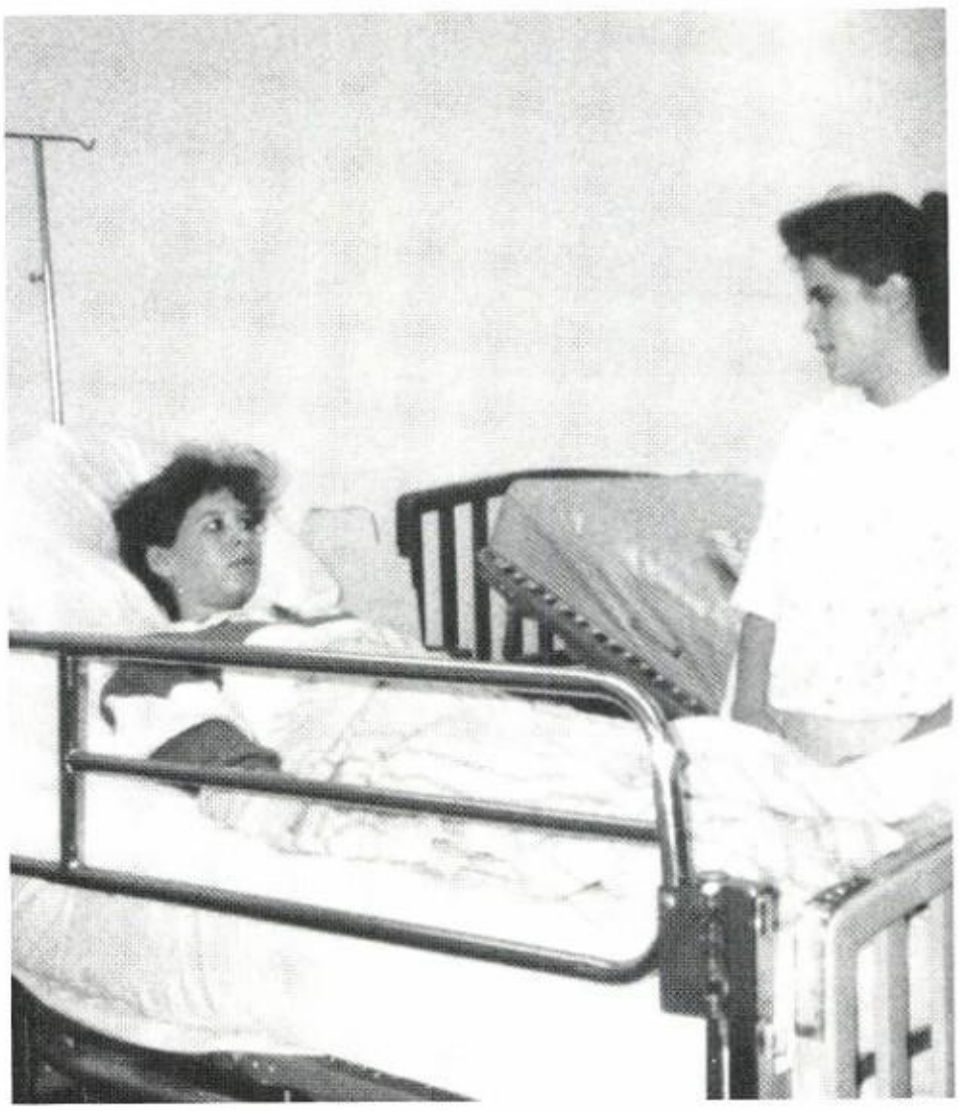
After completely rewiring a dishwasher in electricity class, senior Blaine Peach repaints the dishwasher door.

In carpentry class, junior William McKee cuts a dowel rod with a band saw.



Junior Scott Clark works to rebuild an engine for an auto mechanics assignment.

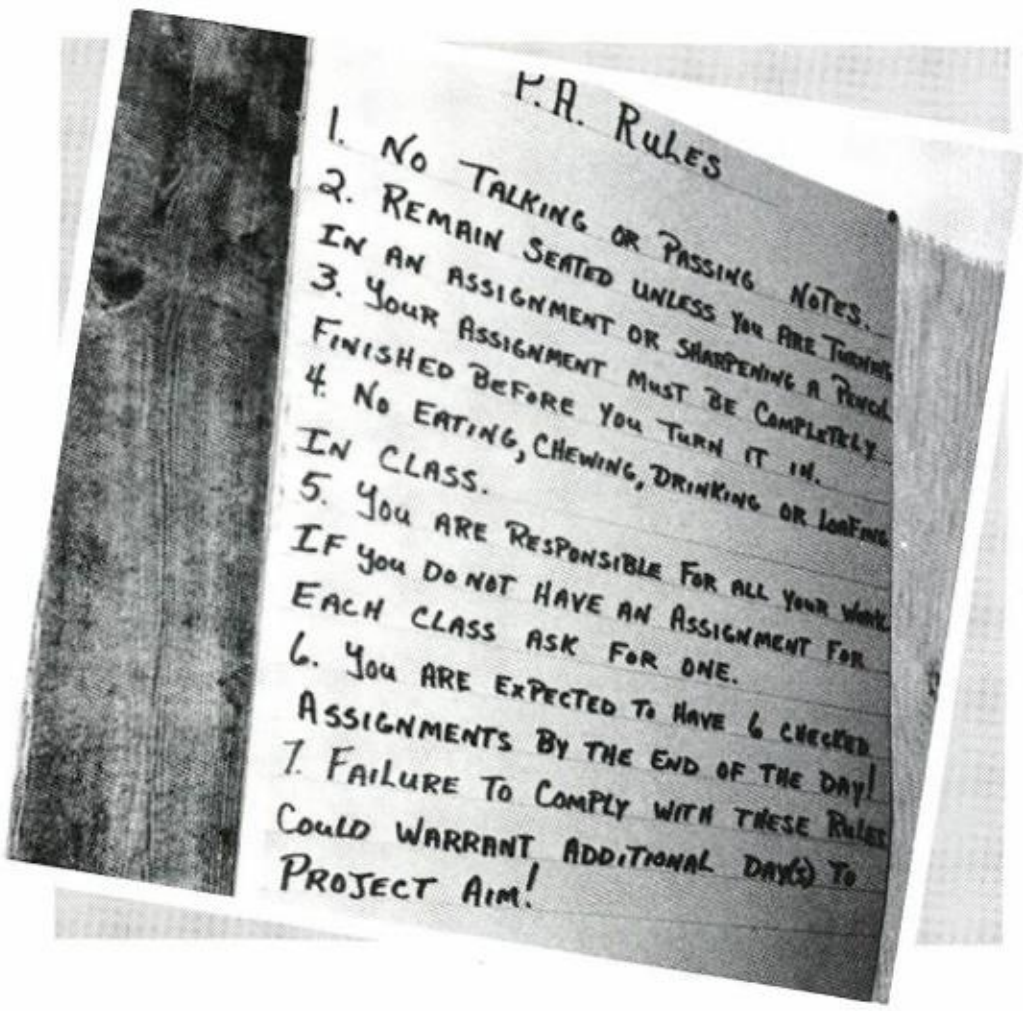




Senior Marie Crawford practices her hospital technique in health careers class as senior Jennifer Hopper fakes an illness.

Senior Greg Wood gets his blood pressure taken by senior Renee Montgomery as part of a health careers project.

Putting the skills he's learned to work, senior Stan Hardin installs brakes on a car in auto mechanics.



P.A. Rules
1. No Talking or Passing Notes.
2. Remain Seated unless You Are Turning In An Assignment or Sharpening a Pencil.
3. Your Assignment Must Be Completely Finished Before You Turn It In.
4. No Eating, Chewing, Drinking or Loafing In Class.
5. You Are Responsible For all Your Work. If You Do Not Have An Assignment For Each Class Ask For One.
6. You Are Expected To Have 6 Checked Assignments By The End Of The Day!
7. Failure To Comply With These Rules Could Warrant Additional Day(s) To Project Aim!

If you're ever caught skipping class or school, the punishment is Project Aim. If you plan to skip, it is probably wise to familiarize yourself with the rules, just in case.

PROJECT AIM: In-School Suspension

An innovative approach to a classic problem, PROJECT AIM provided a solution to the problem of what to do with students who skipped school.

Students sent to AIM (Alternative Instructional Management System) were excluded from the rest of the student body for up to 10 days, usually three days, in a room with no windows, the old weight room behind the Industrial Art room. They were kept busy the entire time working on assignments their teachers had sent.

They received help from Coach Sam Harp, AIM supervisor, if needed. "Most students didn't require help from me," said Coach Harp, "but I helped them the best I could. They had to work a solid three days. There was no free time."

AIM enabled the students to stay in school and keep up with their work. According to Assistant Principal Steve Barriger, 140 of the 185 students suspended this year went to AIM. "A plus for the program," he said, "was that it kept the students off the streets and allowed them to get credit for their work."

Repeat offenders found the program especially rough. "I had to write the entire Constitution of the United States the second time I went," said sophomore Destry Sharp. "I didn't like it too well."

Coach Harp had students copy the Constitution because "repeaters had infringed on other people's rights," he said. "Maybe if they learned more about rights, they might be less apt to come out there."

SURVIVALIST'S GUIDE TO SKIPPING SCHOOL

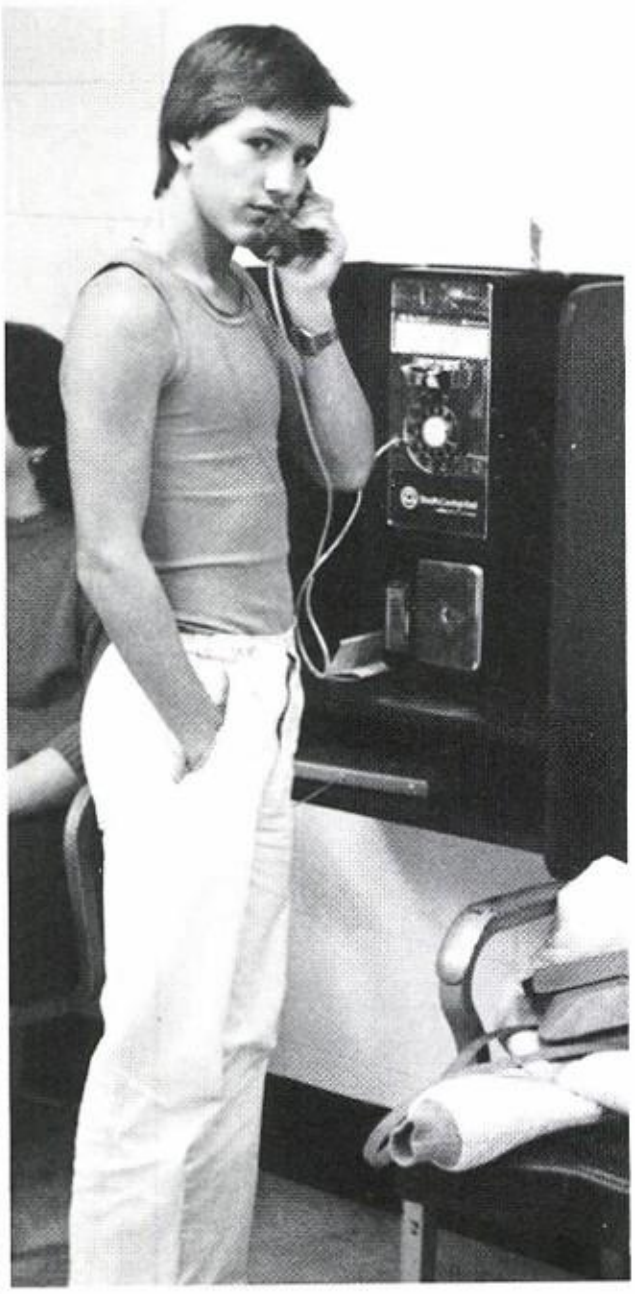
TOOLS NEEDED:

1. A car or some other means of transportation
2. A fake excuse note (NOTE: A real note may be substituted if you have a cool mother)
3. A phone (to call home if you don't have a note)
4. A really good, believable cough

EXCUSES TO GET YOU OUT OF CLASS

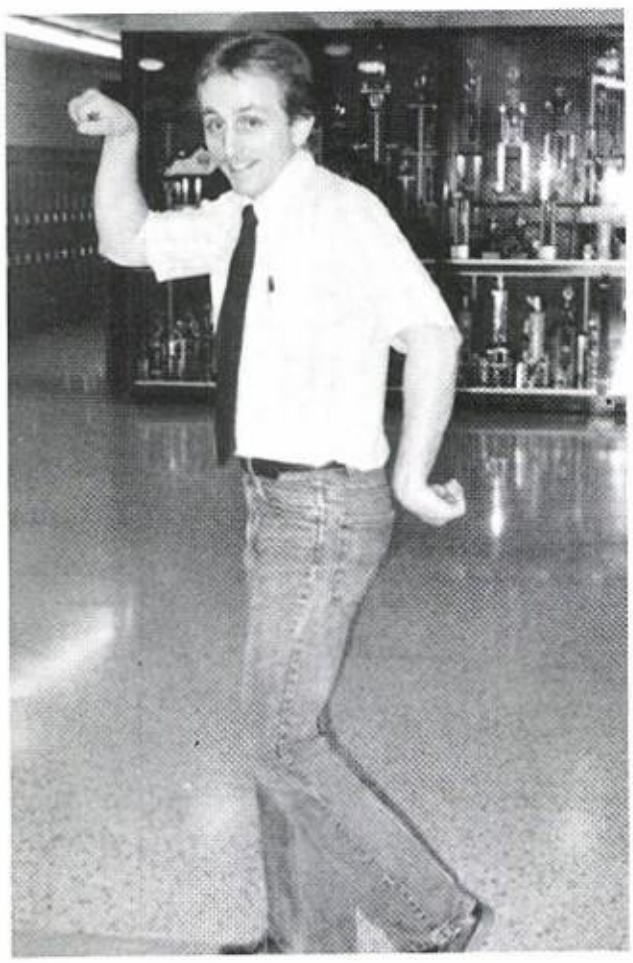
1. "I have to use the phone."
2. "I have to use the bathroom."
3. "I left my homework to my locker."
4. "I left the lights on in my car."
5. "I'm needed in the office."
6. "I'm sick."

Sam Harp attempts to do some typing while also trying to keep an eye on his Project Aim students.



Sophomore Jon Durr takes a break from scholwork to use the telephone. Talking on the phone can become a real time-consumer.

Industrial Arts teacher Greg Owens tries to forget his classes the way they try to forget him, by fooling around in the halls.



THINGS TO DO WHILE SKIPPING

1. Catch up on your sleep
2. Cruise town for a while
3. Watch T.V. or listen to your favorite music
4. Go eat lunch somewhere
5. Go to a mall or shopping center
6. Visit someone else who is skipping .

Date

My child has my permission to check out of school early

Name: _____

During class, the halls are usually deserted. Seniors Christy Giles and Ruthie Trent take advantage of the situation to go to their locker.

WARNING: The consequence of skipping is Project Aim, an in-school suspension, so don't get caught!

Speakers Enrich Us

Giving speeches ranging from hypnotism to drug abuse, guest speakers came to Anderson this year to talk to students.

Dr. Donald Kahl, a professional health hypnotist, visited the psychology classes to show students what hypnotism was like. Students even found themselves being balanced between two chairs.

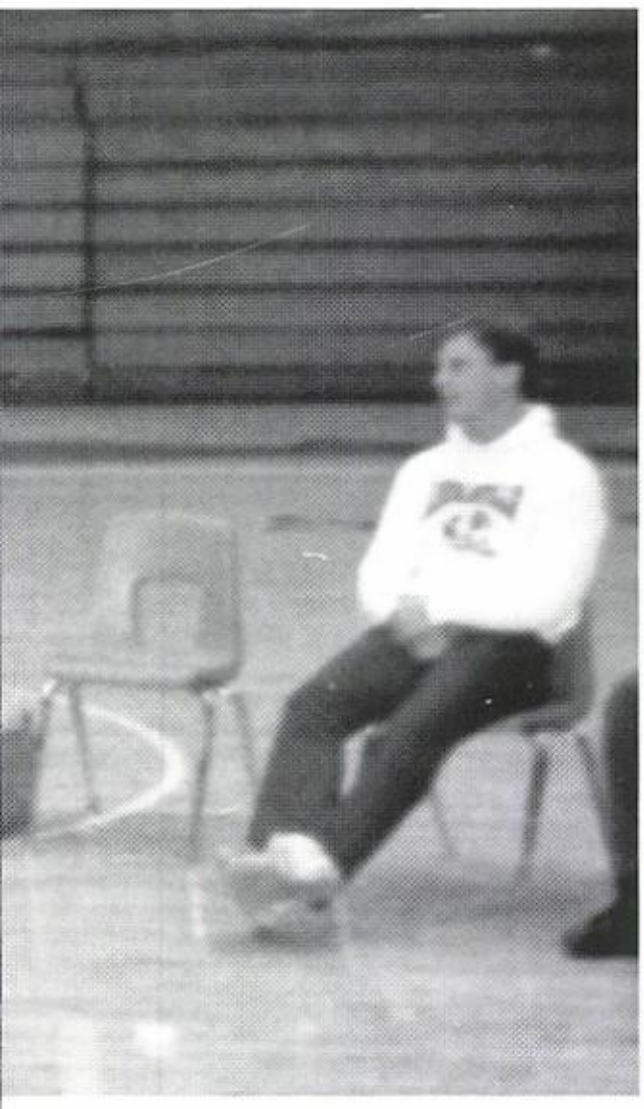
Showing the best ways to apply make-up, Mary Kay beauty consultant, Mrs. Janice Clark appeared at the March meeting of the Career Girls. New techniques on how to apply make-up were learned by the club members.

Warning students on the consequences of drinking and driving, Jefferson County Commonwealth Attorney Todd Hollenback told the story of Steve Willis, a high school senior who killed a young girl. Steve was given a jail sentence, but was let out on shock probation to tell students his story.

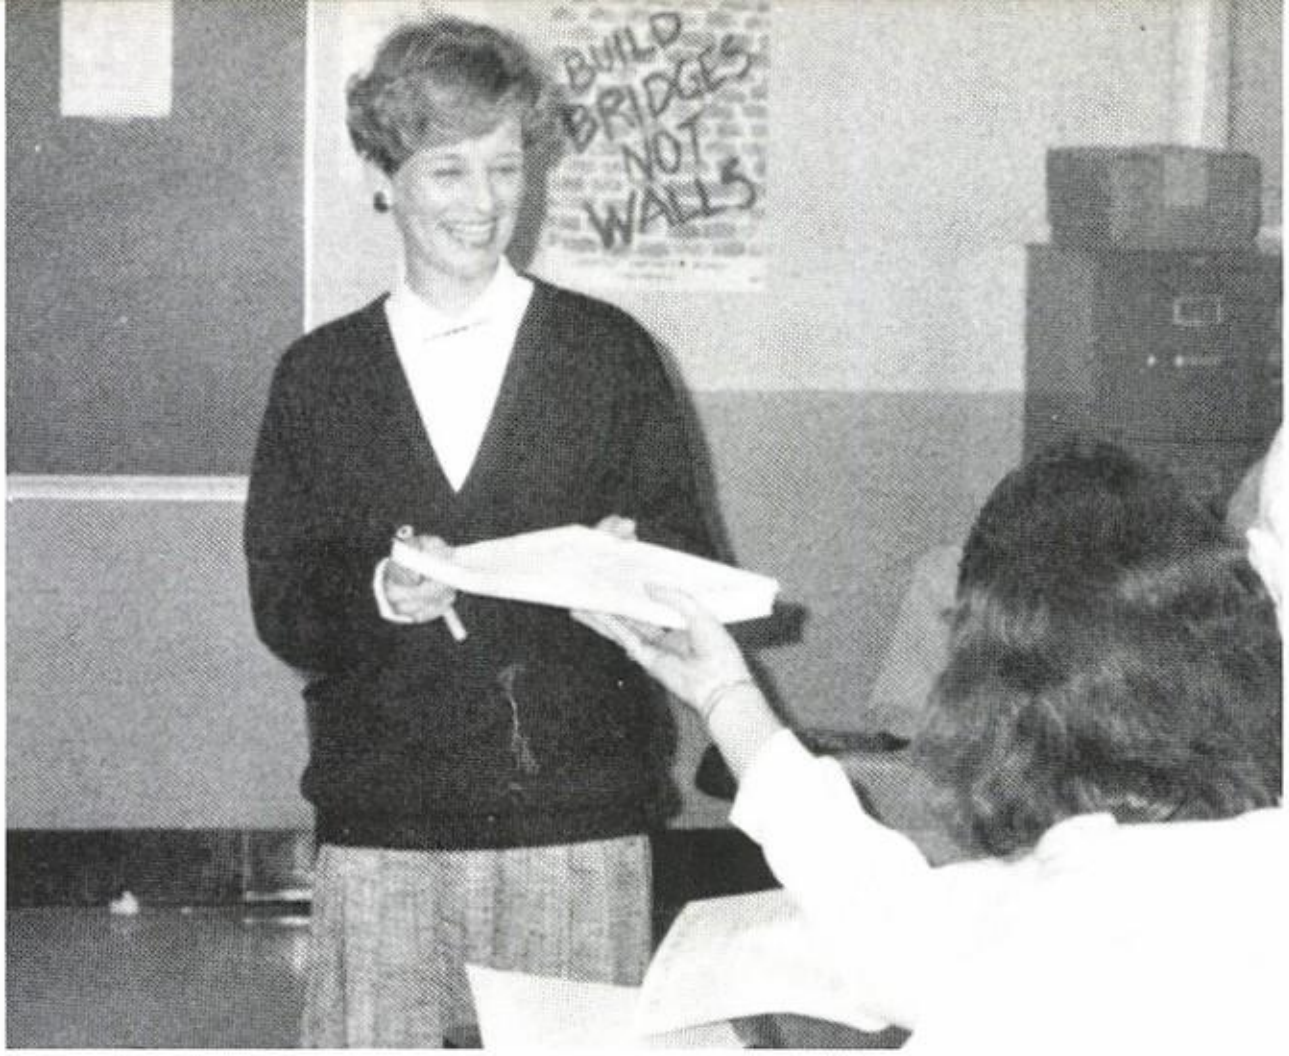
Balancing senior Timmy Baker was one way that Dr. Kahl demonstrated that the power of hypnosis is very strong.

Showing Mrs. Werner's sixth period home-ec class how to prepare Chinese food is Mrs. Anne Thompson, energy specialist with Ky. Utilities.

In Mrs. Lora Werner's home economics class, Mrs. Connie Blackwell, color consultant for Class Act, gives freshman Beverly Hatfield a color analysis.



Telling the facts of drinking and driving, Commonwealth Attorney Todd Hollenback and drunk driver Steve Willis visit ACHS as part of Operation Sober.



Distributing material on the alternatives to drugs, Joyce Millam from Our Lady of Peace in Louisville visits the psychology classes.

Showing Career Girl members how to elegantly apply their make-up, Mrs. Janice Clark uses senior Kellie Atkins as her model.

Discussing what some schools do with their yearbooks, Mrs. Margo Grace tells the yearbook staff to be creative with their designs.

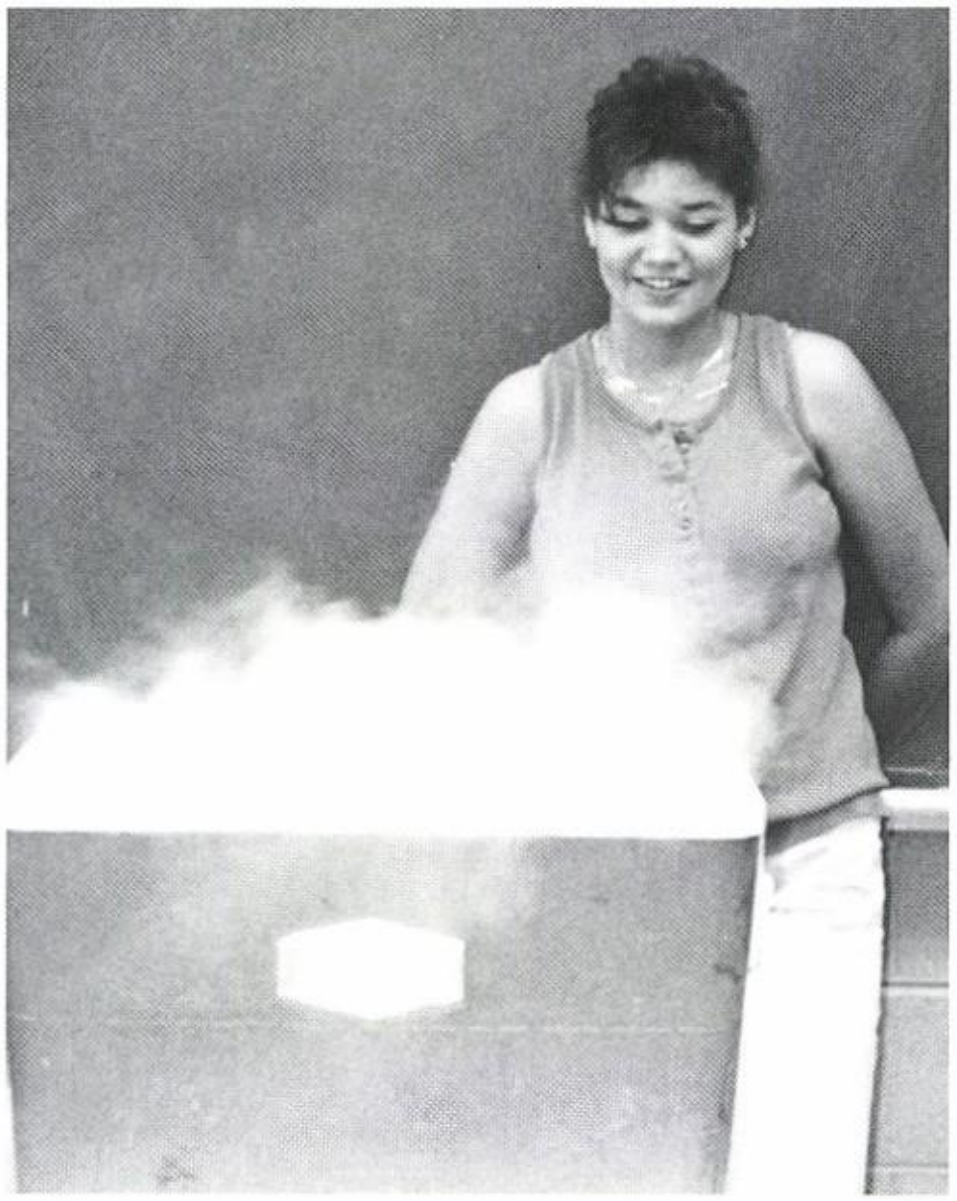
Experimenting with the Unexpected

All students at ACHS take some sort of science class. From working on tracing their family history in some Biology I classes to learning how to mix certain chemicals with others are just some of the things the students have to do.

Mrs. Weatherford's Biology II classes had to dissect rabbits, write term papers and prepare projects for the science fair.

"I really thought the class was interesting because instead of all book work, I got more of a in-depth experience that will help me more when I go to college," said senior Cindy Bledsoe.

Miss Shouse's biology classes worked on their projects for their own science fair. One project was the differences in soils and how much water they would hold. Also the class discussed the growing crisis with the AIDS disease.



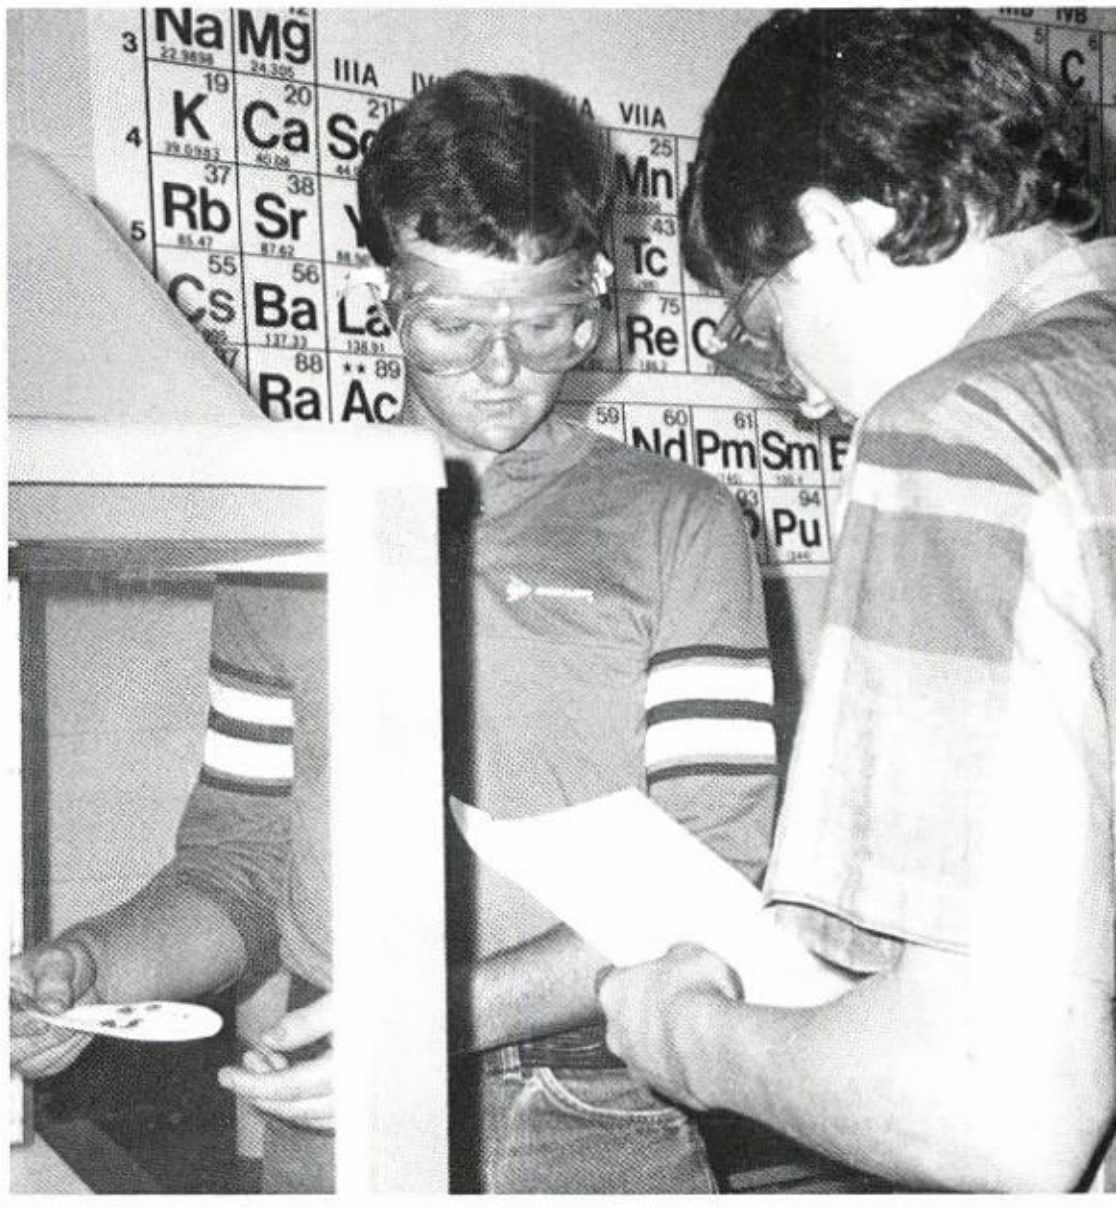
In Miss Shouse's science class, sophomore Melissa DeJarnette experiments with dry ice. When water is dumped on the ice, it creates a thick fog.

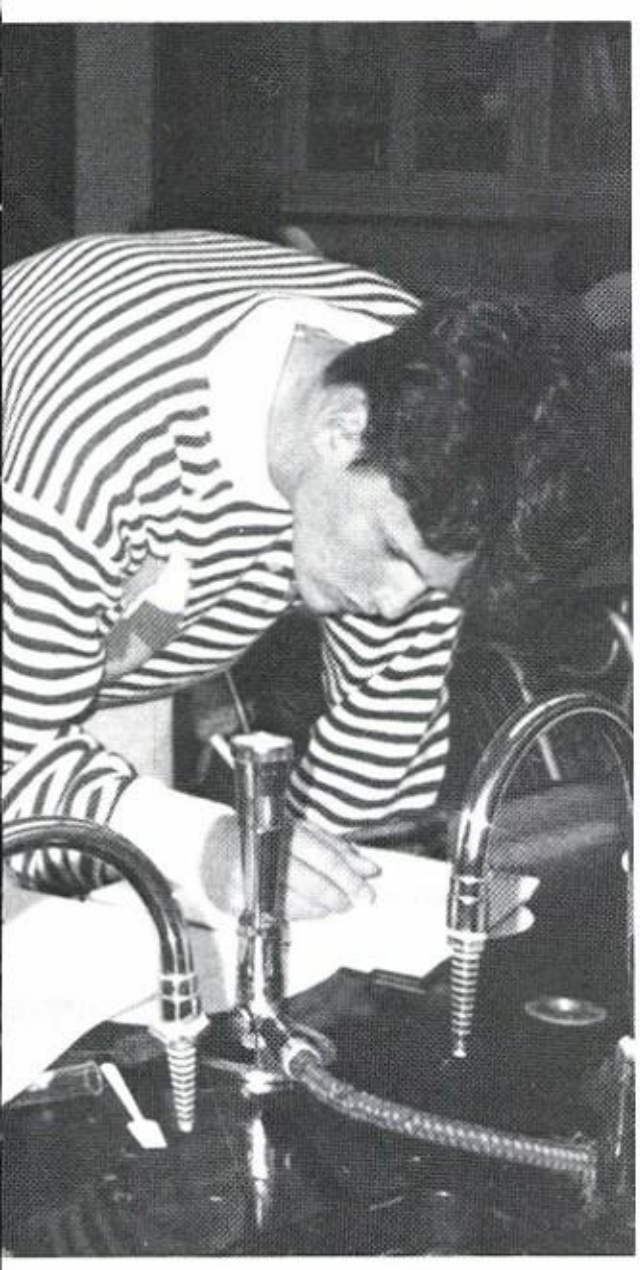
Dissecting is a big part of Mrs. Weatherford's Biology II classes. Here junior Stacy Geick studies the inside of her recently dissected rabbit for her big test the next day.

Juniors Jennifer Perkins and David Greer finish working out their formulas in order to go on to their next mole problem during a Chemistry I lab.

Measuring out just the right amount of sulfur is frustrating as sophomore Nicloe Morgan finds out.

After reading his directions, sophomore Derek Ruble explains to senior Bryon Peach how to mix Hydrochloric Acid to a mixture of Iron (II) Sulfide.





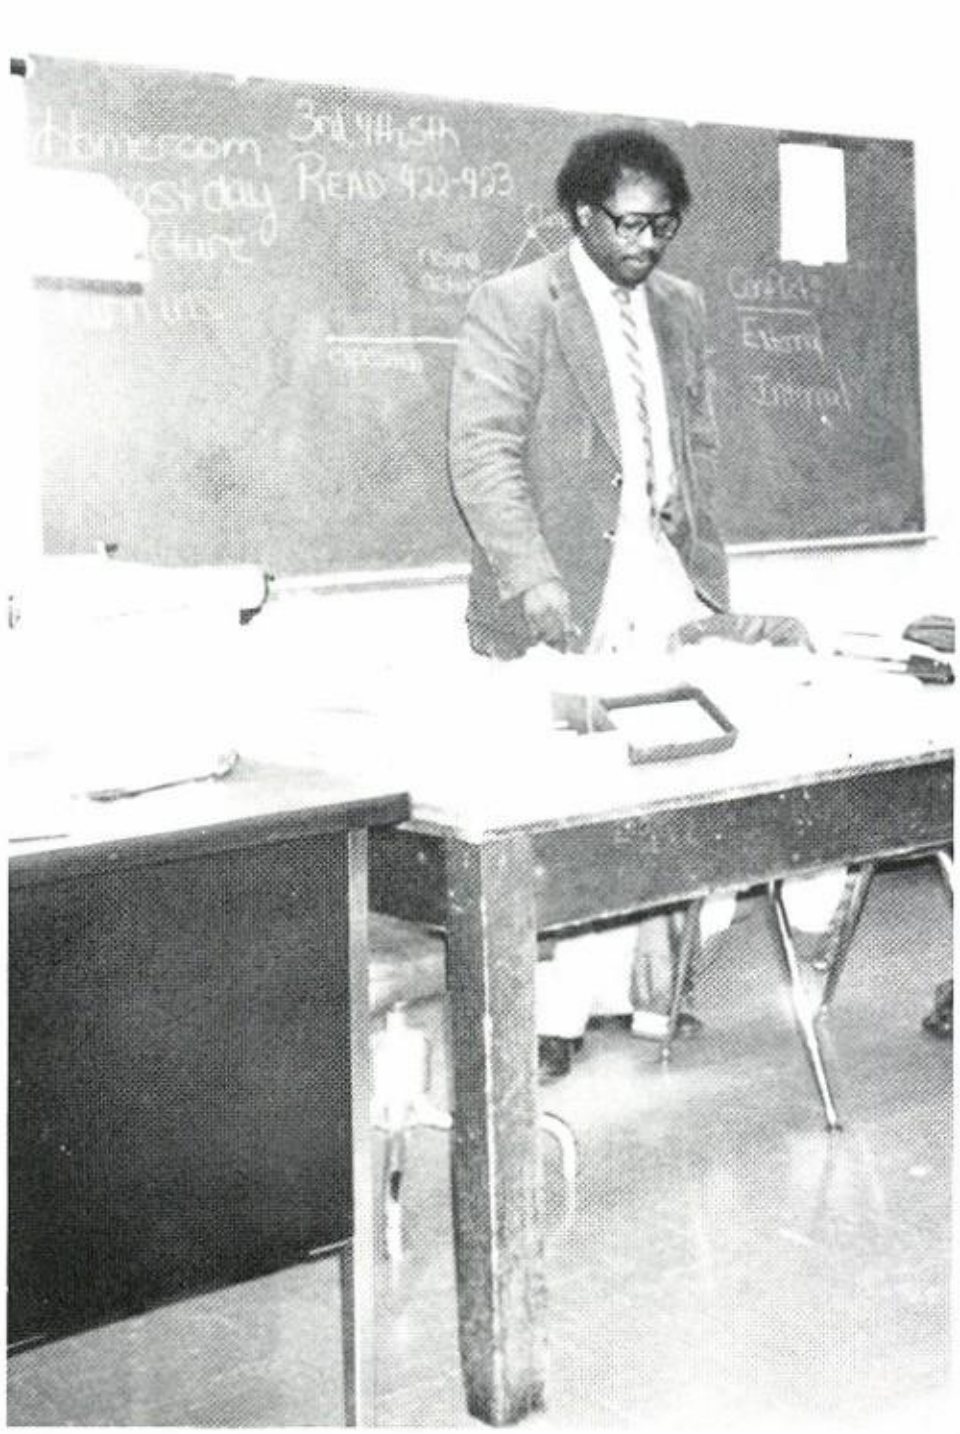
Junior Leslie Stratton shows senior Robbie Isham the project she did in Biology II on the differences of a person's temperature to their skin color.

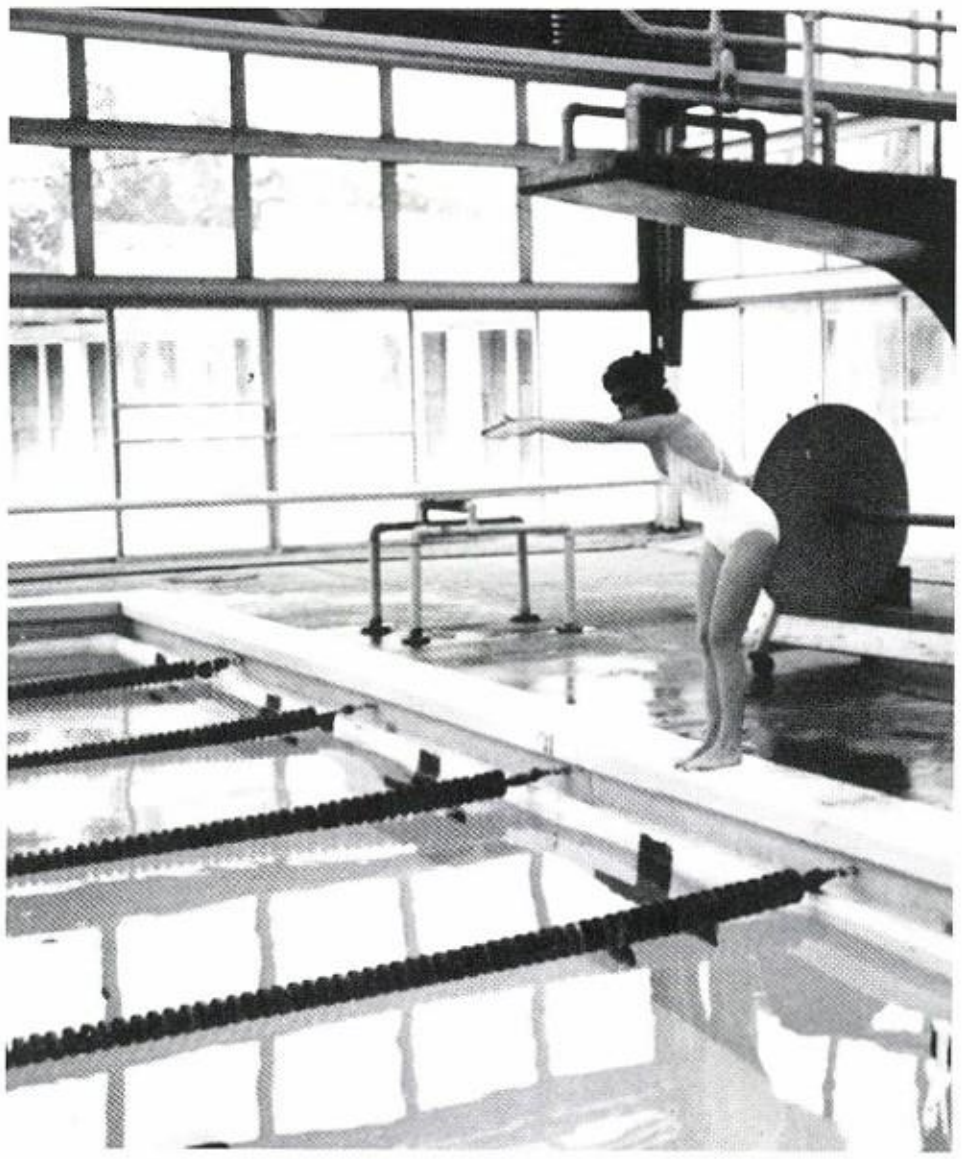
Special Olympics Participants Excel

Anderson County Special Olympics attended the Area 8 Regional Track and Field Special Olympics on April 18 in Cynthiana. The students took home many ribbons.

Freshman Lisa Edington represented Anderson County on March 15 in the swimming event that was held in Lexington. She won first place in both events that she entered: 50m breaststroke and the 50m freestyle. She went on to represent Anderson County at the International Special Olympics that was held at Notre Dame on July 31 to August 8.

Participating in the Special Olympics are BOTTOM ROW: Dewayne Stumph, Norman Meeks. TOP ROW: Sponsor Wanda Chandler, Lisa Edington, Christi Taylor, Becky Nation. Not Shown is Marquetta Tarter.



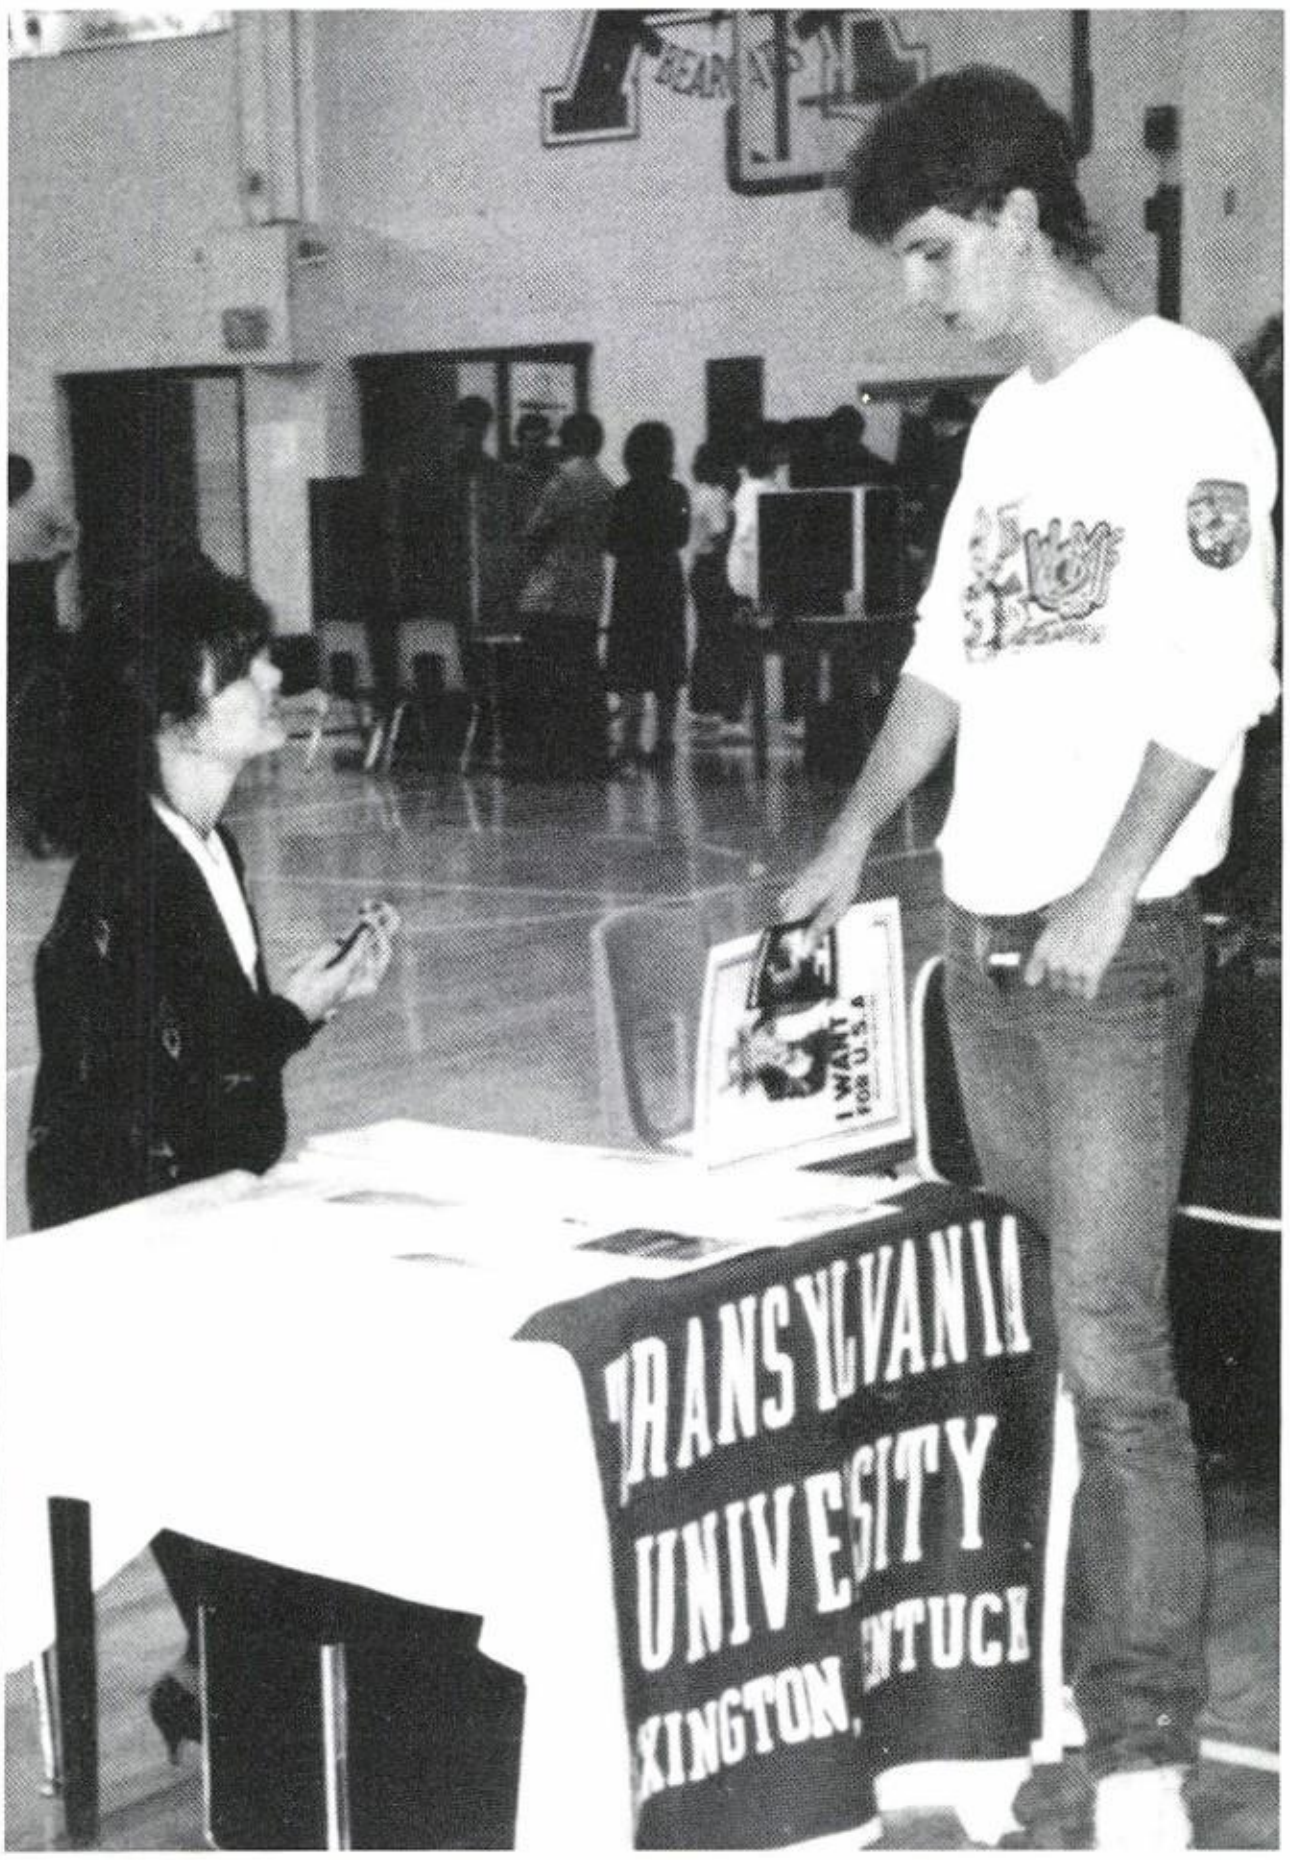


Freshman Lisa Edington prepares to do a dive at the Area 8 Special Olympics swimming competition in the Lexington YWCA in Cross Keys.

Special Resources teacher, Chuck Fletcher, starts off most of his mornings by checking roll. Mr. Fletcher is also the sponsor of the Co-Ed-Y club.

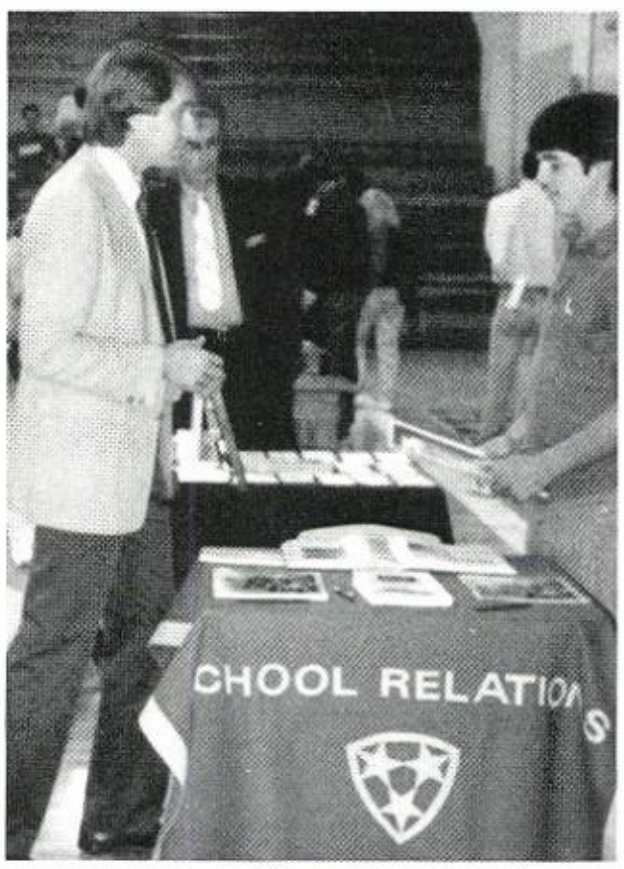
College Daze!

Going to college is an idea that most students consider during their high school years. With all the options that colleges have to offer these days, it usually becomes a little confusing. Fortunately, on college day, ACHS students get answers to their many questions. Representatives from all over the state of Kentucky attend. Military recruiters also have booths to give information on careers in the military and the ROTC programs they offer.



Getting information on Morehead State University is Binoj George.

Morehead's Debbie Stone and Navy recruiter Randy Lunsford take a break during College Day.



Bud Taylor checks out all the different things that Murray State University has to offer.

Inquiring about the curriculum at Transy is Sam Drake.

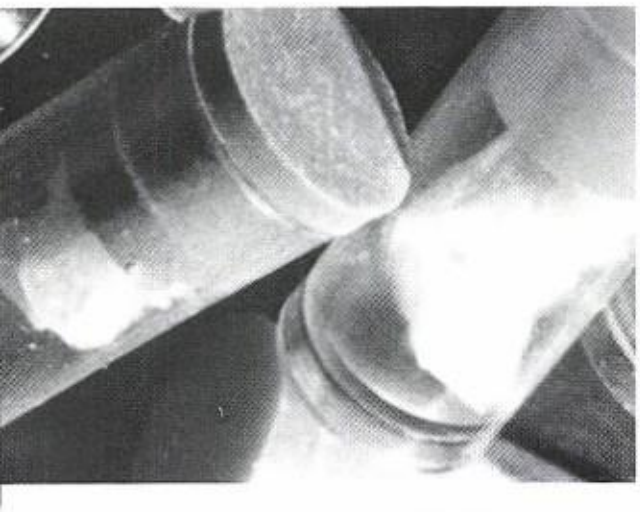
"LOOKING BACK"



1. The Boys' Sweet 16 Basketball Tournament is an exciting time for many of our students. Students and coaches travel to Lexington to watch the annual event. Clay County walked away with this year's trophy. A Clay County "Tiger" is pictured trying to get the rebound.

2. "Stars and Stripes" sails to victory over the defender Kookabura III in the fourth race of the America's Cup.

1. Convicted of murdering five friends in Lexington, Lafonda Faye Foster was sentenced to the electric chair.

2. Miss Tennessee Kellye Cash, the grandniece of country star Johnny Cash, was crowned Miss America 1987. She received the crown from outgoing Miss America Susan Akin.

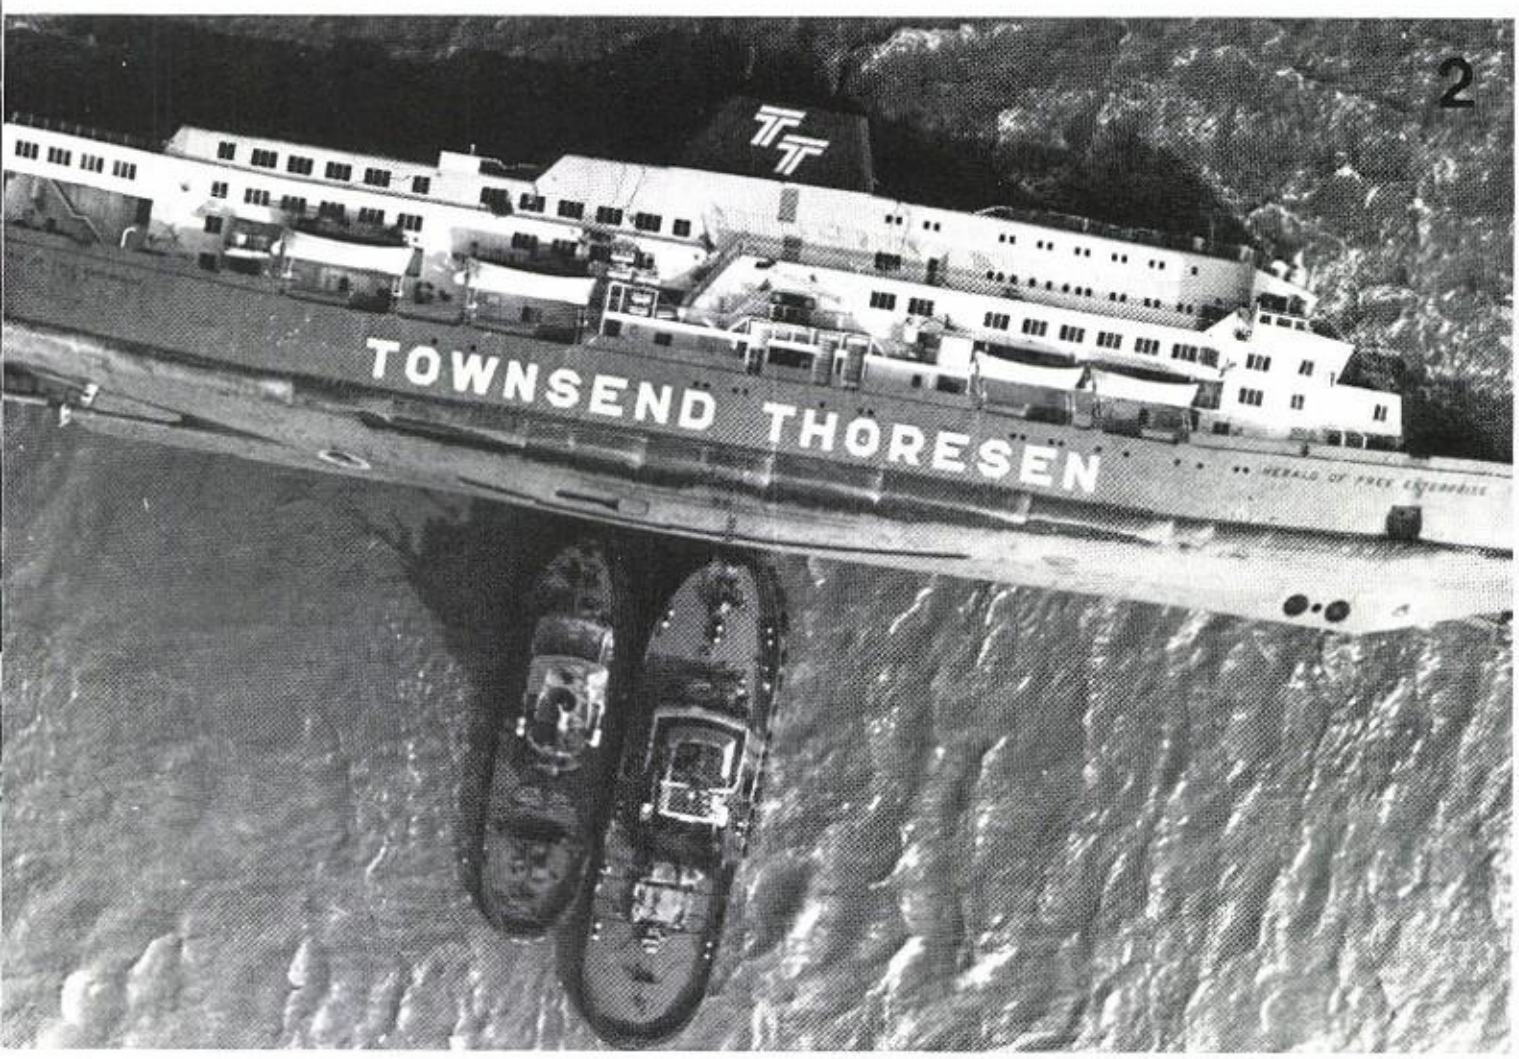
3. New York Giants Coach Bill Parcells was carried off the field after the Giants defeated the Denver Broncos 39-20 in Super Bowl XXI in Pasadena, California, on Jan. 25, 1987.

LOOKING BACK

1. President Ronald Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev met in Reykjavik, Iceland for a two-day summit in October to discuss arms control. Also the president signed into law the broadest tax overhaul in a generation. The bill cut taxes for most workers while paring some prized deductions and boosting the tax burden on corporations.

2. The "Townsend Thoresen" overturned when a cargo door was carelessly left open.

3. U.S. Air Force and Navy jets attacked five targets inside Libya under cover of darkness in April, delivering a response to what President Reagan called the "monstrous brutality" of Libyan-backed terrorism.



What's Happening

Styles come and go at ACHS. Television watching was one of the "hot" items this year. Programs such as "Days of Our Lives" and "The Cosby Show" were just some of the shows that students preferred.

But that's not all that they liked. The latest fashions of clothes and shoes were also popular. "When it comes to looking hot," said junior Alison Campbell, "wild clothes are for me." The "in" styles ranged from over-alls and baggy sweaters to the latest shoe fashions of high-top Reeboks, Keds, and Dexters.

Some students were not so fashion conscious and just liked being comfortable. "I like plain ol' T-shirts and a comfortable pair of jeans," said senior David Cornish. Guess jeans were the most popular brand of jeans worn.

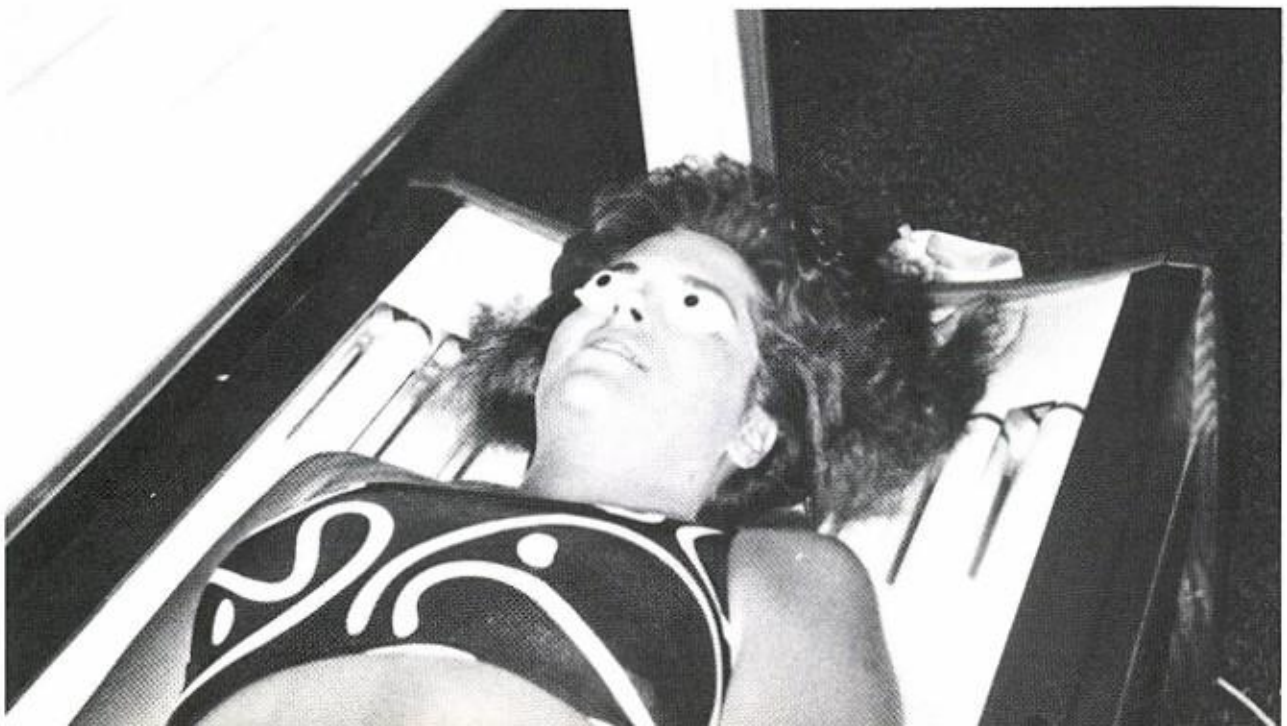
Things that were once in style have faded just as things popular now will lose their style in a few years.

Silver purses, big purses, little purses, Gucci purses — purses of all styles were popular this year.

T-shirts, overalls, and Guess jeans are just a few of the fashions worn by seniors Matthew Carlton and Kathy Litkenhus, and juniors Chip Atkins and Ben Isaac.

There was no limit set on the kinds of shoes worn this year. They ranged from boots to high-top tennis shoes to flats to pumps.

Tanning beds have been a popular pastime for many ACHS students. Senior Meredith Hyatt let friends such as senior Marie Crawford, shown here, use the bed at her father's office after school. Beds are popular, especially at prom time.



WHAT'S HOT

Receiving class rings is a very exciting time for most juniors. Here five juniors display their new rings.

The school's new Coke machine, as well as Coca-Cola fashions, are big hits this year. Senior Tami Robinson and freshman Sean Perry model their shirts.

MISHAPS

Crutches and casts are one of the latest school fashion fads. Most are sports related, but many are just freak accidents. Steve Speray, Tony Puckett, and David Cornish suffered knee injuries in the football game against Western Hills. "It was like they were out to hurt you," said senior Tony Puckett. "They were unusually rough."

Matt Fitzwater's broken arm was another freak accident. "I was playing football behind the Jr. High," said Matt. "I didn't realize it had happened until I got up and saw the hole in my arm."

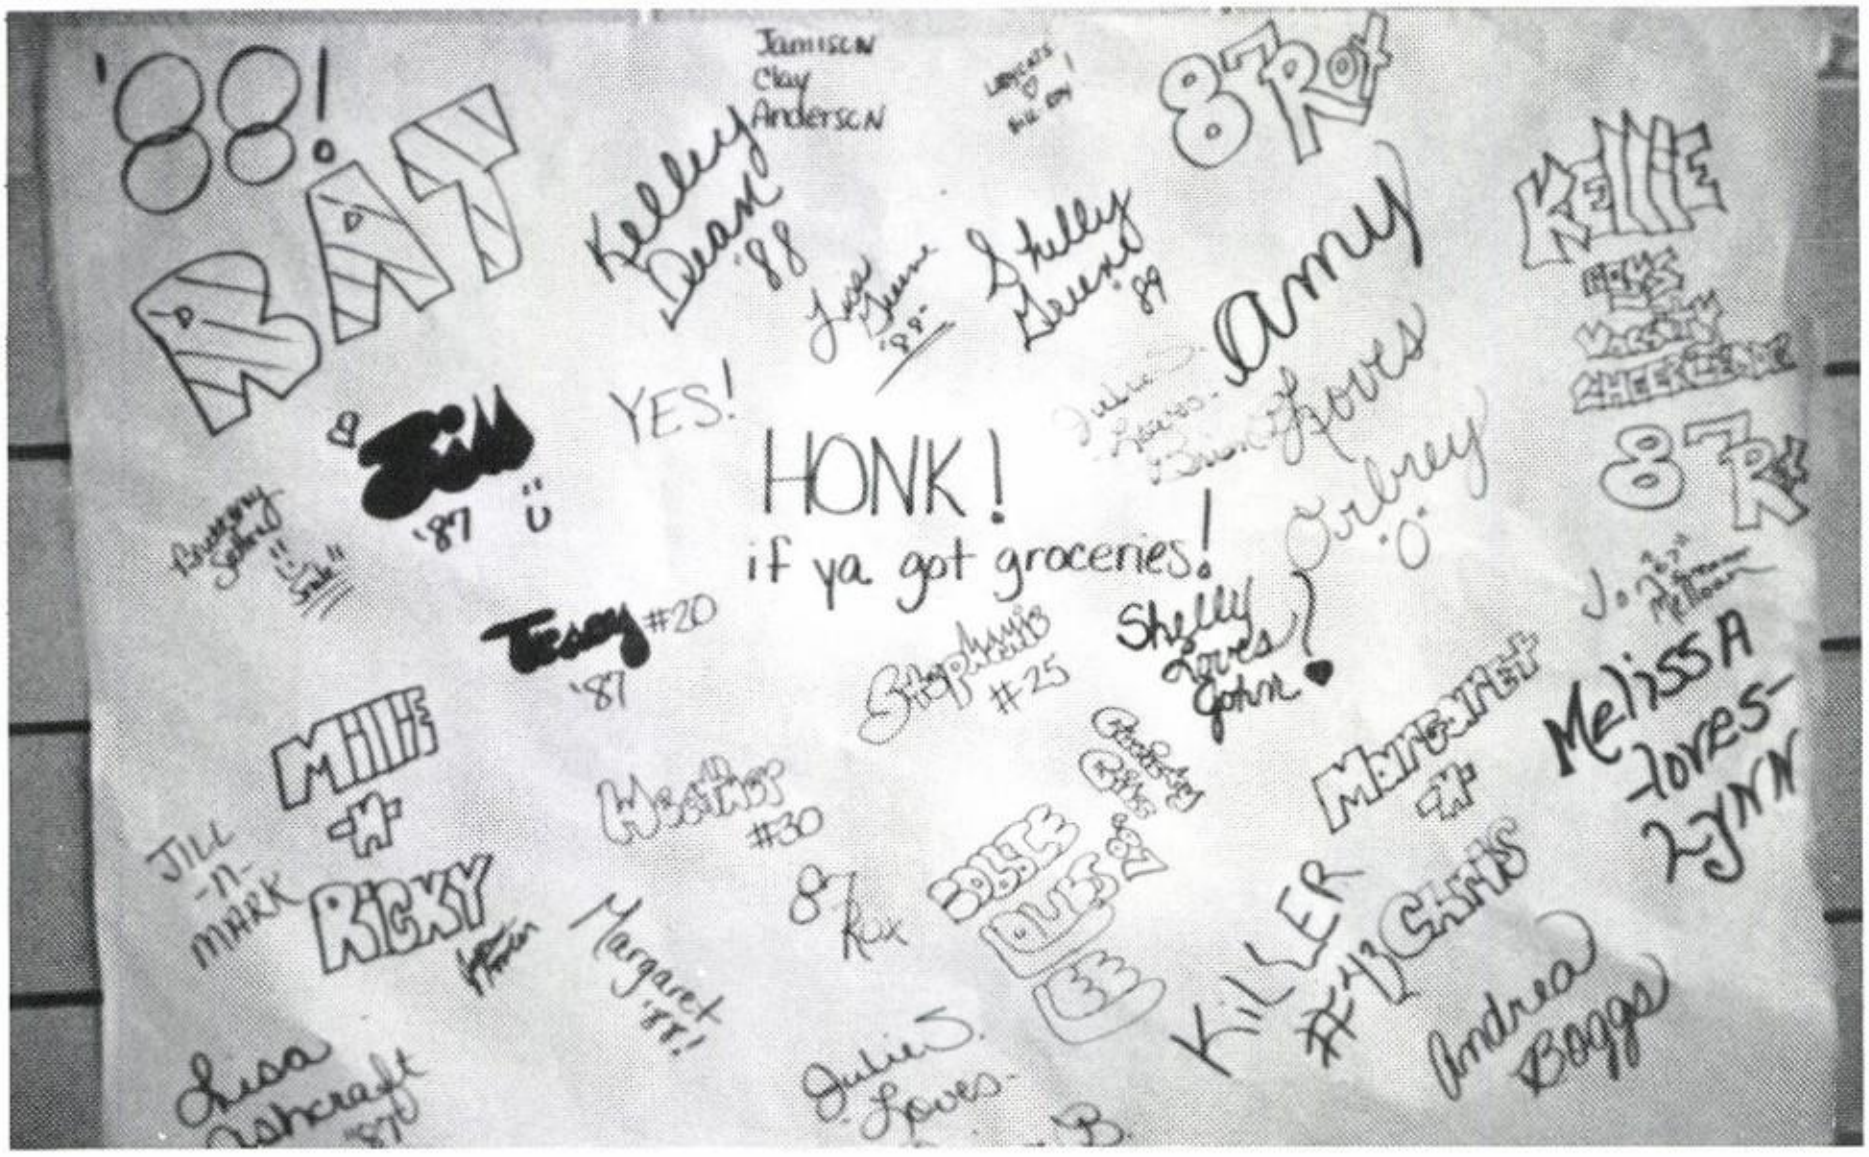
Although injuries kept most of these guys out of action for only a short while, some were more critical. Junior David Cubert's knee injury occurred while practicing tackling drills. "My knee was injured when my body went one way and my knee stayed in place," said David.

During David Cubert's recovery, junior Chip Atkins helped out with his books. One day while waiting for the bell to ring, Chip and David discuss the extent of his injury.

While taking a break at Vocational School, senior David Cornish rests his knee. David was in a knee brace for three weeks. A four-year football player, David missed three games due to his injury.

During P.E. class, freshman Matthew Etherington sprained his ankle while participating in a game of basketball. Here Angela Bottom helps with Matthew's books.

GRA— —I



Walls, textbooks, desk tops, and shoes are written on everyday with some form of graffiti. Graffiti is something everyone likes to do.

The latest gossip, the news of the day, who's seeing who and who hates who. All that can be found in the most unlikely places.

Examples of graffiti artwork include graffiti written on the wall during lunch and in the front desk drawer in Mr. Sarver's office. "I saw everyone else's name and decided that I shouldn't be left out," said senior Sally Cook.

To pass the time away in class, many students find one thing or another to "doodle" on. Senior Kellie Atkins chose her tennis shoes. "Sometimes class can get too boring," said Kellie, "and when you can't talk or pass notes, there's not much else left to do."

Helping prepare the desserts for the Beta Club spaghetti supper are juniors Nathan Sweet and Tracey Turner.

CLUBS

Clubs gave us the chance to try new things in a classic way.

Co-Ed-Y helped in Special Olympics and had members participate in conventions.

And for something new, FHA sold muffins before homeroom.

All of these things, whether classic or new, provided us with leadership opportunities and gave us the chance to get away from schoolwork.

One of the projects of the Co-Ed-Y was cleaning up the parking lot. Juniors Melissa Lacefield, Jana Denney and Missy Taylor stay after school to help.

THOSE CLASSIC CLUBS . . . Have Initiations!

What do the Beta, SAE, and FHA clubs have in common? All of these clubs initiate their new members.

"I enjoy watching people dress up for initiations," said sophomore Shae McEwen. "They just look so goofy!"

The Beta Club initiations required that each member dress up as an Indian. The SAE club wore their clothes inside out, and the new FHA members came to school in their pajamas.

"Since I was in SAE but I didn't wear my clothes inside out," said senior Millie Perry, "I had to pay a one dollar fine."

Even though senior Jennifer Hopper has participated in a few initiations " . . . I think they're embarrassing!" she said.

Trying to forget about how she's dressed, sophomore Betty Richmond stops by her locker between classes.

Dressing up like an Indian was one of the requirements for first year Beta member Mark Richard.

Senior Ben Puckett models the latest fashions for the modern Indian during the Beta club initiations.

Posing for the camera are Kristi Thompson, Alison Foye, Kristi Clark, and Shannon Drury.

Trying to complete her role, sophomore Alisha Howard searches for a book on dance.

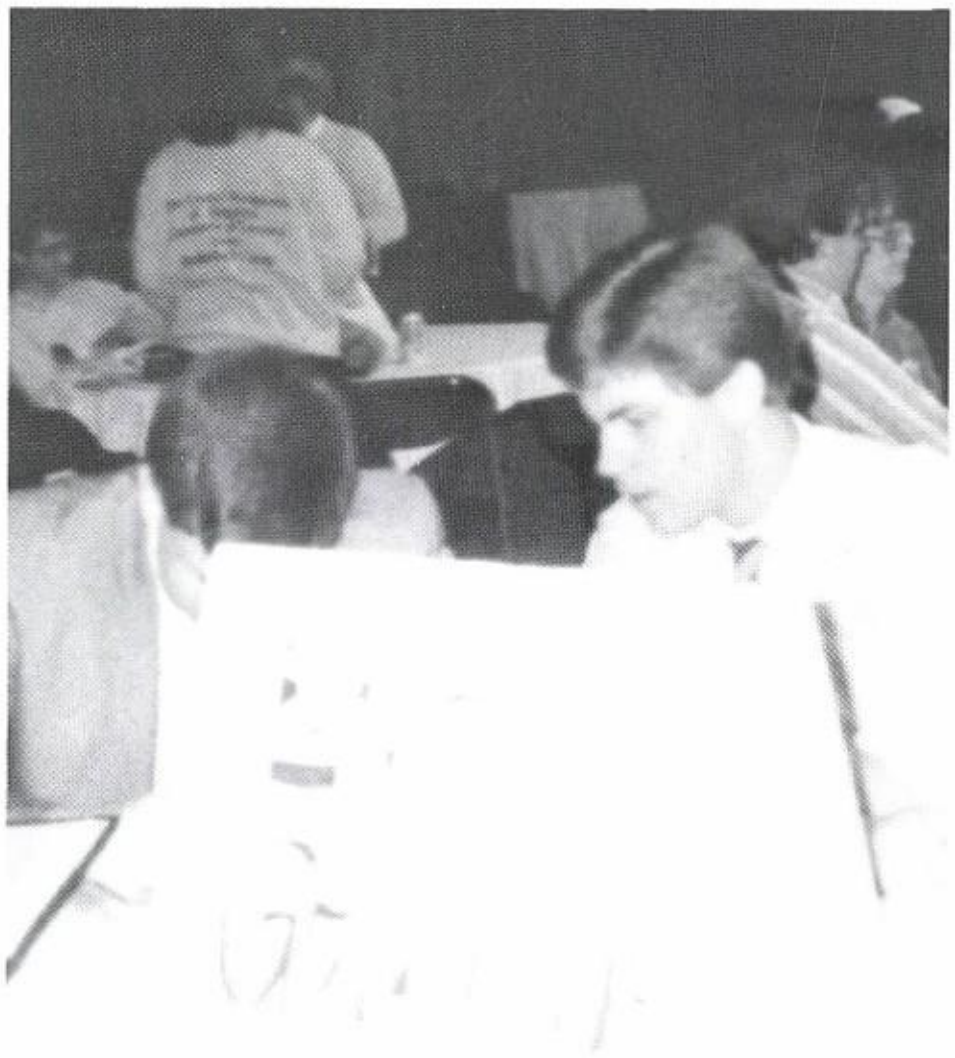
Co-Ed-Y Has Eventful Year

Among its many activities, the Co-Ed-Y hosted its first Genesis Conference. Advisor Chuck Fletcher said, "I feel our students got a sense of what KYA was with an attitude of excitement."

Sophomore Shae McEwen won the preliminary election for Speaker of the House for KYA in November 1987.

Some members went on the Big Apple Tour in April. They stayed at the YMCA and then they toured all over New York City.

"I liked the shopping best," said sophomore Candy Goodman, "especially when we went to Bloomingdales and Saks."



Working on their KUNA proposal, East Germany delegates sophomore Jerry Hurst and junior Grant Roark try to amend their proposal to decrease tension placed on German borders.

While sophomore Candy Goodman watches, advisor Wanda Chandler checks over her luggage at the airport when the Co-Ed-Y went on their Big Apple Tour this past April.

Enjoying their lunch at the first Genesis Conference held at the high school are sophomores Missy Devine, Greg Goodrich, Kristi Dixon, and junior Tonya Johnson.

Gathering her luggage, junior Tonya Sparrow prepares to embark on the KYA conference in Louisville.

Anderson Advances In Governor's Cup

Tournament time was an exciting time for students on the academic team.

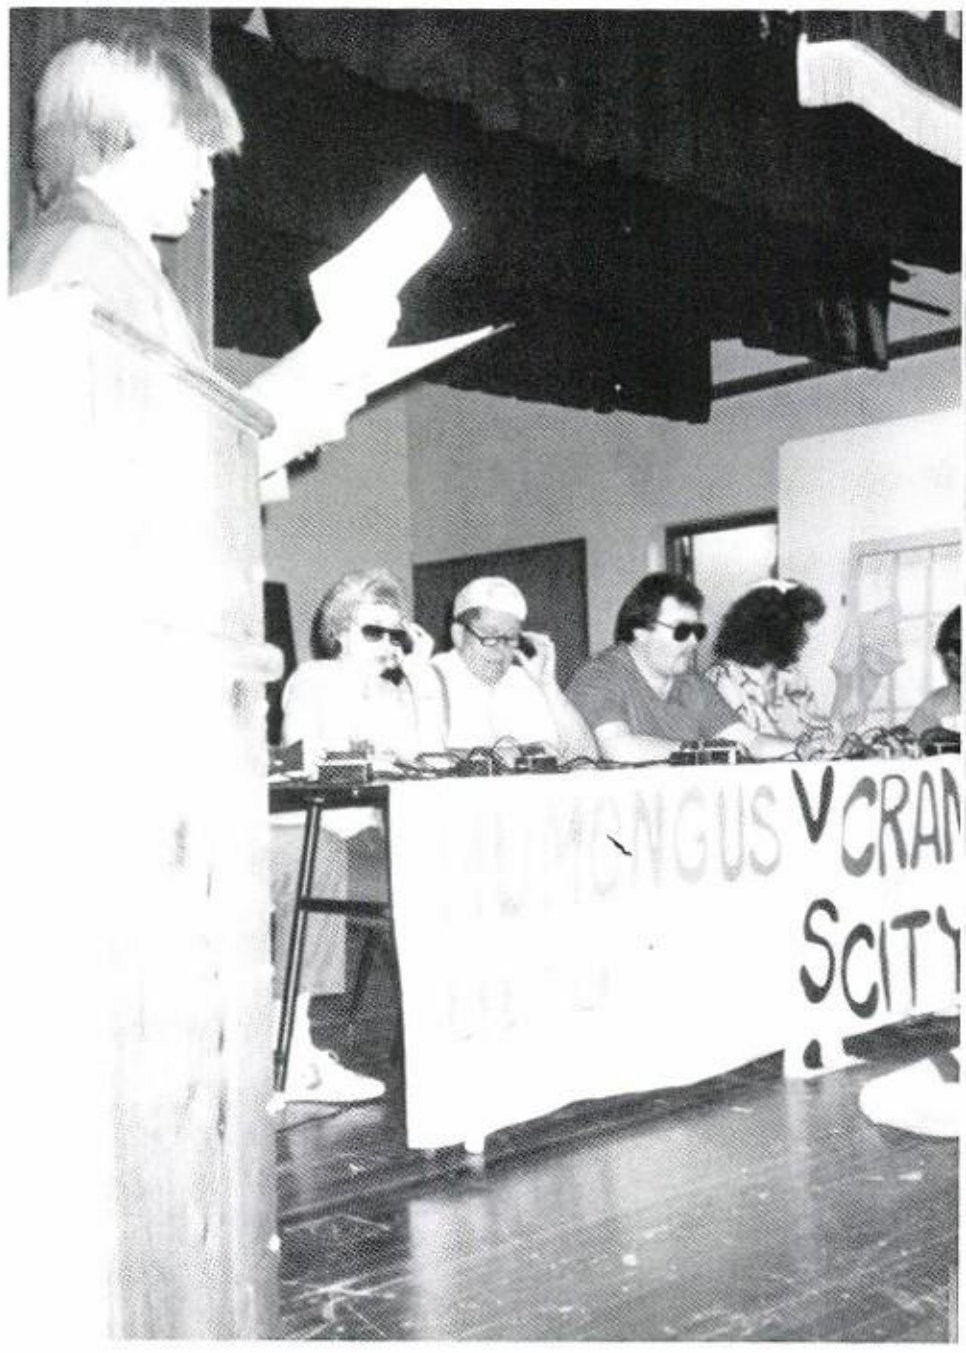
In the Governor's Cup Anderson placed fourth out of 14 teams. Senior Charlie Miller took fifth place in the English Composition, and the Creative Expressions team composed of junior John Wilson, seniors Cassy Barr, Laura Wheeler and Victoria Woodrow took second place.

Sophomore Kristi Dixon received the Championship trophy in Language Arts and went on to represent ACHS at the state competition in Louisville.

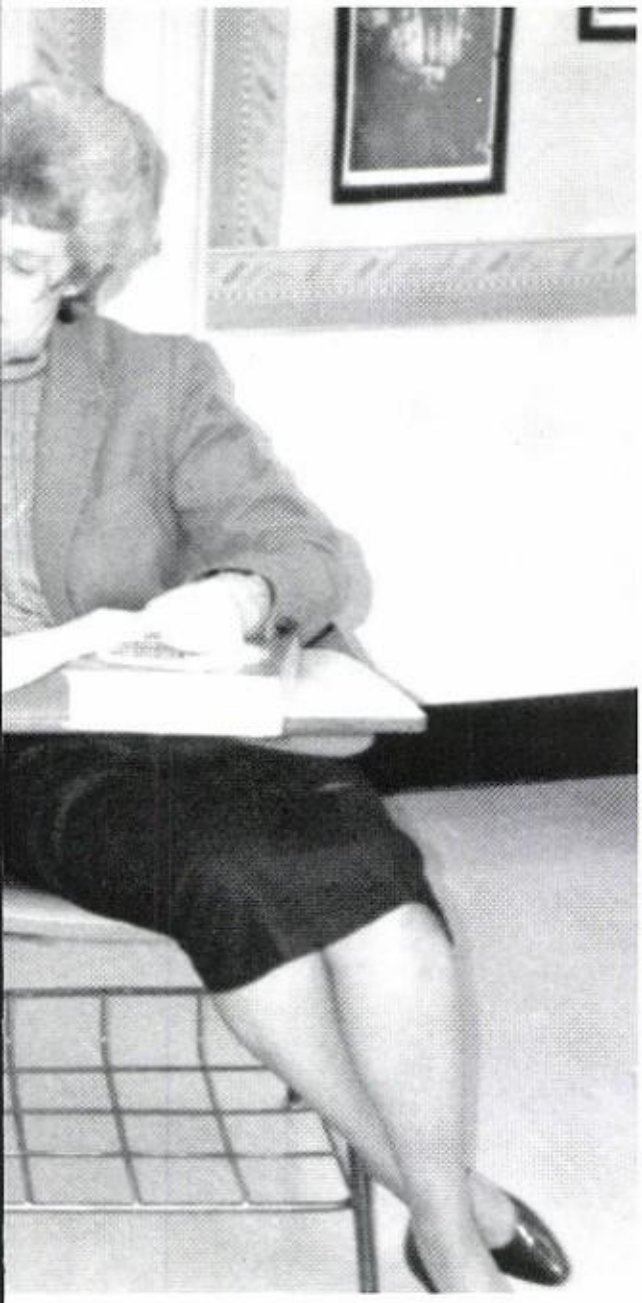
Also representing ACHS were seniors Marty Terry in Social Studies, Tracy Wells in English Competition and the math team made up of juniors Bert Steelman, Nathan Sweet, sophomore Mike Ekbundit and senior Tony Simpson. Making up the computer team were seniors Dustin Curtis, Ronnie Fields, Andy Zopff, and sophomore Tim Osborne.

Teacher Jane Ross helps sophomore Kristi Dixon prepare for the Regional Governor's Cup Competition. Kristi had also won second place in the district competition.

Participating in the KET Scholastic Challenge are sophomore Shae McEwen, senior Charlie Miller, sophomore Kristi Dixon, and sponsor Jane Ross.



At the academic team banquet, Elgin Emmons, Jane Ross, Ron Miller, Mike Watson, Beverly Stivers, and Chuck Fletcher put on their own version of an academic match as the Humongus High students vs the Cranium City High students.



Practicing with their coach Mike Watson, the history team, juniors Chris Morgan, Joe Hurt, and senior Marty Terry, get ready for an upcoming match.

THOSE CLASSIC CLUBS . . . FBLA, HOSA, VICA

Each vocational club had a fund raiser to start the year to pay for many activities throughout the year including the Christmas party and the end-of-school cookout.

The FBLA club gave Halloween, Easter, and Christmas parties to the day care center in Harrodsburg. They also took fruit to the nursing home, held bake sales, and sold calendars, candy and Christmas items. The students enrolled in business courses could join FBLA.

The health careers students could join HOSA. They raised money for a senior trip to Rafferty's and Cardinal Hill. They gave a Halloween party for a day care center and to Mrs. Bradbury's kindergarten class.

Vocational students enrolled in welding, carpentry, auto mechanics, and electricity could join VICA. VICA's purpose is to help vocational students of today to become the industrial leaders of tomorrow.

Junior Cheryl Chilton played with the children at the day care center as the FBLA members prepare for their Christmas party.

HOSA member Vicky Moore prepares Christmas items to be sold.

Seniors Tyler Hill and Dustin Curtis placed second in Kentucky's Plymouth/AAA Trouble Shooting Contest on May 20 in Louisville. They are both active members of VICA.

Senior Rusty Sayre takes a short break during his electricity class to try out the radio. Rusty is a member of VICA.

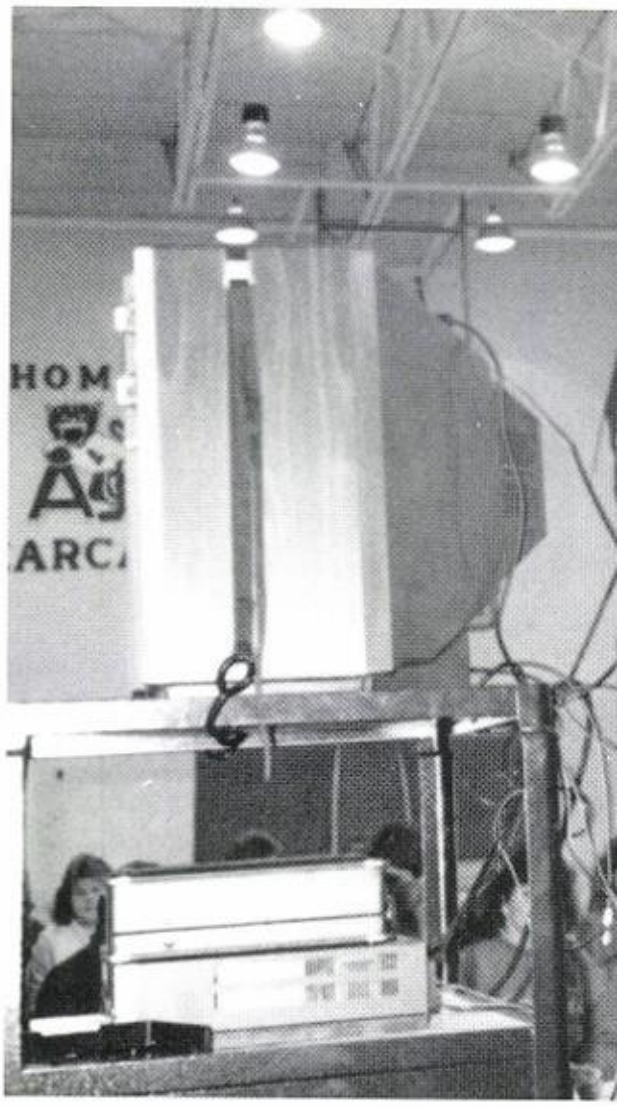
THOSE CLASSIC CLUBS . . .

Hold regular meetings

Classic clubs returned to ACHS again this year, many larger than before.

Since the size of the clubs increased, many clubs had better meetings and were able to discuss business, coming up with more alternatives and ideas on things to do.

"I really like regular meetings because I get to voice my opinions on topics and help make clubs better, which can make our community a better place to be," said junior Tammy Murphy.

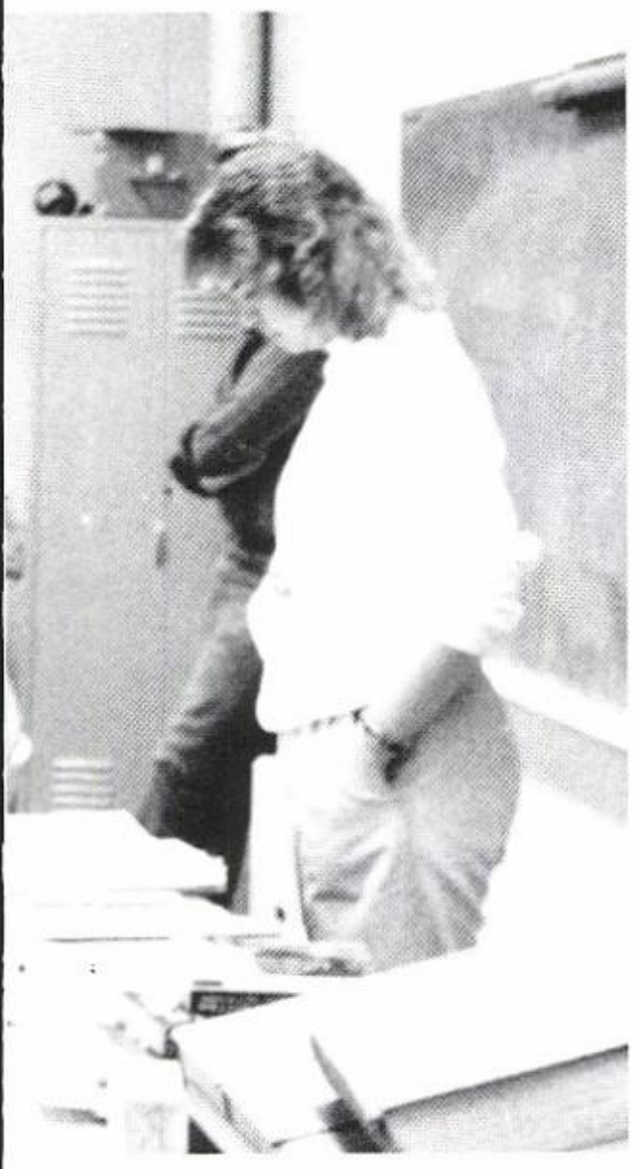


Discussing the upcoming trip, FFA president Jason Denny informs the members that they will be attending the Farm Machinery Show in Louisville.

Co-Ed-Y club president Jill Carlton discusses the old business as chaplain Leslie Stratton and sponsor Chuck Fletcher listen intently.

Sitting in Mr. Emmons' room, BETA club members wait for their meeting to be called to order.

Setting up the television, FCA sponsor Mark Green intends to show a movie to the club's members.



Referring to her agenda, senior BETA president Tracy Wells tries to figure out what she is supposed to do next.

The Classic Extras: Band and Chorus

The band had an exciting year this year. They attended the first Kentucky State Marching Band Championships that were held at the Tates Creek High School and at the Commonwealth Stadium. They also took home trophies at the Louisville Southern Contest — Grand Overall, 1st place, Best Percussion, Flag, Field Commander, Marching, and Music.

"Inside I felt we were going to win something, but when the announcer kept calling off Anderson County, I just felt like crying because I then knew we were going to take home the Grand Overall," said junior Melissa Durr.

The chorus held their concert on May 7. Mrs. Burton had members from her advanced chorus try out for the All-State chorus. The chorus members from both the 3rd period and advanced chorus sang at the Baccalaureate services and the Graduation ceremonies.

Senior Ronnie Fields, freshman Melanie Hudnall, and sophomore Samantha Hendricks play the school song while they watch the football game.

Playing the violin is one of many talents of sophomore Jamie Barr. Here she practices with piano player junior Brent Witten for the chorus concert.

Getting together a yearbook is really not as easy as some people would think. This year was especially hectic because the yearbook staff was the newspaper staff as well.

Usually offered separately, the classes were combined because Phase English was eliminated and because English teacher Glenda Thompson became librarian. Mrs. Thompson kept the yearbook but newspaper was taught by new English teacher Carol White.

"Combining the two staffs was really rough on the students," said Mrs. Thompson. "I hope it meant, however, that they learned twice as much journalism."

Despite constant pressures, the staff was able to meet deadlines, put together the yearbook and still turn out the Bearfacts page.

"Working on the yearbook staff was a lot of hard work, but there were many rewards that came out of it all," said junior Laurie Goodlett.

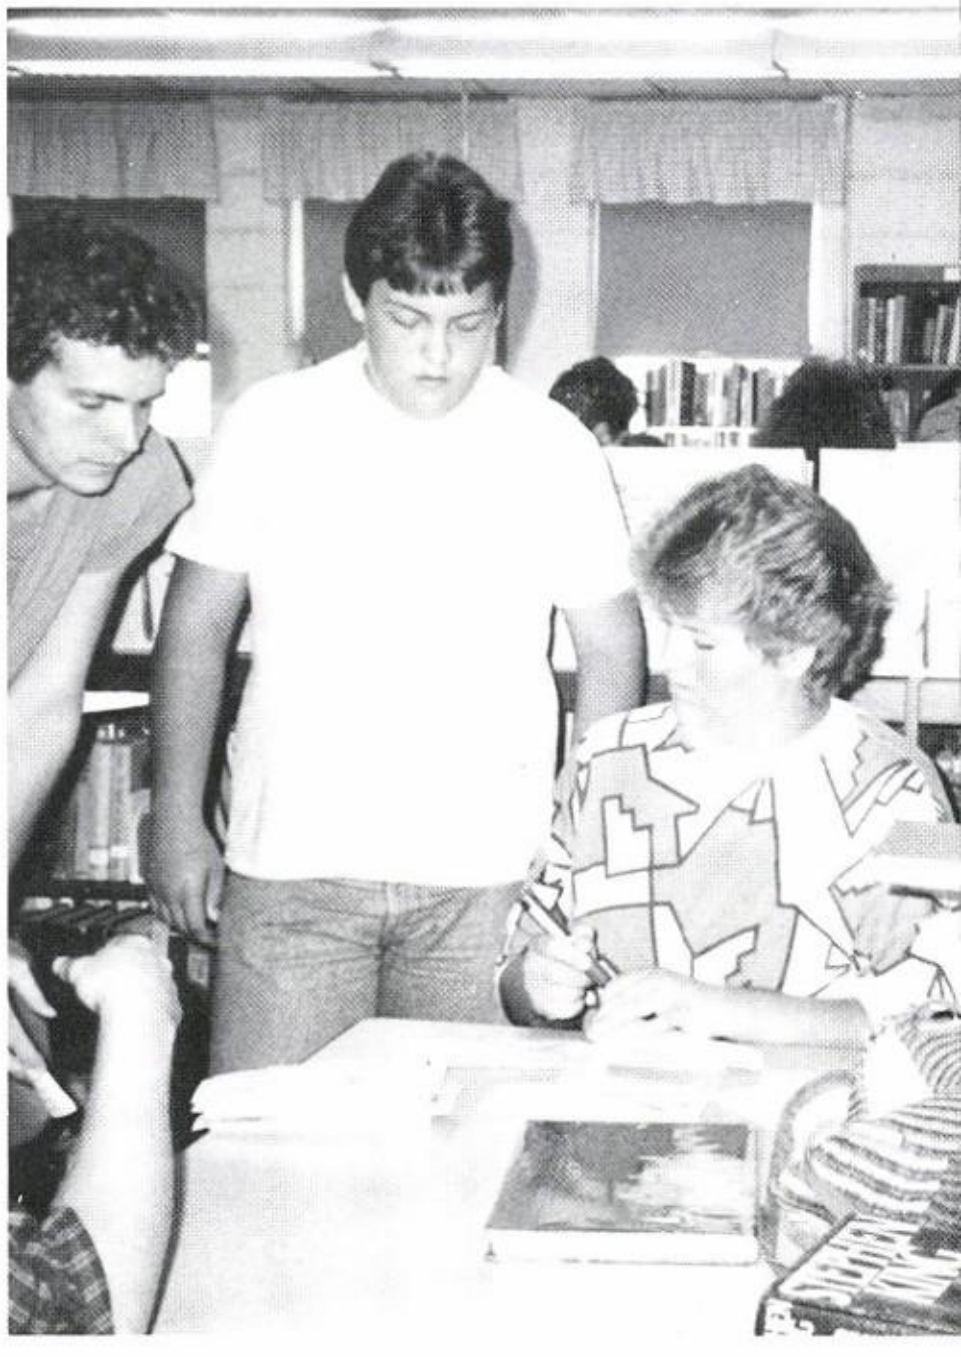
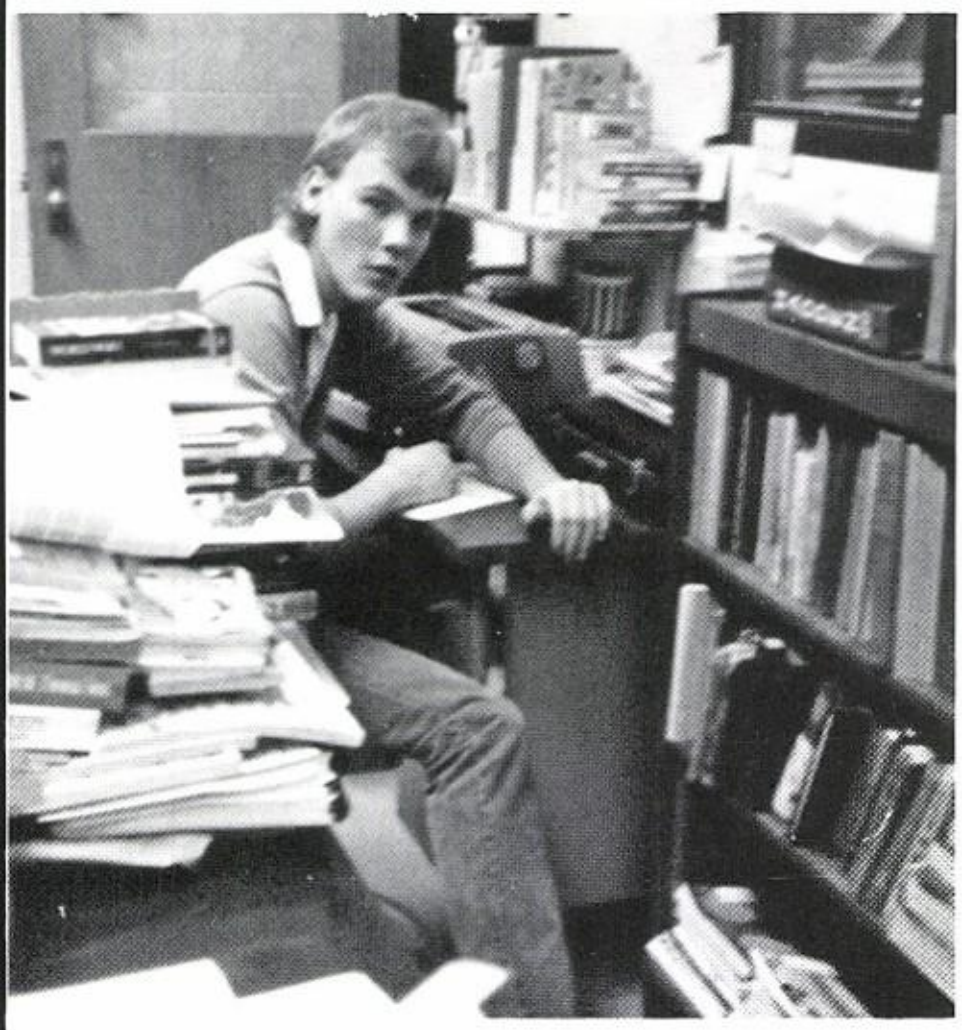
Senior Millie Perry slips through pictures of the football team to put in her football section of the yearbook.



As soon as the 1985-86 yearbooks came in, they were passed out to students. Here junior Laurie Goodlett gives seniors Chris Puckett, Linda Richards, and Sheena Rucker their yearbooks.



As deadline draws near, senior Jamie Anderson writes his story on the newly arrived Coke machine for the Bearfacts page.

While selling yearbooks, senior Jennifer Hopper looks for seniors Lisa Searcy and Julie Sutherland in the receipt book.

Visiting the Anderson News office, the newspaper staff finds out that putting together a newspaper page is quite involved. Afterwards the staff was treated to lunch by the editor of the newspaper, Don White.

Dinners Recognize Achievement

ACHS students and teachers were honored at several special dinners in May. Fourteen students with a 3.5 or above GPA and their parents were treated to dinner at the RECC building by Lawrenceburg banks.

This was the first year that an academic league banquet was held. The new academic booster club sponsored the event. Certificates and pins were awarded to all participants.

The teachers were honored at a tea given by FHA during the last week of school. The tea is a traditional activity to show appreciation for the teachers' hard work during the year.

During the annual Co-Ed-Y banquet, officers for the upcoming year were elected and recognized.

Mrs. Nancy Shryock, whose home economics classes prepare the annual FHA tea, serves some punch to secretary Joretta Russell.

Senior Melissa Donnell received a plaque and applause for having a GPA of 3.5 or above.

Jan-Peter Kaiser, Judy Carlton, Tracy Wells, Jill Carlton, Christy Giles, and Patty Giles load up their plates at the senior 3.5 banquet that honors achievement.

Mrs. Jane Ross and Mrs. Beverly Stivers present a pin to junior Joe Hurt for his participation on the academic team during the year.

Band director Gary Burton praises the marching Bearcats at the band banquet. A display of the trophies that were won by the band are shown behind him.

A Student's Life Beyond School Work

Different things that went on during school hours gave students a break from the ordinary rhythm of classes.

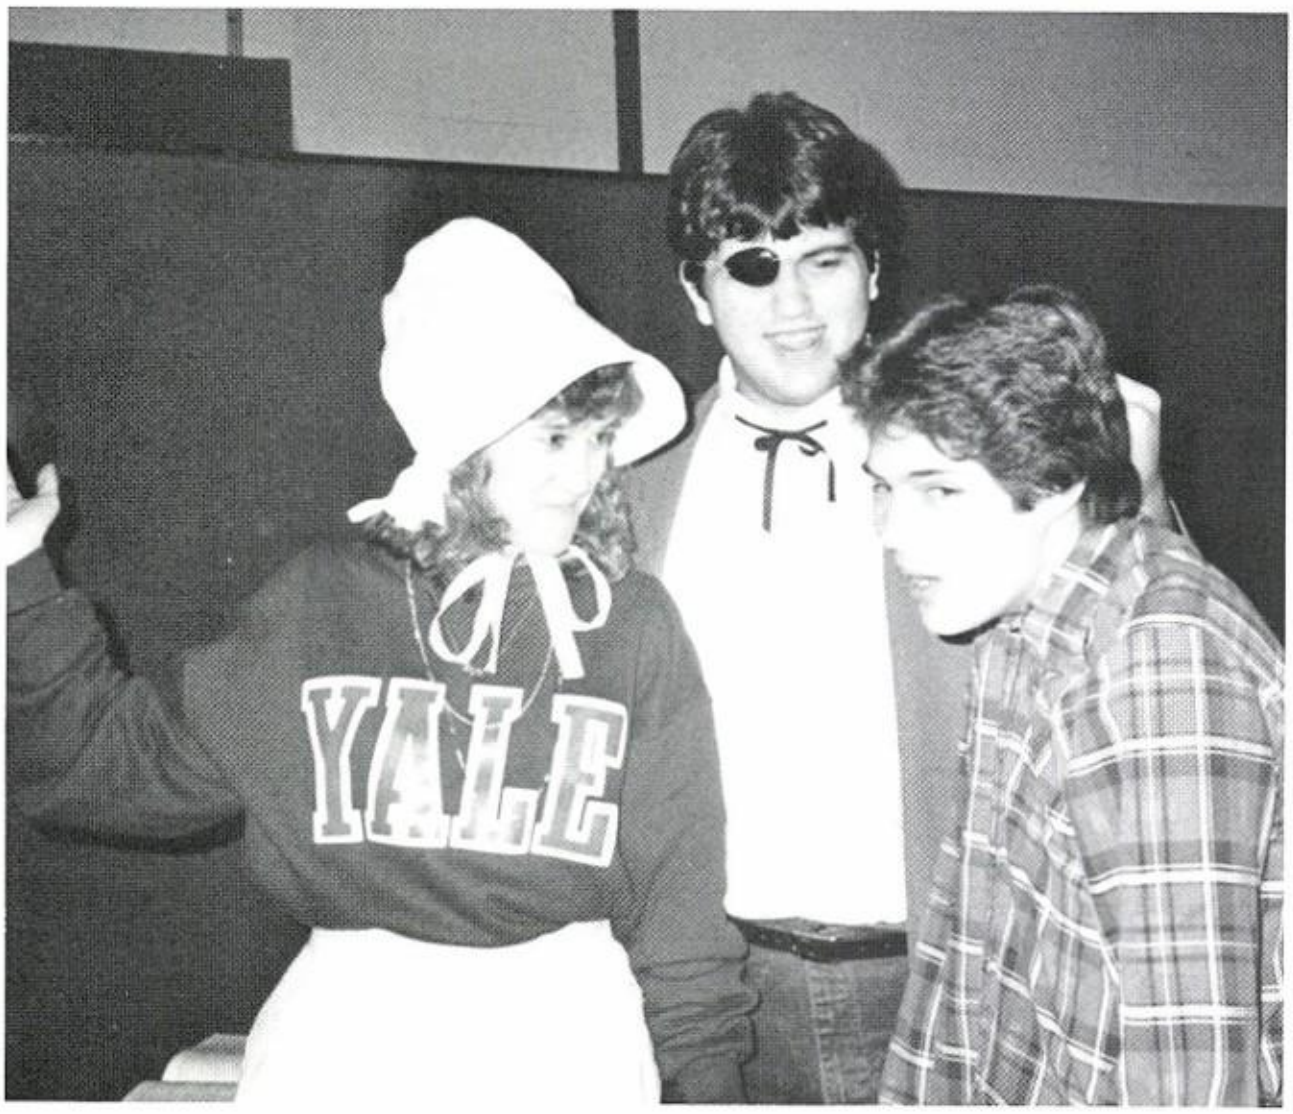
Mrs. Warren's literature classes liked to put on small plays from the stories they read in class.

"I like acting out the stories because you get tired of just reading the story itself," said sophomore Kelly Dedman.

The Creative Foods/Marriage Preparation classes held their mock weddings and took a class trip to Festival Market, Victorian Square, and Silks Restaurant.

These were just a few of the things students did other than class work that made school a bit more fun.

During the Home Economics trip to Radisson Plaza Hotel, classmates Marty Terry, Julie McGuire, John Smoot, Doug Chilton, Kevin Hall, Timmy Baker, and Brian Renaud ride down the escalators to Silks Restaurant.



In Mrs. Warren's literature class, playing Mr. and Mrs. Squeers and Smike in the play Nicholas Nickleby are sophomores Shae McEwen, Mark Peach, and Kelly Dedman.

Those students who sold enough magazines during the magazine drive were treated to Pizza Hut. Home Economics teacher Nancy Shryock prepares to tackle her pizza as sophomore Kim Wells looks on.

Eating her French pastries, sophomore Karen Clark enjoys the annual French club pastry party that was held in the library.

U.S. History teacher Bruce Mooser walks his daughter(??) senior Ann Richmond down the aisle during the mock wedding in the Home Economics class.

On Shakespeare's birthday, the English department sponsored a trivia contest with questions scattered in various classrooms. It resulted in a tie. Here Mrs. Ross gives winners shophomores Kristi Dixon and Shae McEwen McDonald's gift certificates.

After Hours

Anderson County's Jr. Miss holds many exciting and special memories for local teens.

Practices on stage began two weeks before the pageant. Routines were choreographed by Kim Hall and Amy Hawkins. Contestants began learning routines a month beforehand. The week before the pageant was full of many tiring hours of practice and determination. Dress rehearsal was held prior to the pageant. Following dress rehearsal there was a Pizza Party for all of the contestants.

The judging consists of many things. Academics play a very important part, as do judges' interview, physical fitness, poise and appearance, and talent. "The judges' interview was probably the hardest part of all, " said contestant Kellie Atkins. "You were in there for only ten minutes, which seemed like an eternity."

"Junior Miss is not a beauty pageant. It's a program to give young people a chance to be recognized and a chance to use your abilities to win scholarship money to help further your education," said Meredith.

Performing for the audience during Poise and Appearance, Ladonis Toney and Cindy Bledsoe show off their evening gowns, Ladonis later on received the Poise and Appearance scholarship.

The 1987 Jr. Miss winners: Ladonis Toney (Poise and Appearance), Cindy Bledsoe (Runner-up and Scholastic achievement), Meredith Hyatt (First place and Talent), Teresa Combs (Spirit of Jr. Miss), and Marie Crawford (Physical Fitness).

Entertaining the crowd, Sally Cook and Marie Crawford performed the Physical Fitness routine. The routine was to show how physically fit the contestants were.

JR. MISS

"I had the time of my life," stated senior Meredith Hyatt. "It was a lot of hard work, but the experience is something that I'll treasure for the rest of my life."

That's how Meredith summed up her week at the state Junior Miss Pageant in Bowling Green.

All of Meredith's hard work and determination in preparing for the pageant paid off as she was included among the top ten finalists. "All through the competition, I focused on being myself and having a good time, along with doing my best," she said. "I feel honored that the judges thought I was strong enough to make it that far."

To top the week off, Meredith received the honor of Kentucky's "Spirit of Jr. Miss." "It was a special award, because it was voted on by the other contestants," said Meredith.

Representing Anderson County at the state Jr. Miss, Meredith Hyatt introduces herself to the audience.

Beaming with enthusiasm, Meredith smiles to the judges, as she performs in the Poise and Appearance category.

After being announced into the top ten, Meredith congratulates the other contestants.

After Hours

Practice makes perfect — or so they say. To achieve that aim, athletes, band members, and cheerleaders spent more time practicing than competing.

The basketball teams practiced every day except game days and weekends and started a month and a half before the first game. "During practice, the harder you practice, the better you get," said junior basketball player Spencer Bruce. "That makes it more fun."

The band practiced almost every day during school and sometimes after school. The hard work paid off when they won numerous trophies. "The very first contest was important to us," said junior xylophone player Leslie Stratton. "We won the grand sweepstakes which was very exciting. It was great!"

The percussion section marches to practice.

Sophomores Brian Gritton, Mike Ekbundit, Karen Clark and Melanie Willard rehearse for an English play.

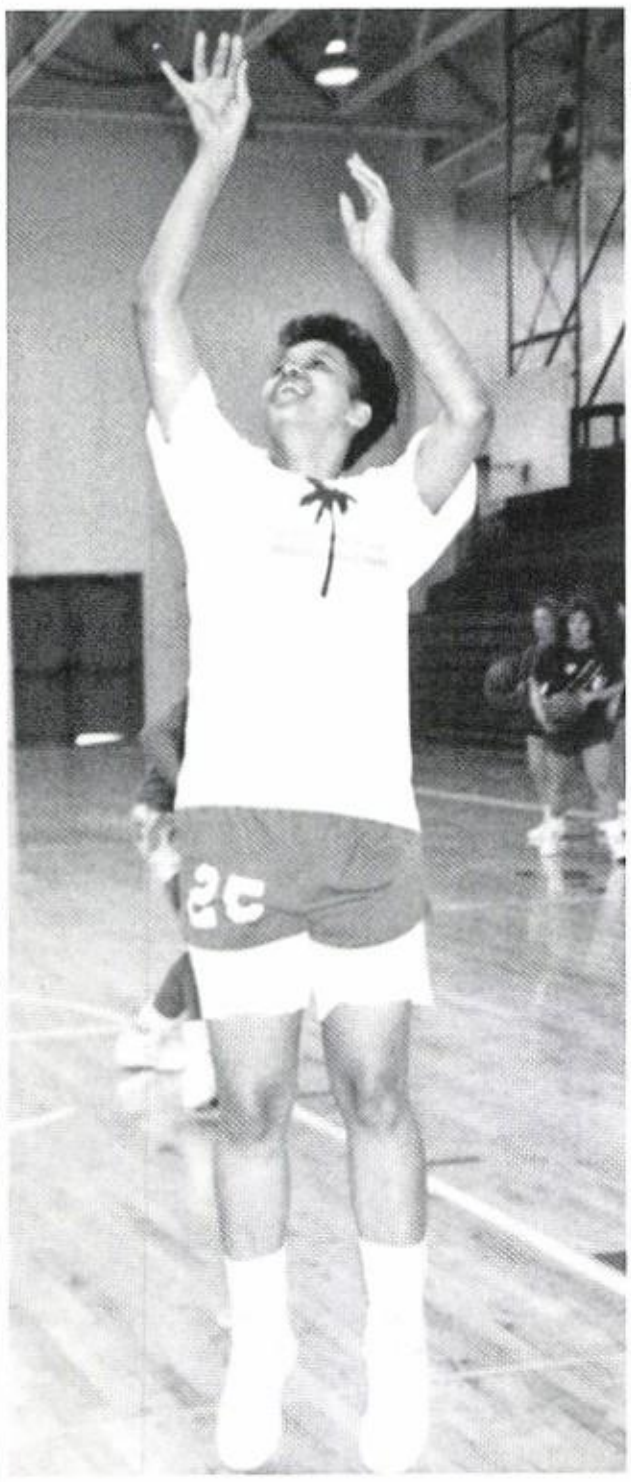
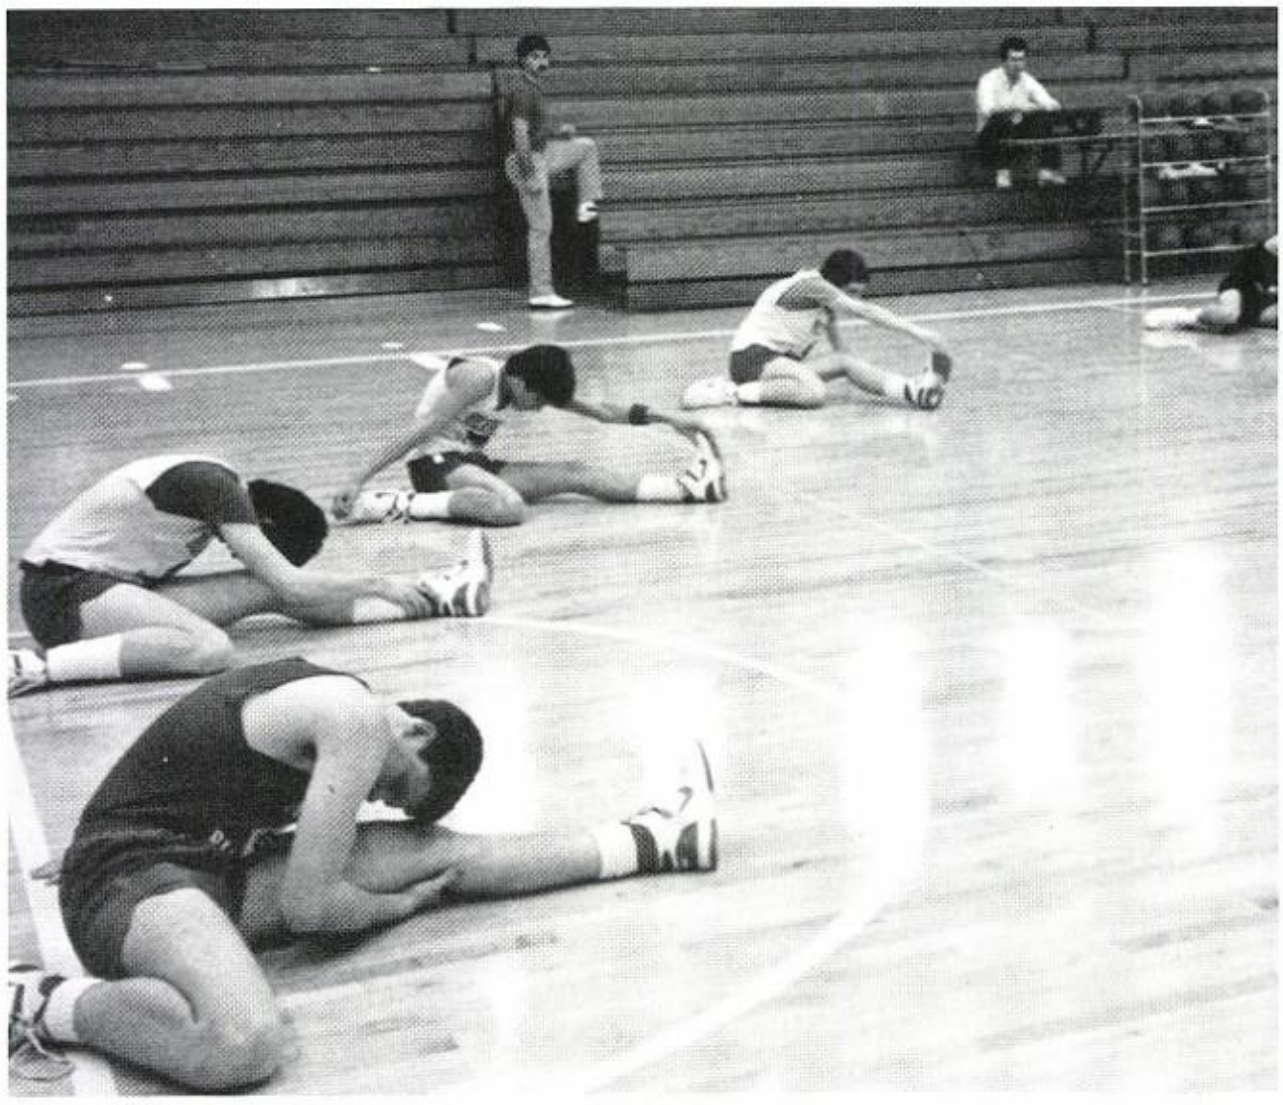
PRACTICES

Senior boys' varsity cheerleaders Meredith Hyatt, Marie Crawford, Ladonis Toney, and Kellie Atkins smooth out the rough parts of a cheer.

Juniors Leslie Stratton and Cynthia Thurman added spice to the band on their xylophones.





Stretching their legs to get loosened up, the boy's basketbll team warms up at the start of their practice.

Senior Stephanie Penny enjoys practicing her shot during a practice session.

After Hours

The SAE beach party didn't have a beach, and the guests didn't get to swim, but that didn't stop the fun!

This is the second year that the SAE club sponsored a beach party. Both years have been a blast. "The beach party is the most fun dance they have ever had and they should continue to have them," said junior Chip Atkins.

Even though it was cold outside, with all the excitement inside, it stayed warm. The entire gym was packed with people in jams and all sorts of wild outfits. Wherever you looked you saw all kinds of wild clothes — sunglasses and sailboats on the shorts, surfboards and waves on the shirts, not to mention the wild shoes, that is, the few who had on shoes. "It was one of the best dances the school had all year long," said senior Jill Carlton.

The party began at eight o'clock, and the excitement lasted until twelve.

Many of the students danced and danced and danced the whole night long, but some relaxed in lawn chairs surrounded by palm trees while getting their picture taken. "The background was very cute and realistic," said junior Brittany Sutton.

The lighting at the party was done by the Occasions. "It was some wild lighting show," said freshman April Dyke. "I hope they come back next year."

At top, Kathy Litkenhus, Ann Richmond, Alison Foye and Lisa Gritton have a fun time with friends as they take a picture.

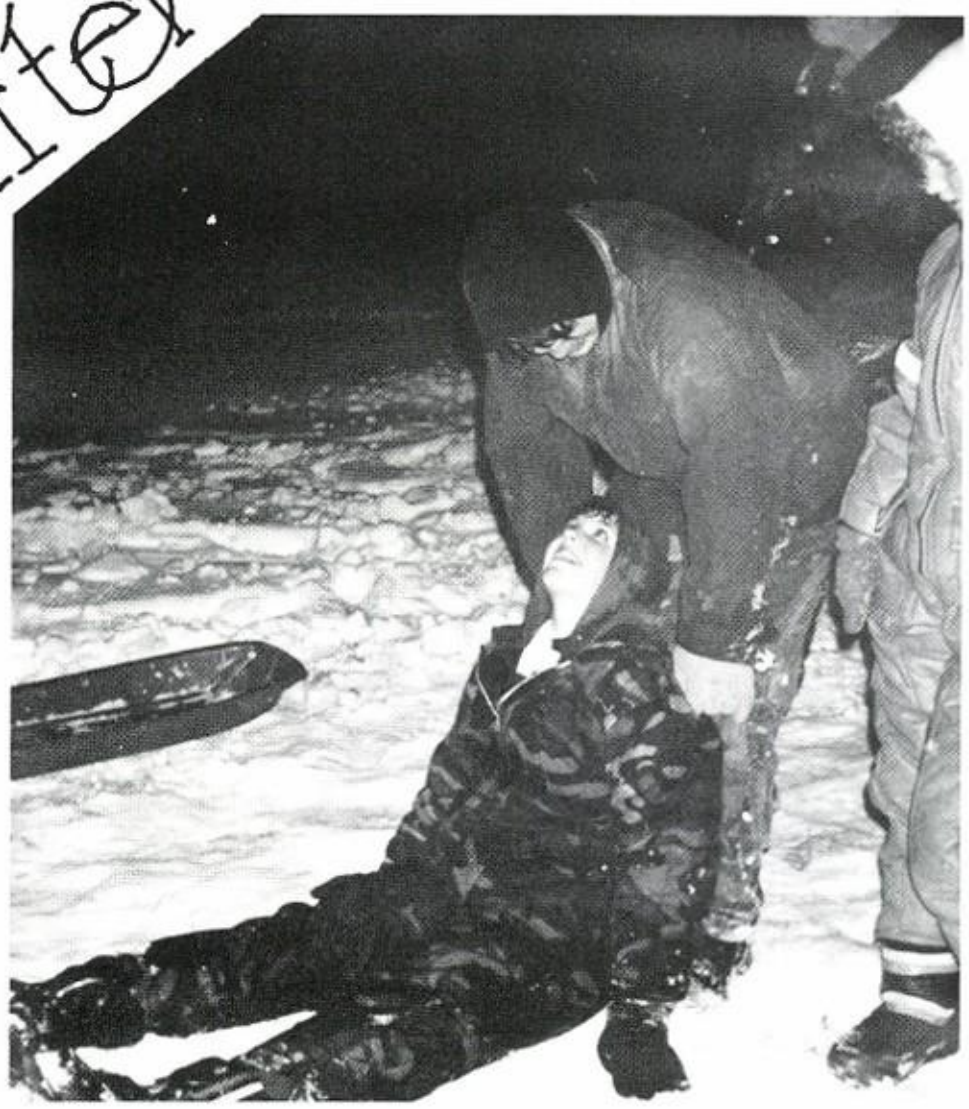
Surrounded by nearly two hundred people, sophomore Betty Jean Richmond, junior Deanna Bogie and sophomore Shae McEwen have a great time.

BEACH PARTY

There was no life guard, so senior Billy Blackburn, senior Cassy Barr, junior Matt Fitzwater, and senior Teresa Combs were very careful as they danced the night away.

Posing with their girlfriends, freshmen Wendy Hubert and Julie Fentress, are juniors John Thomas and Spencer Bruce.

After Hours



Enjoying their time out of school, sophomores Mona Sutton and Dawn Woods and junior Eric Stratton play in the snow.

It's 3:15 and junior Amy Adams is off to have some fun before going to work at Amy's School of Dance.

Eating dinner at Chi-Chi's, seniors Jennifer Hopper and Marie Crawford take time out to enjoy themselves.

Shopping for a bargain, senior Susan Woodside and junior Brittany Sutton take advantage of Sycamore's sale.

HANGIN' AROUND

You can find students hangin' around most anywhere. In the halls, during school activities, at friends' houses, and at local parking lots are the most common places to find people hangin' around.

"I like to sit in Wal-Mart parking lot and talk to friends or spend time at home with my boyfriend," said senior Julie Sutherland.

Many students will agree that spending seven days a week without hangin' around and wasting some time would be quite boring.

"After seven hours of classes," said senior Brian Renaud, "I spend my afternoons and weekends hangin' around and having fun."

Patiently holding his time card, senior Mark Metcalf waits to clock in.

Taking time out to lean back and relax, Dorris Bruce supervises late bus duty.

Hangin' around before class, these juniors talk about the day's events.

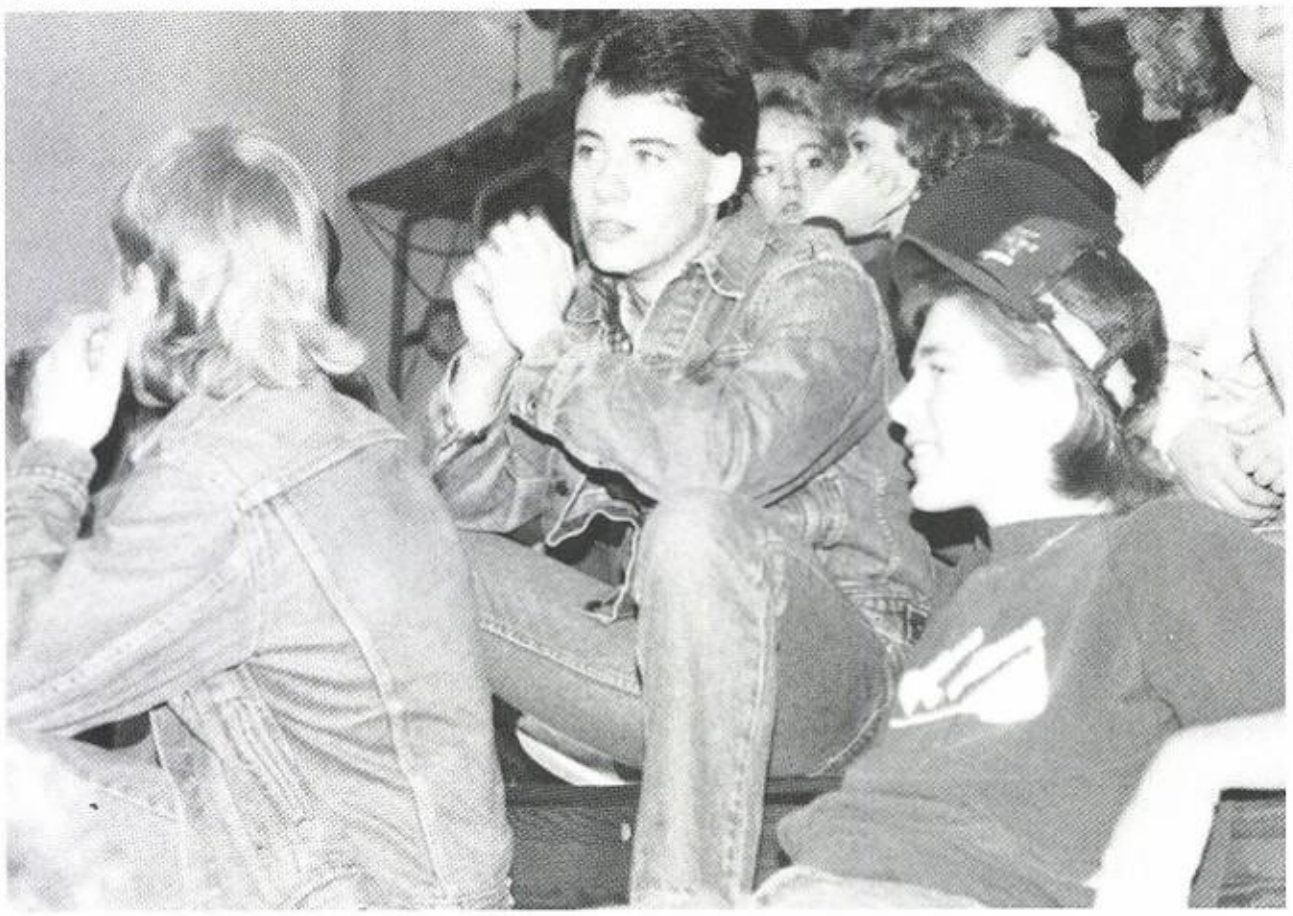
Showing her way of school spirit is freshman Lesley Buckley, a participant in the Mr. and Ms. Spirit Contest.

ALBUM

New students and teachers were what made us have a classic school.

Traditions were broken. The prom was held at the Capital Plaza Hotel and graduation was held outside.

New styles, high-top shoes, bleached jeans, bluejean shirts with rhinestones, bloochers, and Coca-cola shirts were what brought out the personality of each person.



Enjoying the chance to talk at a basketball game are middle school student Dee Hall, and juniors Teddy Moffett and Ben Isaac.

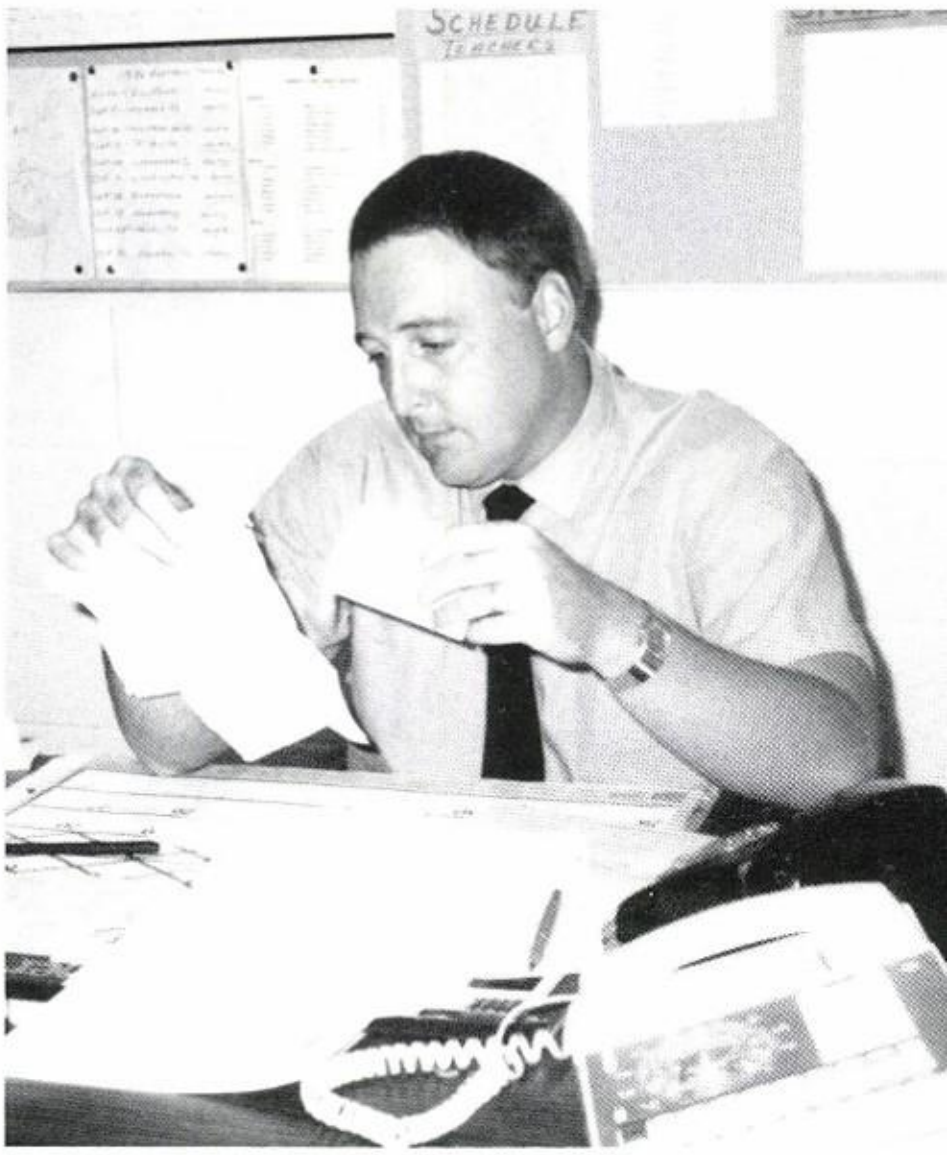
The Decision Makers

The school board has many responsibilities to face each day. They handle all of them with classic style. One important decision made this year concerning the junior class, is letting them hold Prom '87 at the Capital Plaza Hotel.

However, Mr. Larry Barnett is faced with the everyday decision of running the high school. "My job is made easier by the secretaries, assistants, faculty, and the students," Mr. Barnett said. "I have no regrets in taking this job."

Mr. Barnett's day begins at 8:00 a.m. with announcements, paperwork, and enumerable other jobs. He feels that teacher observation and evaluations are important. "I try to make suggestions to help the teachers in their classroom," he said.

The school board: Sonny Fentress, Bobby Hyatt, Gary Chilton, Tommy Cox, Dana Dahlen, J.R. Pinkston.



One of the jobs Mr. Barriger has is to give blue slips to any student who missed school for various reasons.

Judging for homeroom decorations, Mr. Sarver and Mr. Basham try to take their job seriously.

One job Mr. Barnett and Mr. Barriger have is lunchroom supervision.

During Teacher Appreciation Week, Mr. Barnett takes some cookies out of his closet to give to the teachers in the lounge.

One of Mr. Fentress' duties this year as superintendent was to crown Meredith Hyatt as Homecoming Queen.

During Mrs. Brewer's 5th period senior class, Mr. Sarver explains what college/career day is.

The Faithful Few

Amidst the bustle and all the questions, Mrs. Russell smiles and answers all them calmly. "I really enjoy being around students and faculty," said Mrs. Russell.

Despite the picky tastes of the students, the cooks do their best at making everyone happy. "This year is really sad for me," said Daphne Carter, lunchroom manager. "This senior class is the class I started working for four years ago."

The back-breaking job of cleaning up after 700 students is expertly handled by Jeff Cummins, head custodian, and Wanda Breeding, assistant custodian. They spend their day sweeping, mopping, and disinfecting to make this school clean.

Sitting quietly at her desk, secretary Joretta Russell works on th invoices and pays the school's bills.

Responsible for cleaning the upstairs, locker room, offices, study hall and library, Wanda Breeding has worked at ACHS for about 15 years.

Jeanne Wainscott is in charge of the Micro Instructional Management System or MIMS program. Here she and Mr. Barnett run off a list of objectives for the teachers.

Preparing hamburgers for the day's lunch, Catherine Sparrow and Jean Blakemen mold the meat into patties.

Aided by his wife Gladys (right), Jeff Cummins cleans the lobby area after lunch. He also sees that the concession stand is clean before the basketball games.

Freshman Randy Gillis gives his money to lunchroom manager, Daphne Carter.

A favorite pastime of Daphne Carter is to dress up for certain holidays.

Teachers Have New Ideas

Teachers at ACHS like to combine, as best they can, the new philosophies of today's teaching with the classic styles of yesterday. "Students today want to be entertained because they spend a lot of time glued to the T.V. set," said Glenda Thompson.

Laura Weatherford feels more strongly about the issue. "They feel we should entertain just the way T.V. does," she said. "It takes eight to ten times longer for information to sink in because of the lack of concentration T.V. gives them. There would be no need for homework if students would read more rather than watch T.V."

But, adding the element of entertainment is more difficult than it seems. To do this, teachers show movies more than they used to because it appeals to students, have open class discussions, and guest speakers. "Teachers have succeeded in it somewhat," said senior Victoria Woodrow. "The classes today are more interesting than they used to be and it's easier to learn when teachers add a little entertainment to their teaching."

Returning from taking students to the co-op program, Chuck Fletcher goes back to his room to relax.

Cathy Hughes advises a student to keep a file of his discs throughout the year.

Checking his notes for reassurance, Bruce Mooser continues his lecture while his students listen attentively.

Class Officers

Brian Klink was the president for the freshmen class. "It was an honor that my fellow students elected me," he said.

Brian enjoys playing basketball and was a member of the freshmen football team.

Jeremy Kays, freshman vice-president, has a lot of things he would like to change about ACHS. "I would like to have less homework and to have longer pep rallies for the football games," Jeremy remarked.

Jeremy also likes to play basketball and was a member of the freshman football team.

Freshman class secretary was Melissa Sweet. She was an active member of Co-Ed-Y, likes to dance, and was also a member of the freshman cheerleading squad.

Rachel Hibbs was the freshman class secretary. Rachel wasn't sure that she would get to hold this office. "I thought that one of the other girls would win," she exclaimed!

When she's not working, Rachel likes to read.

Freshmen responsibilites are not much. Their main objective is to watch the upperclass officers and try to get a feel for what to do next year.

This year's junior class officers were Danny Murphy, president; Chip Atkins, vice-president; Leslie Stratton, secretary; and David Cubert, treasurer.

This was Danny's second year as president. He hoped people would get more involved in different activities.

"I don't feel the president should do everything," he said. "Everyone should participate.

Danny is an active member and vice-president of Co-Ed-Y, plays the drums in band, and loves to play sports.

Chip was elected vice-president and plays varsity basketball. He would like to have longer time in between classes and more pep rallies.

Chip was a member of the French club, and FCA.

Junior secretary was Leslie. Leslie plays the piano, is a member of the tennis team, is active in band, chaplain of Co-Ed-Y, and vice-president of K.J.H.S.

Elected again as treasurer, David would like to see more school spirit among classmates. David enjoys hunting and playing football.

ANOTHER VAN GOGH?

The artwork below was drawn by Seth and is entitled "Eilean Donnan Castle on Loch Duich."

Artwork is an interesting hobby for some ACHS students, especially Seth Hibbs.

Seth has been interested in drawing for as long as he can remember.

Someday Seth hopes to make a career out of his artwork.

"I would like to do something like technical illustration or design," said Seth. "I really like the more exact mechanical drawing more than just rough sketches."

Class Officers: Melissa Cubert, Heather Brough, Millie Perry. In Front: Doug Chilton

Heather Brough was elected president of the senior class. Heather started writing her speech early in the year. "Everytime I thought of something, I wrote it down," she said.

Heather was freshman class treasurer and sophomore and junior vice president. In her free time, she likes to play basketball and ride around.

Elected as senior vice president was Doug Chilton. Doug said the one thing he wanted to change about graduation was to have it somewhere else besides the gym.

This was the first year Doug was an officer. In his free time, he likes to hunt and ride around with his friends.

Millie Perry was elected as senior secretary. "I would like to have as many seniors as possible participate in graduation," she said.

Millie is a trainer for football and a statistician for basketball. She likes listening to music, reading, and going out with her boyfriend.

Elected as senior treasurer was Melissa Cubert. This was Melissa's first time as a class officer.

"I thought it was a pleasure to be elected by the senior class," she said.

When she's not working, Melissa likes to spend time with friends and ride around.

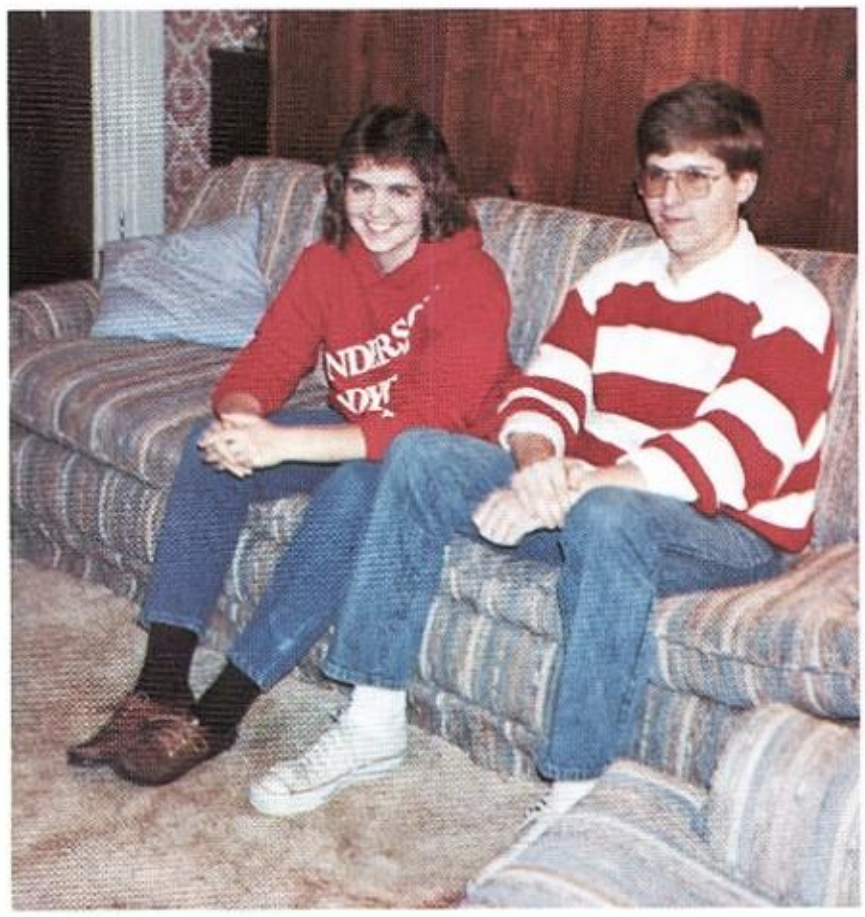
MR. AND MISS ANDERSON

Selected as Mr. and Miss Anderson were Charlie Miller and Tracy Wells. The title of Mr. and Miss Anderson is a very respected honor. The teachers chose a male and female student who best represents leadership in school as well as out of school.

Charlie has been accepted to the University of Illinois, and plans on going there. He plans to major in Aeronautical Engineering.

Tracy is planning on attending Western Kentucky University and majoring in Business Management and Marketing.

Charlie Miller
Tracy Wells



Charlie was the Voice of the Bearcats his senior year. He was also field commander his senior year. A Governor's Scholar, Charlie was captain of the math, science and humanities academic teams his senior year, as well as captain of the High-Q team.

Tracy played for the Ladycats all four years of high school. She got the most assists award her senior year. She also was the President of the Beta Club her senior year.

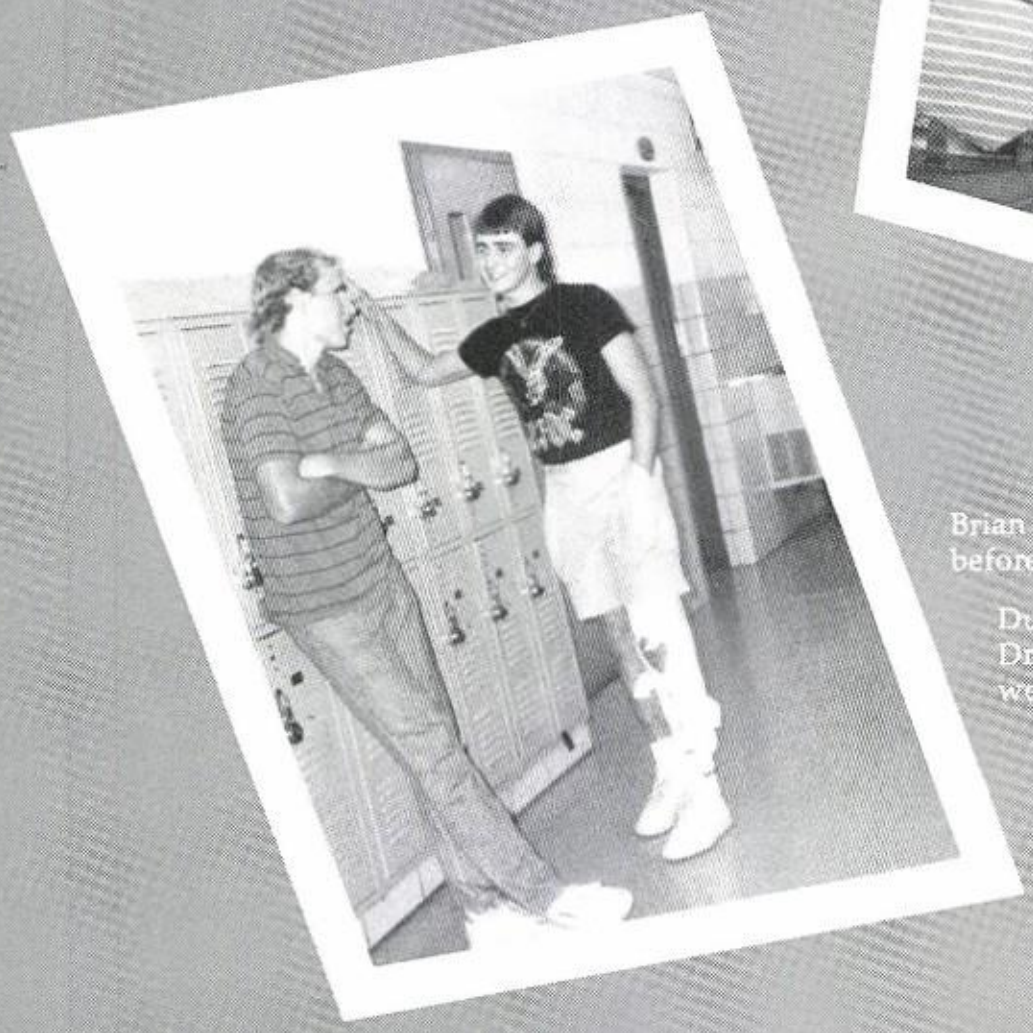
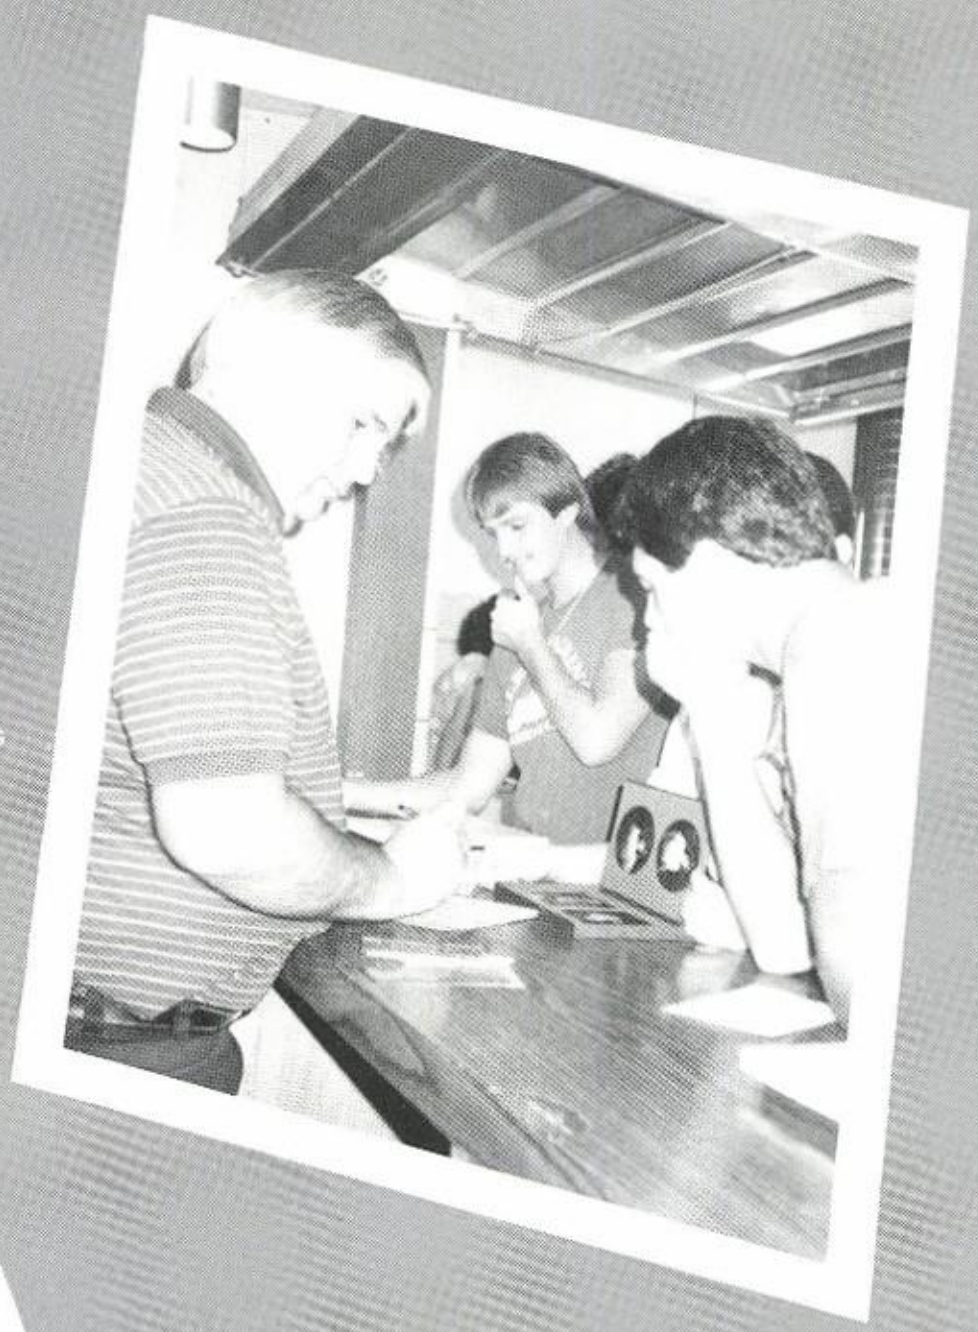
Before the Homecoming football game, Andrea Boggs and her mother smile at the camera while waiting to walk on the field for the senior recognition ceremonies.

Staci Bell and Melanie Shouse have a chance to talk before sixth period concert band starts.

BREAK

While Robbie Isham pays his bill to Mr. Logue, Allen Yocum decides what picture to have in the yearbook.

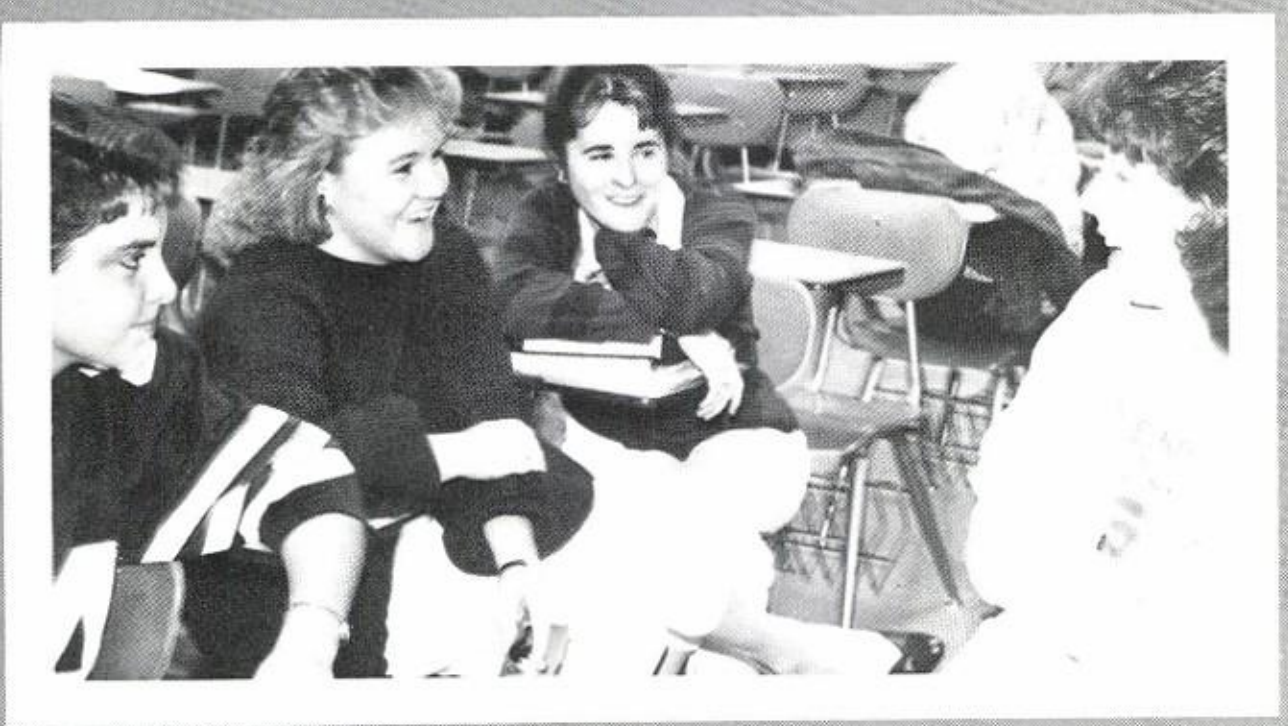


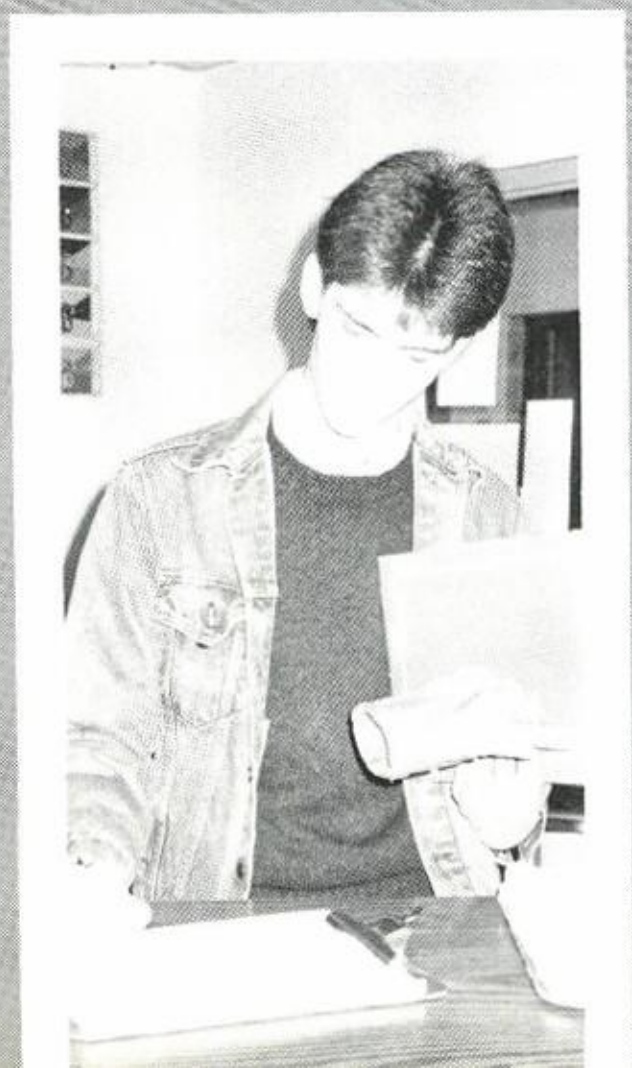


Brian Renaud and David Cornish discuss David's football injury before their next class.

During Monday morning homeroom, Jill Carlton, Lori Drury, Melissa Donnell, and Heather Brough discuss their weekend activities.

Suffering from senioritis, Andy Zoppf shows one of the symptoms by checking out of school.





King's Island: Fun together for the last time

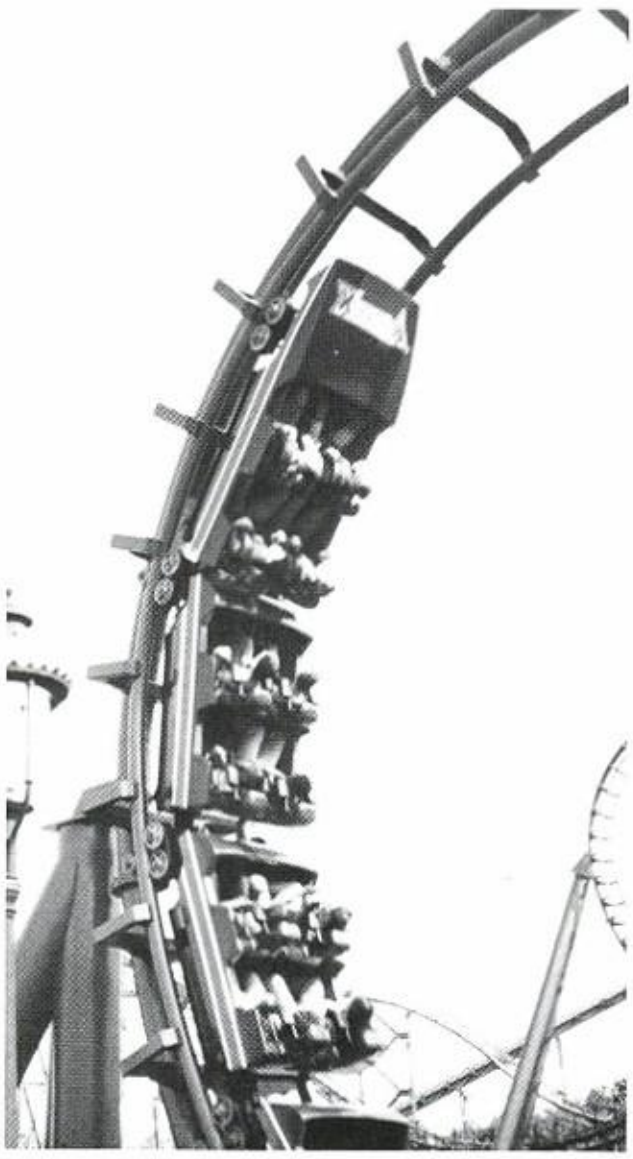
The senior trip to King's Island was probably the last time, except for Baccalaureate and graduation, that the seniors would be together as a group.

The seniors took the trip on May 22, the Friday before graduation.

The weather was good and the lines weren't very long, so the seniors got to ride just about anything they wanted.

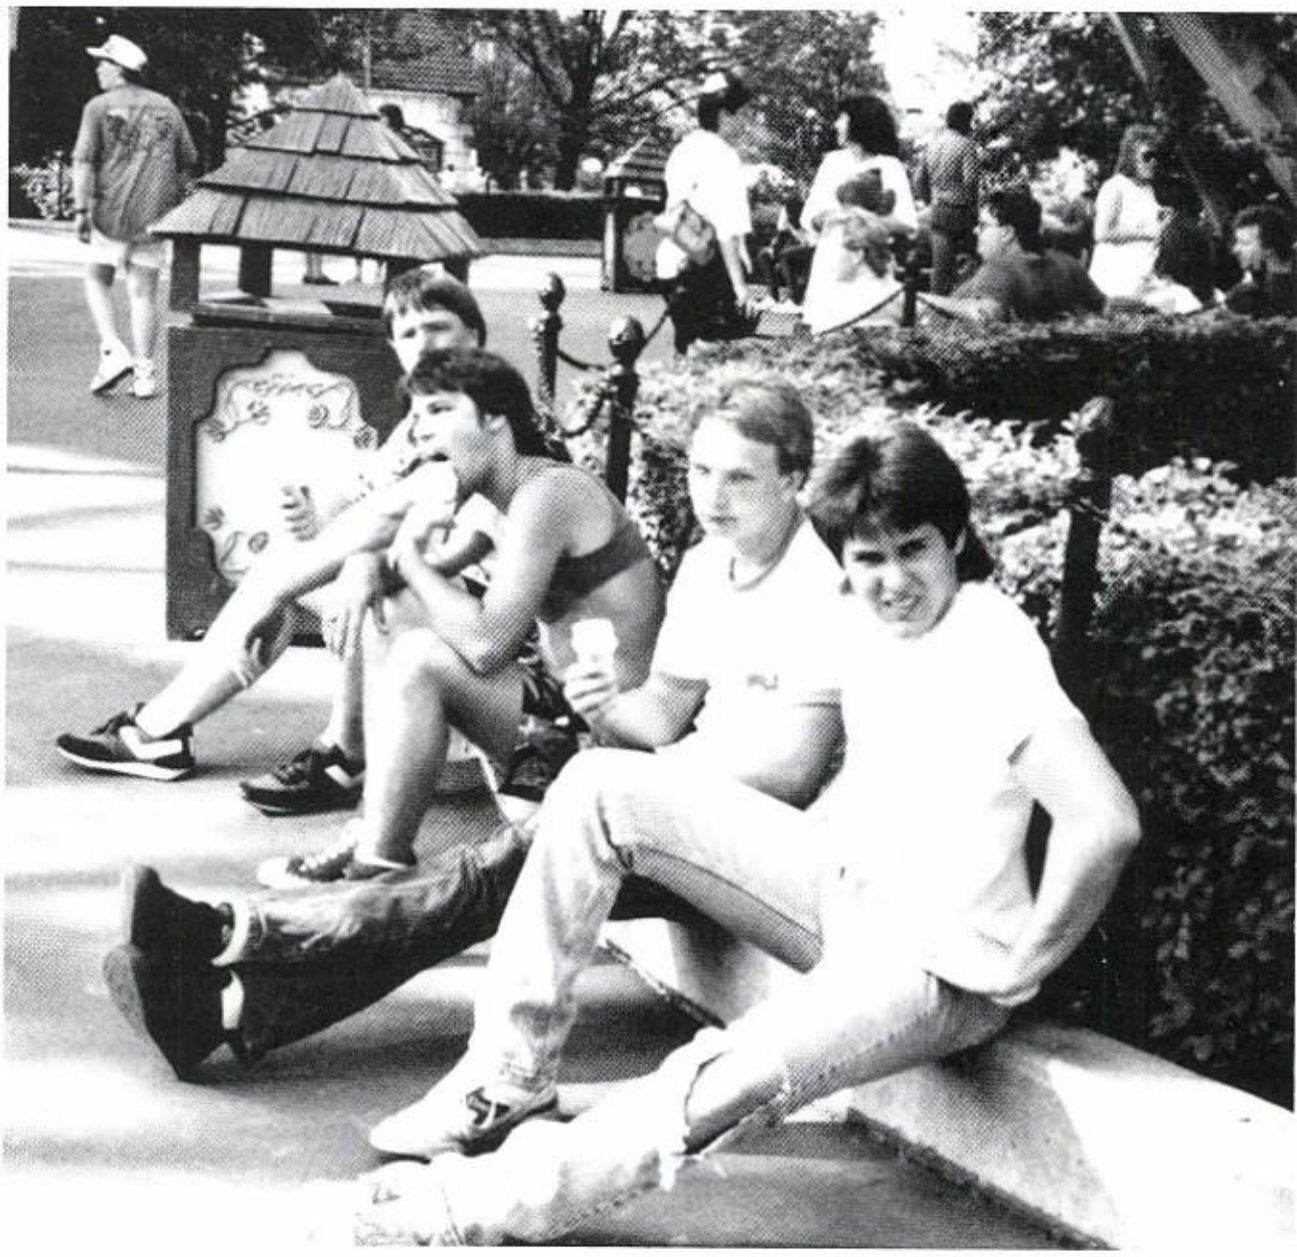
"I was glad there weren't many people there," said Cassy Barr, "because we got to ride just about anything."

While some seniors enjoyed the rides, others enjoyed walking around or playing games. "My mom told me not to ride any rides before I left," said Heather Brough, "but once I got there I couldn't resist. I rode the Vortex five times!"



One of the most popular rides at King's Island was the new ride the Vortex. After dropping twelve stories, the roller coaster does six loops. "The first drop is what gets you," said Bert Steelman.

Getting ready to ride the Vortex, alumnus Lynn Wells, and seniors Melissa Cubert, Rusty Sayre, and Matthew Carlton forget about being nervous by smiling at the camera.



Sitting down to eat ice cream, Stan Hardin, Dustin Curtis, Tyler Hill, and Mark Ripley enjoy the shade.

At the beginning of the White Water Canyon, Cindy Bledsoe and Cassy Barr get ready to get drenched.

Waiting to get their tickets outside the park, Stacy Wells and Lisa Gibson pose with Yogi Bear.

Taking a break from all the rides, Ben Puckett and Andy Zopff try to keep cool.

Under the rainbow at Hanna Barbera Land, Marie Crawford, Sally Cook, Ann Richmond, and Kathy Litkenhus stop and talk.

The beginning . . . Baccalaureate

To mark the beginning of graduation ceremonies, the seniors went through Baccalaureate.

Baccalaureate was held at First Baptist Church on Sunday, May 24 at 8:00. Rev. Elgin Emmons, English teacher and the pastor at Lawrenceburg United Methodist Church, delivered the Baccalaureate sermon. With his comical references to the classroom, the seniors seemed to understand his message.

"I think that Mr. Emmons was chosen to preach because of sentimental reasons," said Mr. Barnett, "since he was a teacher and it was his last year."

The advanced and regular choruses sang "Friends" and "The Lord's Prayer." "I didn't think I would cry," said senior Debbie Miller, "but listening to the words the chorus was singing made it all seem real."

Listening attentively to Mr. Barnett's instruction, Carmen Monteiro and Ladonis Toney begin to get nervous about marching in.

With the chorus and speakers looking on, the seniors begin to fill the empty pews.

Strutting down the aisle, Kristin Jevne and Jon Melloan get ready for the real thing at Baccalaureate practice on Thursday.

As Mr. Barnett and Mr. Barriger give final instructions on how to march in, the seniors listen so they won't mess up.

Getting ready For the big day

Having graduation outside changed everything all around. The seniors and Mr. Barnett had to find out new ways to use the microphones and set up the stage and chairs.

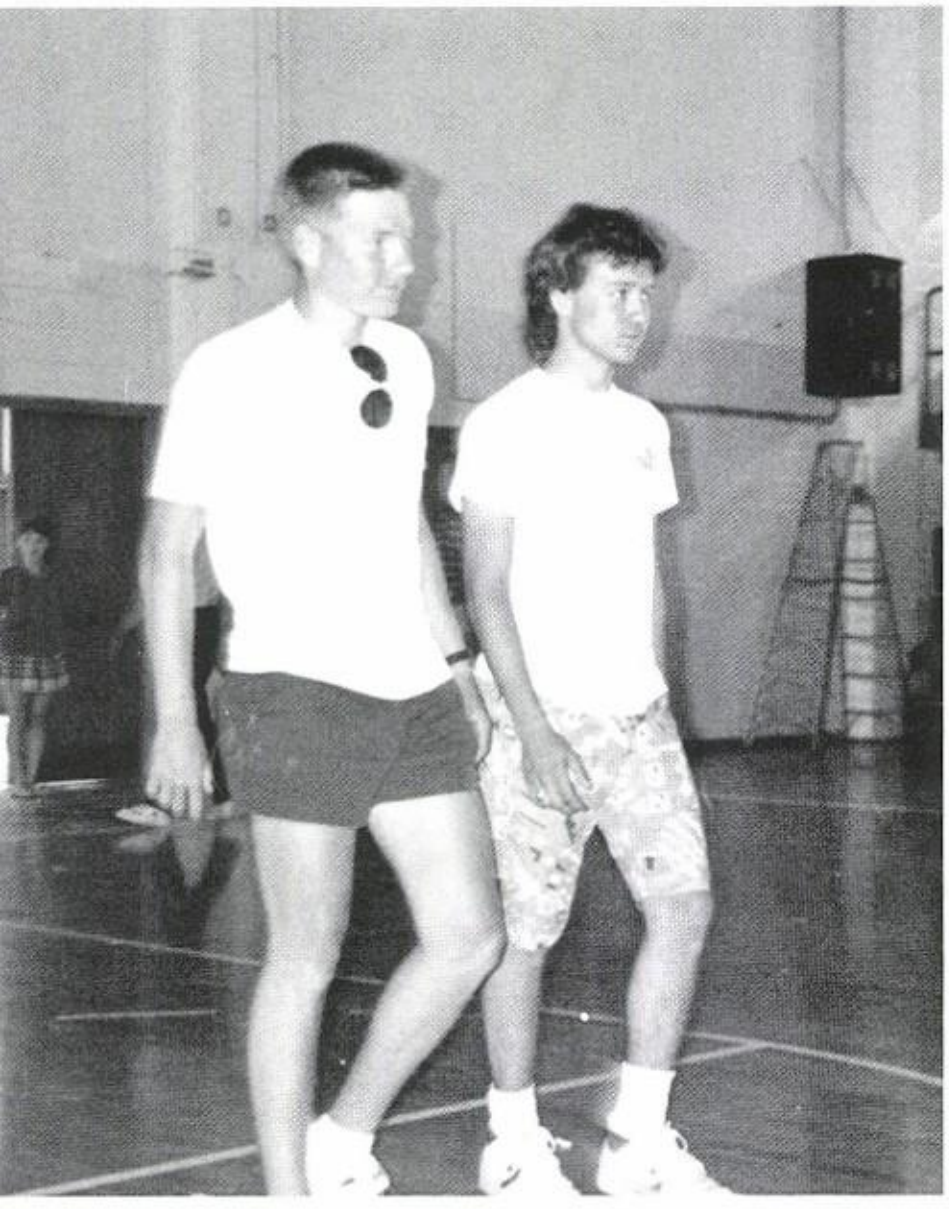
Thursday before graduation and the morning of graduation, some seniors helped on setting up almost 600 chairs for graduates and parents, and the stage. "Setting up the chairs took a long time," said senior Sandra Padgett, "because each chair had to be in a perfect row."

Tuesday and Thursday the seniors practiced for graduation. Tuesday they practiced inside because the weatherman predicted rain for Friday.

But on Thursday, the sky started to clear up and graduation was being set up for outside. The seniors' dream had come true . . . Graduation would be outside!

Setting up chairs, Lisa Ashcraft and Billy Blackburn try to keep each one straight.

Mr. Frazier from Balfour measures Tara Burton for her cap. This was the first year Mr. Frazier measured for caps and gowns.



Marching in during practice, Timmy Baker and David Boggess try to get their steps down pat.

While getting ready for graduation, Millie Perry, Heather Brough, Carmen Monteiro, Doug Chilton, Jason Denny, and Andrea Boggs keep cool under the sprinkler.

Graduation: A day all seniors waited for

Finally, May 29 had arrived. And it wasn't raining. It was a perfect day for the class of '87.

Although some seniors had arrived at school early to put final touches on the decorations, by 7:15 or so all the seniors were at school ready to graduate.

For the first time in ACHS history, the seniors made their way to the football field for graduation ceremonies. "It felt great being outside," said senior Cindy Bledsoe. "It would have been so hot in the gym."

After the seniors marched in, Doug Chilton, class vice-president, gave the welcoming speech. "Some of you will work for a living, some will go to the military, some will go to college and some will get married," he said. "But if you're lucky like me, you can smooch off your parents for the rest of your life." Even though Doug's speech was humorous, there were still tears going down his face, as well as the faces of the seniors.

After the presentation of awards, which included Billy Blackburn's 13-year perfect attendance and Cassy Barr's 4.0 grade point average all through high school, Heather Brough, class president, gave the farewell speech. As she fought through tears, she talked about the friends she had made during high school and about the friends the class had lost, especially Lyn Tucker who died this year.

After Mr. Barnett and Mr. Fentress presented each senior with their diploma, the time had come that all the seniors had waited for. Mr. Barnett told the seniors to turn their tassels. They were now graduates of Anderson County High School.

The first row of seniors remain standing as the others march in.

During graduation, Lori Bowen and Lara Brock talk about old times.

Giving the farewell speech, class president Heather Brough thanks her parents.

Principal Larry Barnett congratulates Binoj George as he accepts the Woodford Porter Scholarship.

As he gives the opening speech, class vice-president Doug Chilton gets the crowd going by making them laugh.

Listening to the song that Meredith Hyatt sings, Kevin Dean thinks of saying goodbye to his classmates.

Making his way to his seat, Wayne Hawkins marches in to meet his partner.

Pictures Galore At Graduation

Entering alphabetically, these seniors whose names begin with C and D, make their way onto the football field.

Although a joyous occasion, graduation still had a serious impact on Dave Woods, Bud Taylor, and Ann Richmond.

The ceremonies over and hats shed, Meredith Hyatt and Darrin Willard share in the excitement of graduation.

Receiving congratulations from Mr. Barnett, Tony Simpson accepts a certificate from Countryside Motors for a $1,000 scholarship.

Although she shed tears of joy, Stephanie Penny also shed tears of sorrow to leave behind friends like LaStacia Hahn she had made while playing basketball.

Hats going into the air in front of the graduation theme sign "We Must Say Goodbye" signify the end of graduation.

Dressing Quarter Pounders is just one of the many things that senior Mark Metcalfe does at McDonald's.

ADS

Although West Park Shopping Center was still new in years, it seemed like the classic place to hang out.

Classic businesses, like Eugene's Gallery, had a new look by changing their location, and by selling their delicious frozen yogurt.

We all needed these places to survive, whether they were for our jobs, or just for enjoyment.

"Having a job that you like is important," said senior Ladonis Toney. Ladonis and junior Alison Briscoe practice what they teach at Amy's School of Dance.

The Professions of Life

No matter which occupation you choose, there are some common denominators needed for all: honesty, integrity, dedication, pride in your work, and the courage to accept a challenge. These values are as necessary today as they were when this country was but a dream. For they are what made the dream come true. They are the professions of life.

We at McDonald's® wish you success in life, as well as in the field of endeavor you choose.

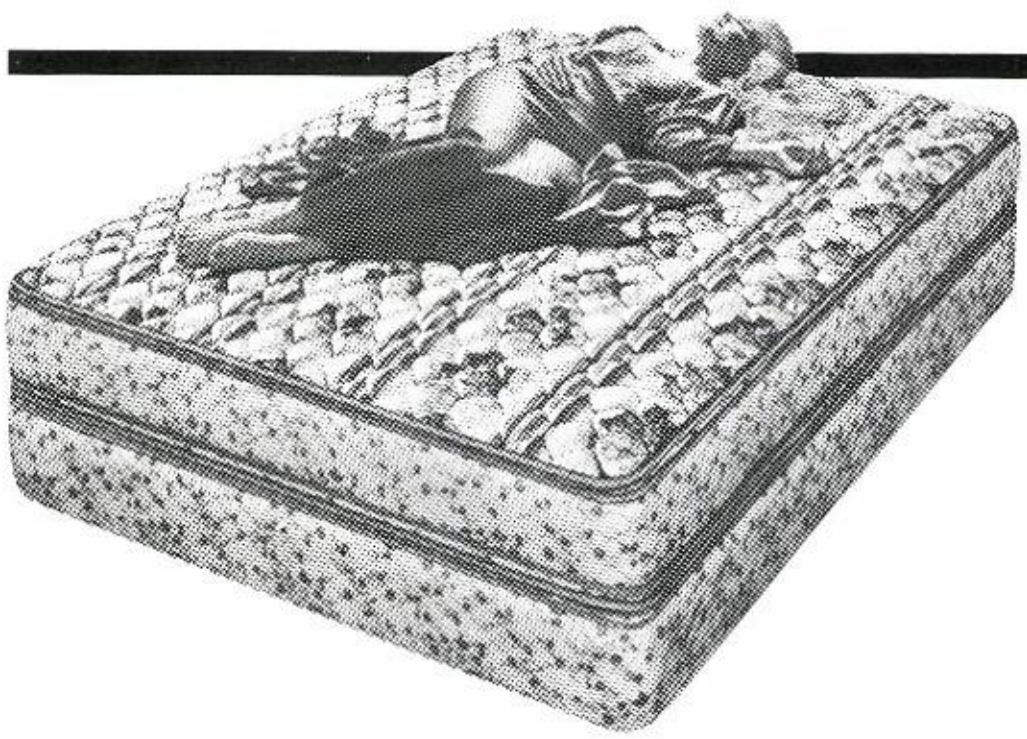
THE NIGHT VOYAGE™ BACK SUPPORTER® MATTRESS



Check it out!

Only the Spring Air Back Supporter has these five important health and comfort features:

- ✓ Exclusive Adapta-Flex springs–respond to the gentlest touch, yet give extra support as pressure increases.
- ✓ Special pivot-hinge construction–so springs act independently for individual support.
- ✓ Alternating right- and left-turn springs–to prevent mattress lean and sag.
- ✓ Unique Health Center™–provides extra support where you need it most, between neck and knees where 70% of your body weight rests.
- ✓ Endorsed by orthopedic surgeons–as an aid to healthful sleep.

Bearcats
We've Gotcha Covered!

By Don White

As a former math teacher, Anderson County Superintendent Sonny Fentress was quick to sum up why the local school system ranked 20th out of 180 districts on results of the Kentucky Essential Skills Test (KEST).

"It's really quite simple," he said, "good teachers working on a sound program with good students equals good results."

By John Herndon

It wasn't supposed to be easy. It was, as in Anderson County 34. Western Hills 12.

The Anderson County Cross Country Team chalked up victories in two big meets last week to open their season. The Officers of the senior class at Anderson High School this year are, from left: Heather Brough, president; Doug Chilton, vice president; and Melissa Cubert, treasurer. Secretary Millie Perry was absent.

ACHS senior class officers

New Faces Old Places CANDIDS

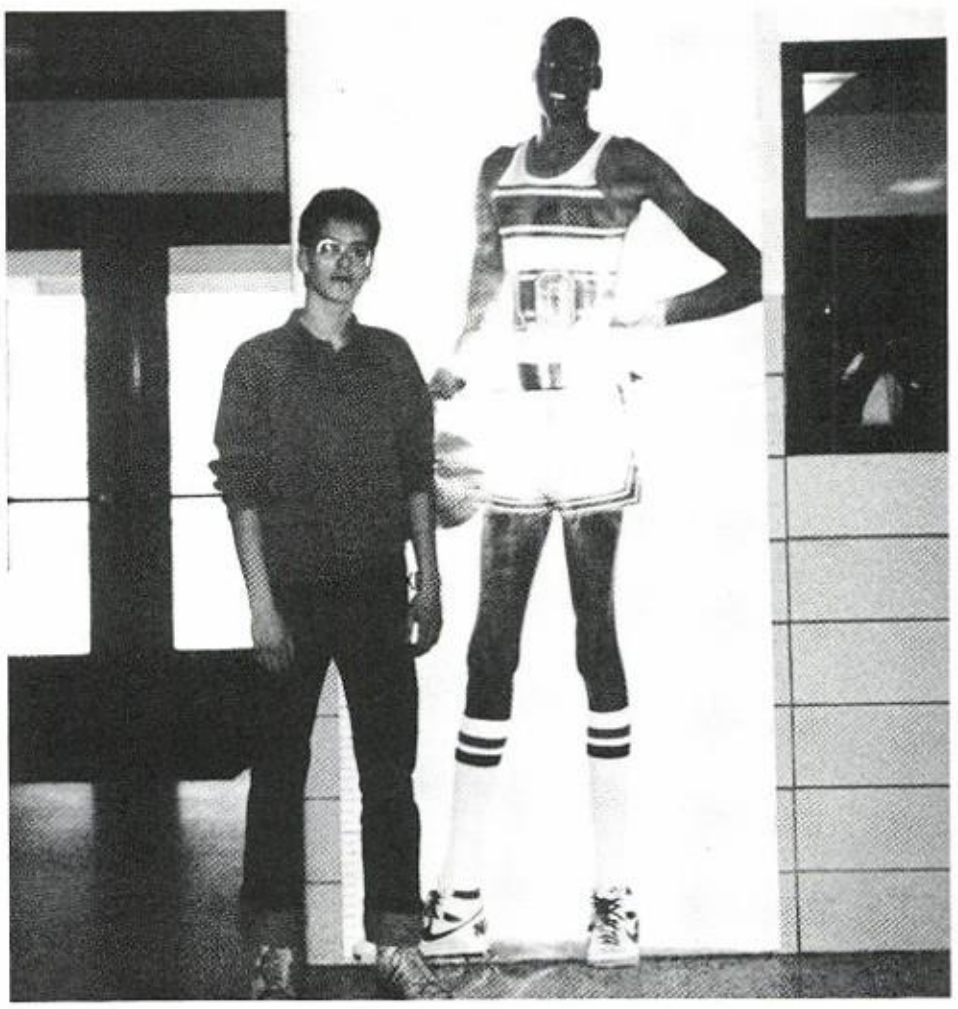
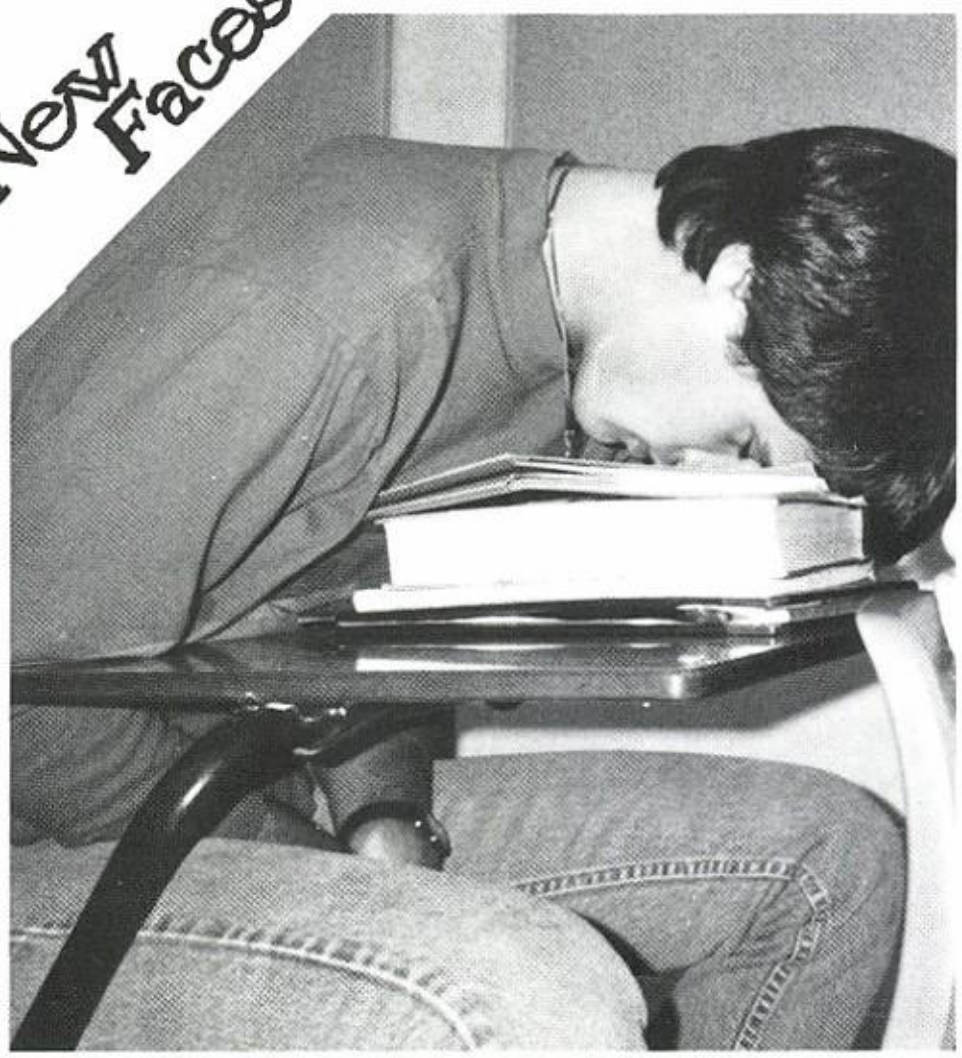
To see just how tall he really is, Jan-Peter Kaiser stands next to a poster of Bullet's player Manute Bol.



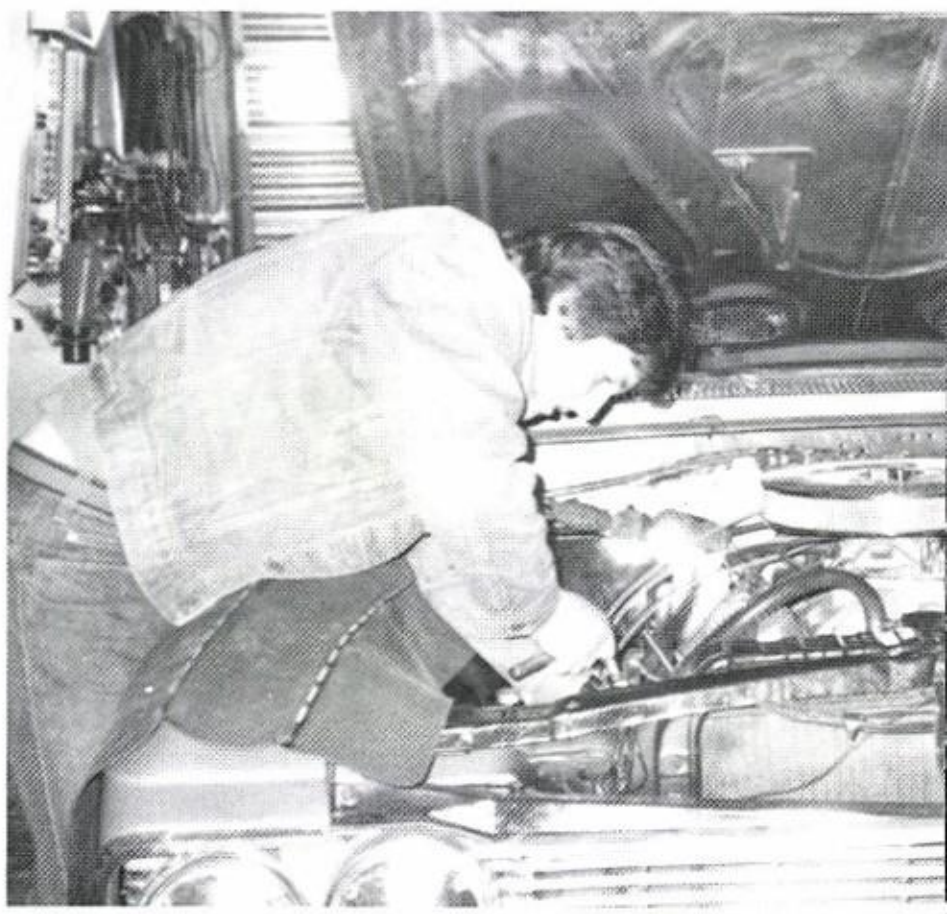
In Health Careers class Lisa Ashcraft helps Sally Cook in a skit to demonstrate how to "dangle" a patient in bed.

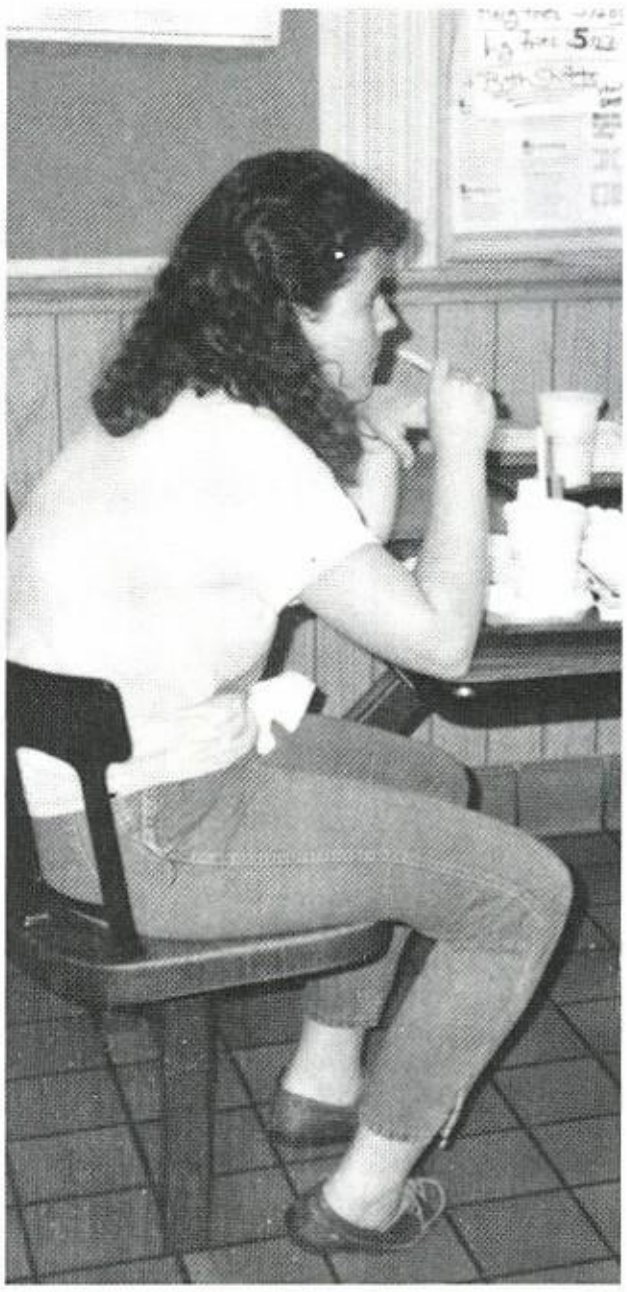
Juniors Shelley Chrisman, Margaret Boblett, and Brittany Sutton take time out in between classes.

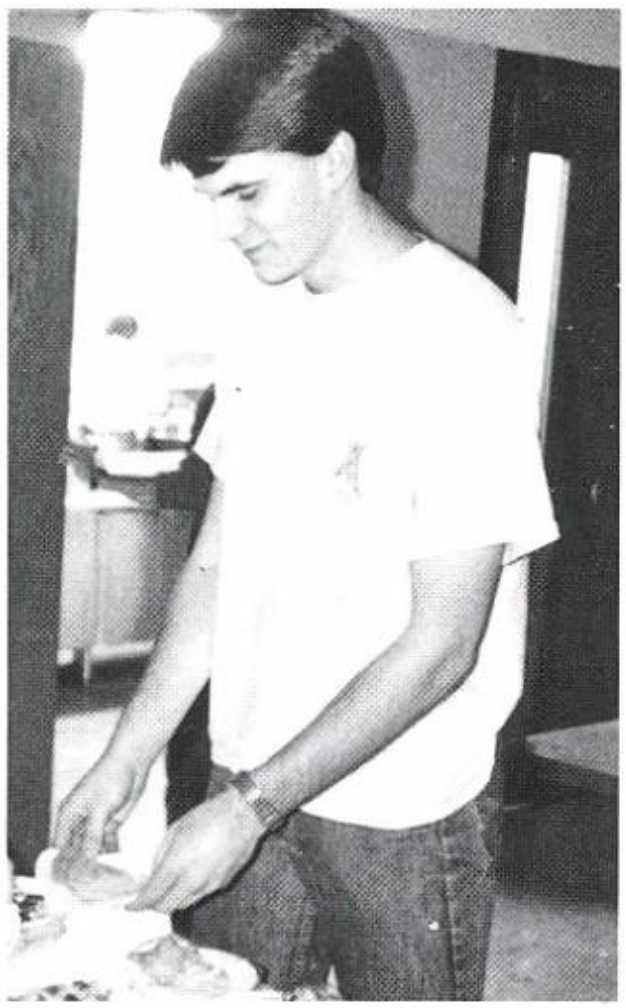
New Faces / Old Places

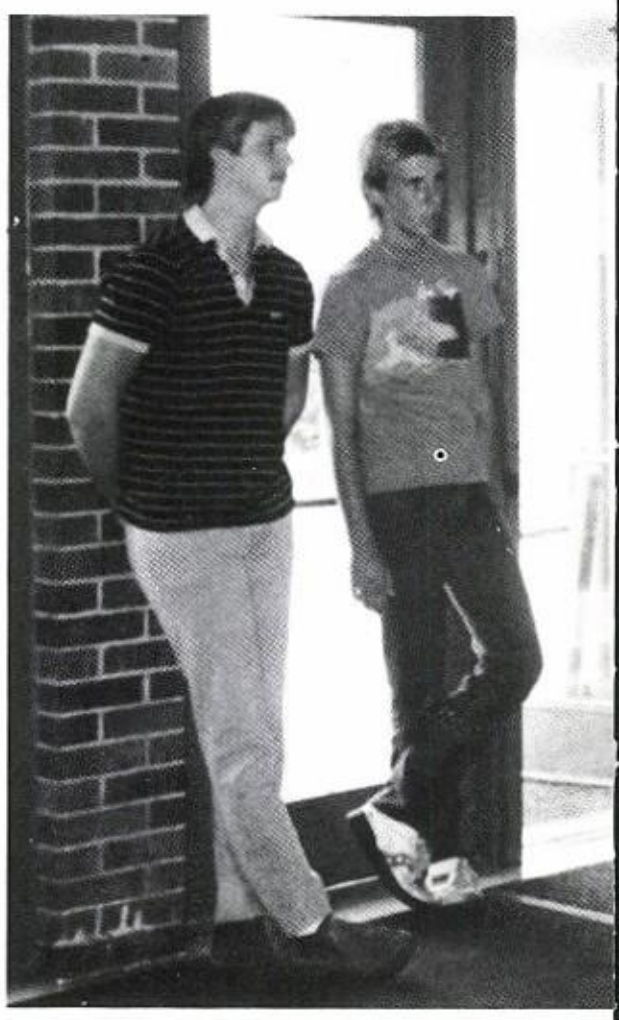


A long weekend finally catches up with junior Chip Atkins on Monday morning.









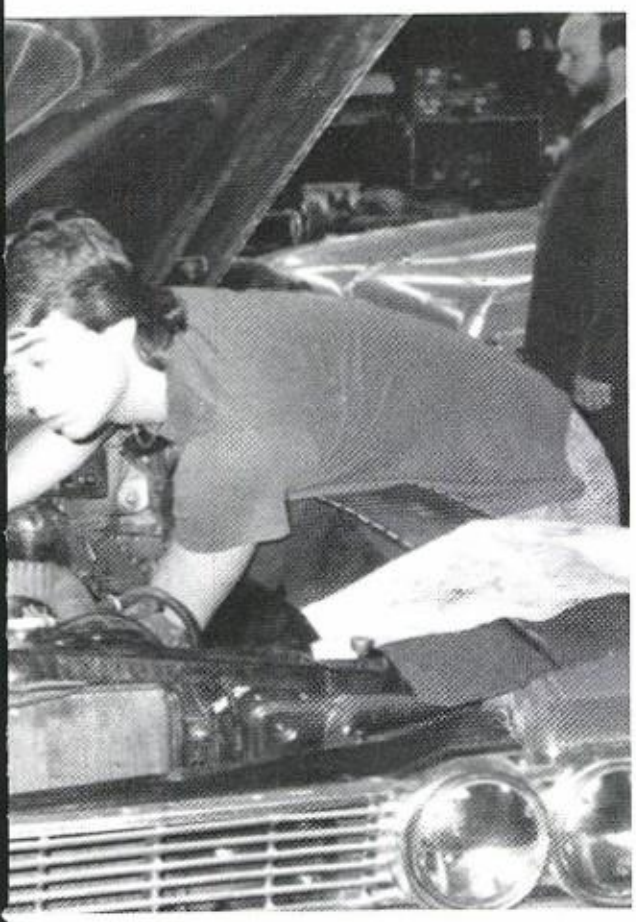
Preparing for the Beta Club spaghetti dinner, junior John Wilson places pies on a table.

Taking time during lunch, senior Allen Yocum and junior Mike Smith make plans for the weekend.

Waiting for friends after a ballgame, senior Debbie Miller enjoys McDonald's food.

CANDIDS

Earning a grade at vocational school, juniors Anthony Goodman and Bill Crawford work on a Chevelle.



During carpentry class at vocational school, seniors Brian Jones, David Gaines and Gary Smith survey for laying boundary lines.

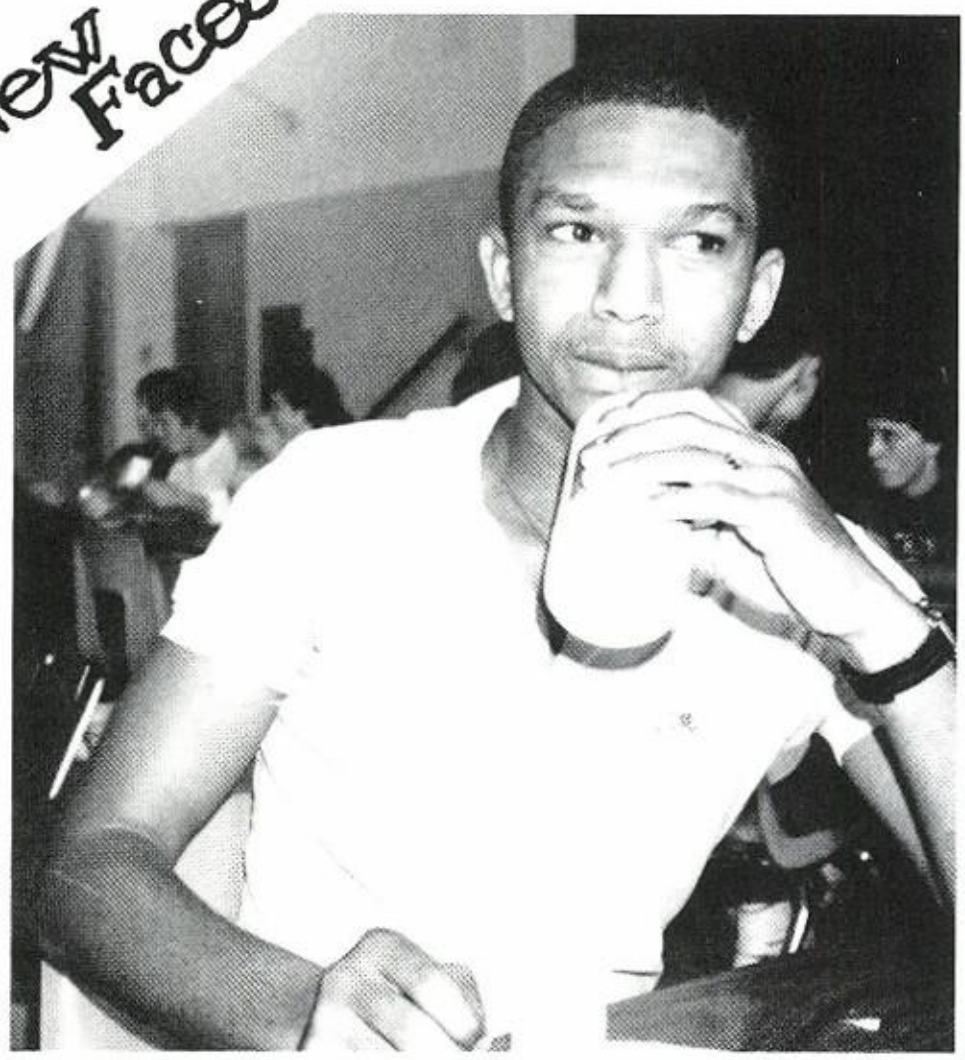
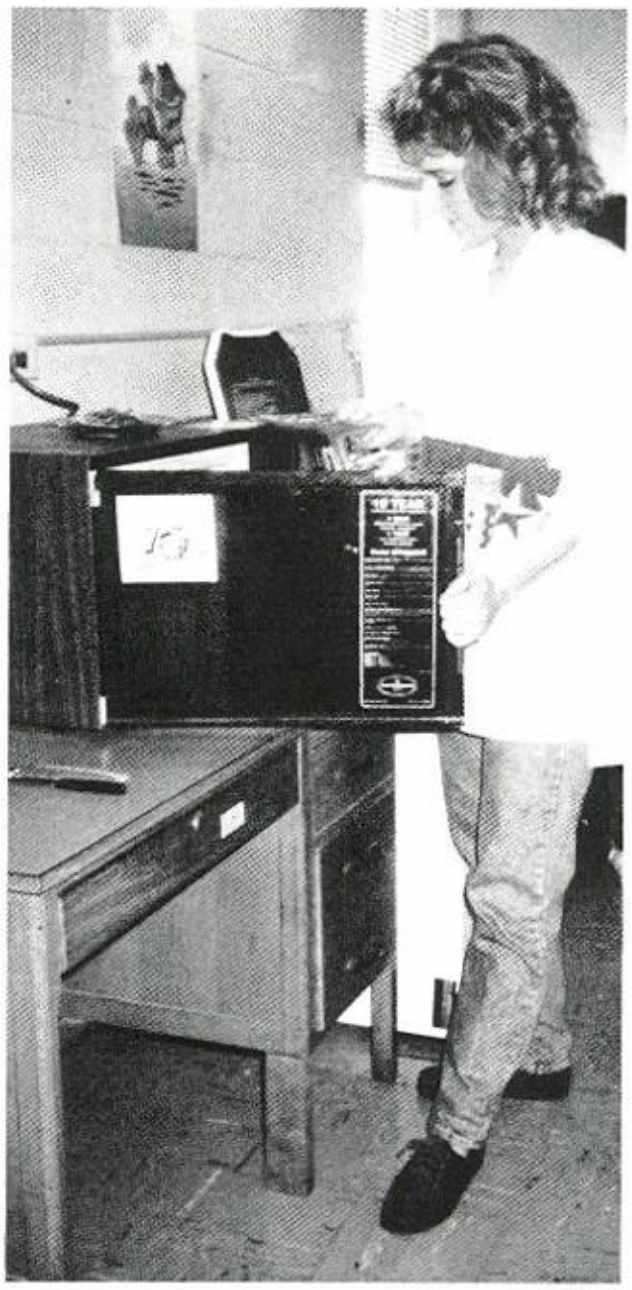
Reaching high, senior Tony Puckett, junior Chris Morgan and senior Matthew Carlton take aerobics during first period Advanced P.E.

New Faces / Old Places



The cool taste of Hi-C pleases junior Danny Murphy, while taking his lunch break with his friends. Danny is this year's junior class president.

Mr. Basham discusses an insurance policy with friend Denny Warford as Mr. Reinle gives his opinion on the policy.



Senior Kellie Atkins uses the microwave in the home ec room to warm up her cookies.

Taking a rest from flag practice are sophomore Lea Hayden, senior Ruthie Trent, and sophomore Kelley Hayes.

During Homecoming week, freshman David Robinson and sophomore Todd Bryant try to get attention by putting pompons on their heads.

CANDIDS

Clowning around, juniors Chris Wells and Jeff Gaines have fun while with the home ec class at Silks in the Radison.

Standing in the back, seniors Ladonis Toney and Heather Brough do their part during the French Christmas carol sing.

Trying to get her drafting job done right, junior Tammy Hart asks for Mr. Owens' help.

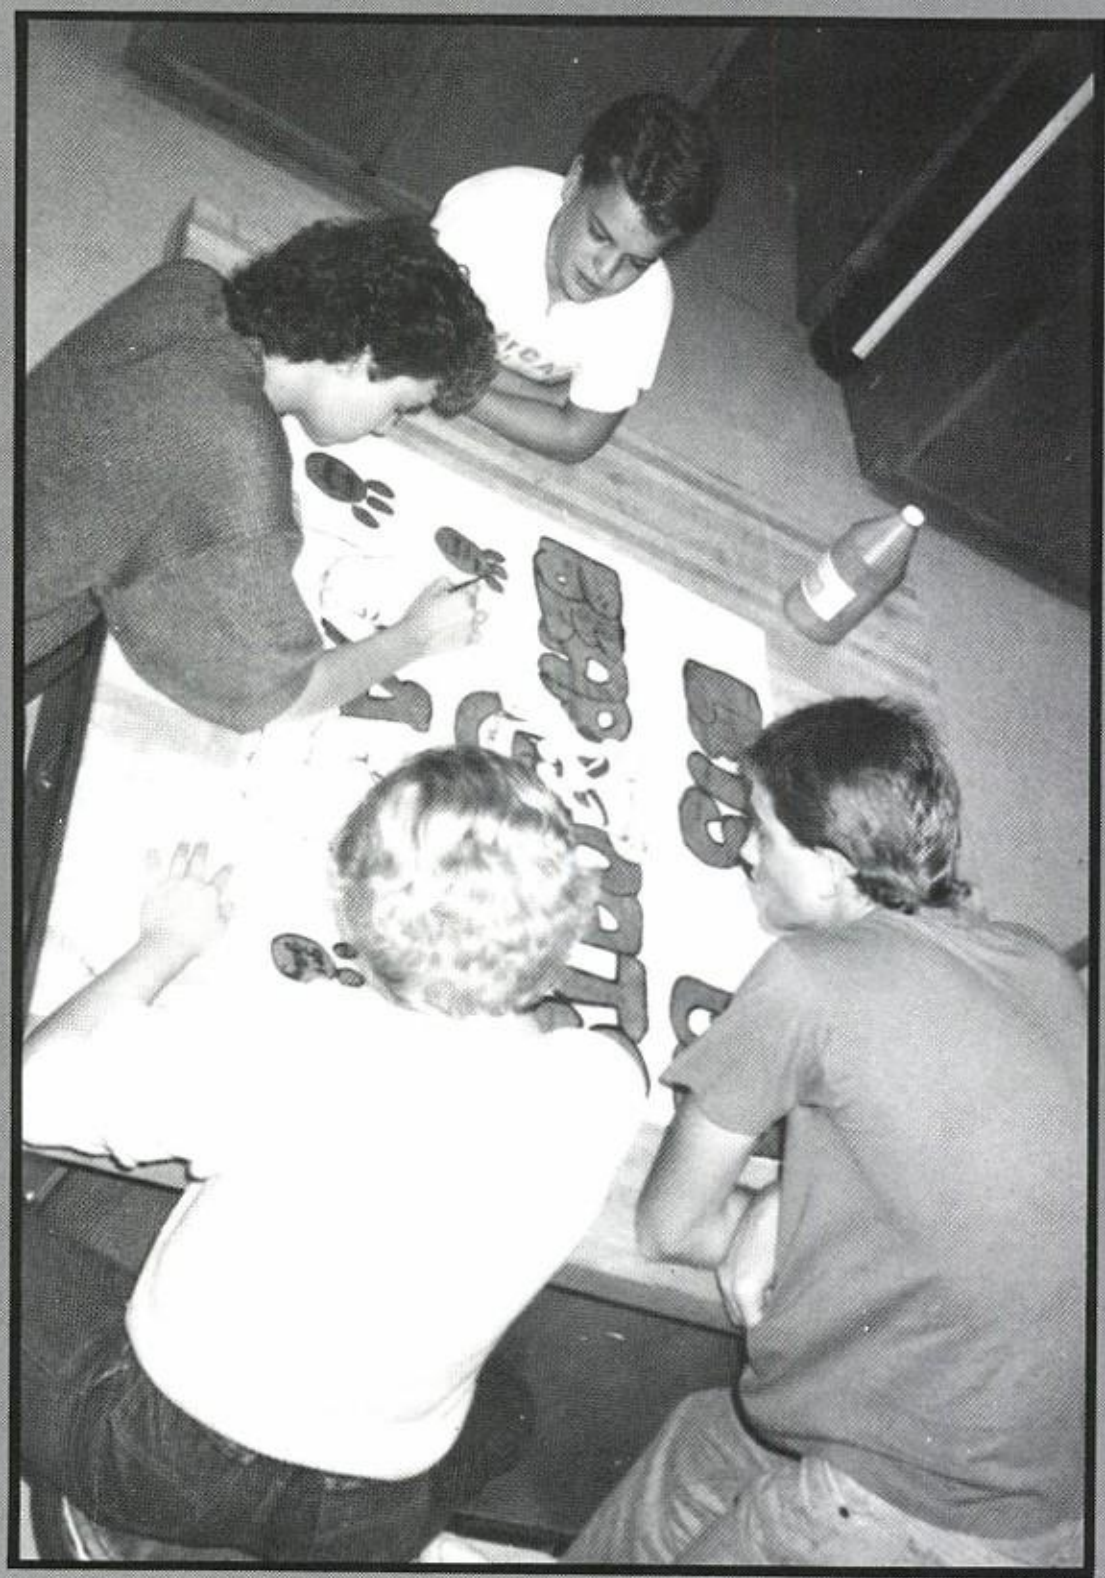
Working hard, junior Ryan Finnell does his English in Mrs. White's sixth period class.

INDEX



A Work of Art

Supporting the Bearcats, freshmen Matthew Etherington, April Dyke, Chris Matthews, and junior Brad Buntain prepare a spirit sign for the Homecoming pep rally.

Weights & Measures

Sophomore Denise Dennis measures out the correct amount of kilograms to water in her Chemistry I class.

A New/Classic Year Ends

Red • White • & • You
Some things classic;
Some things new.

A new year comes to a classic close.
A time for new change and a time to grow.

As the year went along,
We experienced new things.
New friends, new classes,
New teachers and new dreams.

The new paintings by art students
Added life in the hall.
There were band instruments and balloons
And players of basketball and football.

New baseball coaches
Added to a classic season.
With a winning record,
The players didn't need to know the reason.

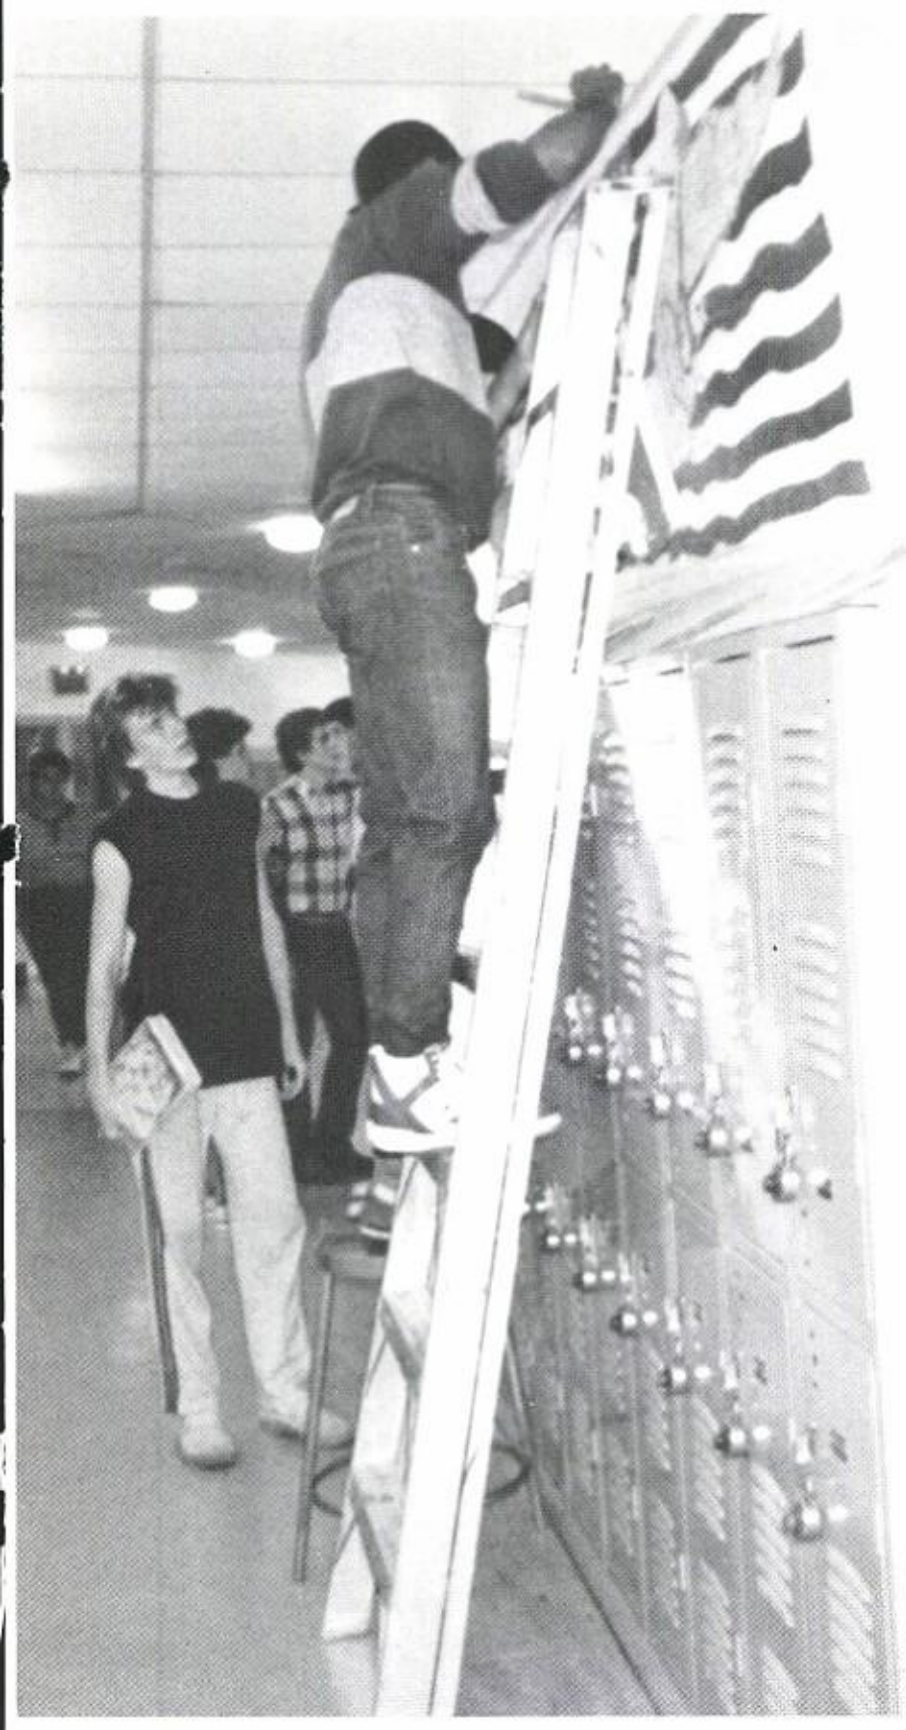
The yearbook staff
Had to deal with classic deadlines.
Even at half staff
They still managed to finish close to time.

A touch of senioritis
Spread during the last few weeks of school.
Checking out was the cure,
Even if parents didn't think it was cool.

It had been just the beginning.
It was classic and new.
Now it's over;
This year is through.

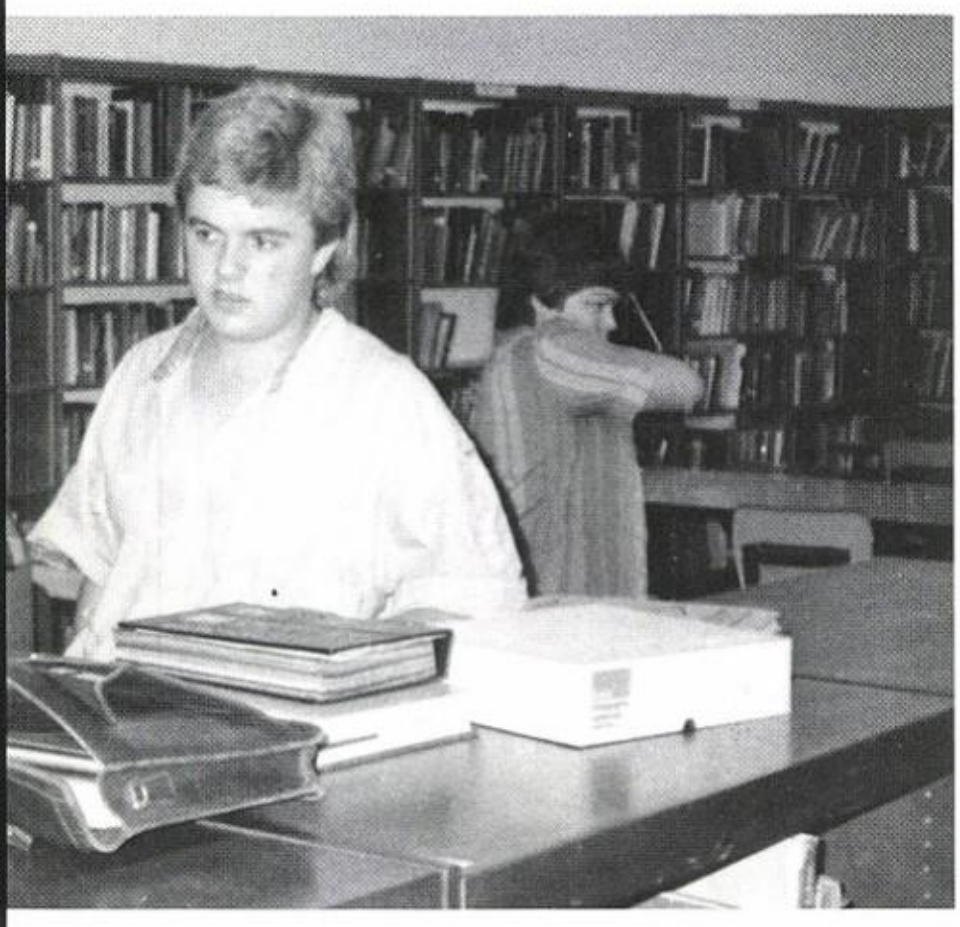
With new coaches, the baseball team had a winning season. Watch ing the game in the dugout are sophomores Chris Roach, Fran Fallis, and new coach Billy Reinle.

New and classic friends made the year go by a little bit bette Classic junior friends Matt Fitzwater (left) and Scott Clark (righ joke around with their new freshman friend Jeremy Kays (center



New York seemed like the classic trip to take, according to senior Lori Drury. She took the YMCA trip last year also. At the top of the Empire State Building, Lori looks down at the New York lights.

Sophomore Greg Russell adds finishing touches to the eagle started last year. Sophomore Scott Speray lends a critical eye to the painting.



The faculty vs. seniors game has become a classic event sponsored by SAE. Health/P.E. teacher Tony Kays and chemistry teacher Joe Cooley (right) had trouble fighting off efforts of seniors Troy Shelton, Matthew Carlton and Rusty Sayre.

The yearbook staff had to deal with their classic deadlines. New publisher representative Margo Grace helps senior Mark Patrick with his pages.

We Must Say Goodbye

Where are the words I need
To say how I feel and what you mean to me?
Though our lives have all been touched, we never realized
how much
Till the moment comes when we must say goodbye.

Together we have shared life's song.
The memories we have made will always linger on.
And I'll try through all of th[illegible]n the life I now begin,
All the moments come whe[illegible]ust say goodbye.

The times we looked forward to are now the past.
So let's hold on to this moment and let's make it last.
Although this is the end, we always will be friends
For wherever I may be, you will be a part of me.

Where are the words I need
To say how I feel and what you mean to me?
The moments come, I'll try hard not to cry.
Yes, the moments come to take our dreams and fly
Yes, the moments come when we must say goodbye.
. . . Goodbye
